He makes a bunch of points worth exploring, however.

I won't say that all of his points are right, or that this newsgroup is the best place for it - but he asked for intelligent discussion of those points, and frankly, that discussion has not been conducted anywhere else either, at least publicly.

He is absolutely right about one thing - thoughtful people who roundly examine complex issues are at a premium these days.

Hey, screwloose, who you callin' 'tard boy?  I asked an on-topic reasonable question with some back up information, and that's the best you can do?

BTW, get something original instead of borrowing insults from dxAce all

Yes, but the listing of what classes the person (not sure he or she) has taken, and pulling a Victor Hugo on us by presenting us with two extremes, rather than the natural grey area that most places provide make me think that the person was still trolling.

Let's talk reality here...  No one's going to change their opinions on these issues, so don't bother trying to bring them up in a newsgroup that isn't where this stuff should reside.  I've yet to see anyone say, "Wow!!  You know what, I was thinking that XXX was right, but you know what??  I think that YYY is right now!!"  That doesn't mean that it doesn't happen, but the arguments are such that everything is painted in black and white.  It's hard to find anything resembling middle ground if everyone claims

they are right and all who disagree are wrong.

That is both the great promise as well as the great problem of the internet:  if you're in an argument, you can find anything you want to back up your side of it.

Hello All,

A general aviation pilot friend of mine brought me a wattmeter with an adjustment between the wattmeter and the swr meter.  It ranges between 0 and 10.  The only marks of identification are Mura CBM-30.  So my questions are..

1.  What is the darn adjustment for?

2.  What frequency range is for?  VHF would be ideal...

Thanks in advance for any information,
Chris

Im Hotep,

Thank you Bruce. One intelligent answer out of four is par for the course in America I guess. Bruce this may be off top ice, but the truth needs to be told. Everywhere I go online I hear this insanity about how perfect America is and how wrong and inferior everyone else is.

That is the most unhealthiest position to take mentally.

This "I'm Ok, but you're not OK idea.

You are right though. The idiots on these talk shows don't do any better. I started listening to Stephanie Miller a couple of weeks ago after finally finding her again. I loved her nightly talk show on Fox she did back in 1993, but it was quickly cancelled after she made a few fatal mistakes.

She is from the left. I listened to them talk for a couple of days and I'm just as bored with her as I am the conservative right.

These people name their show silly stuff like "Crossfire" Even though most of them have never been in the military and can't even fathom what it is like to be under real attack.

They are some of the silliest, most biased adults I have ever seen in my life. So far I can't point to even one who has the BIG PICTURE of things. Even my home boy Rush is whacko on a lot of issues.

that's why I started my own lists, forums years ago. I wanted to be one lit candle in a sea of darkness. :-0

These folks running America right now are going to get all of us killed if they don't stop trampling over everyone who refuses to kiss our behinds. that attitude doesn't work in your neighborhood, and it won't work on a global scale.

Here are some of the wisest people on planet earth Bruce. People that I study and admire. go read some of the things they are saying. It will totally change your life for the better.

Look around on the ZNET site Bruce and you will find links to other extremely high-minded folks from all over the world.

Steve do you have your wellbrook mounted on an antenna rotor.. how far from your home do you have your wellbrook located.
as i read on the wellbrook website that they recommend the loop to be mounted as far as possible from your home...
i have quite a large garden about 45 feet long by about 20 feet.
20 feet being the longest distance from my house...
is it just me or is the entire HF band suffering bad conditions as in the daytime hours my receiver is receiving 9+ of mush and i can hardly hear any stations over this mush only very local transmitting stations. and it don't seem to get any better at night time with only a slight drop in mush.....i may well order the Wellbrook.
is there much difference in the wellbrook ALA-330S and theALA-1530 loop....i normally listen into most of the HF bands from 5.000kHz to 30MHz  depending on what i want to listen to and the time of day or night..

I wonder if you are getting the "image" of an AM or FM station in your area. I could be wrong...but I think the 22000 range is known for that sometimes. I've had similar things happen on my YB400, though without an external antenna. Plus you said you are using a scanner antenna...I'm not sure (as I'm still a relative novice to this hobby), but I don't think those are designed for shortwave frequencies.

Personally I love my YB400, but have never found it that great for SSB...the sound is usually pretty muddled, and it seems like once you get a communication "dialed in" using the analog tuner adjustment on the side of the radio, the signal drifts within a few minutes. Maybe I am not in a good area for ham/utility listening (SE Wisconsin).

Look out for a ( Kenwood RZ1 ) good receiver for fitting in your car it is the same size as a car radio.... old but looks good in any new car and very sort after....

I am using the ALA-330S under less than ideal circumstances, but it still performs extremely well. I live in an apartment building in Brooklyn, with no yard and no garden whatsoever. So, I really had to think carefully about how I would use this antenna. I had little luck with it indoors, as it picked up too much QRM. Others find that it works well in the attic, but I don't have an attic. Before I even ordered the Wellbrook, I used a small portable radio to demarcate, at least roughly, the boundaries of the 'noise envelope' surrounding my building. I found that whenever I could get out a mere six feet (that's right, just six feet!) from the building, reception cleared up dramatically. My first plan was to put the Wellbrook on the roof of my apartment building, but it's especially noisy up there with power lines, etc. So, at present, I have the Wellbrook mounted on a horizontal mast that is attached to a fire escape and that extends about 9 feet away from the building. I know this scenario is far from the one Wellbrook recommends, but you'd be surprised at how quiet reception is for me now. If you read some of the reviews available on the Wellbrook website, you'll notice some of them also remarking that placement of the antenna doesn't seem as critical as the Wellbrook literature suggests. It's not at all far from my building; nevertheless, my reception is whisper quiet.

I do not currently have the Wellbrook attached to a rotor. Almost everything I listen to falls between 3 and 30 mhz, and the signals there (especially at 5+ mhz) just aren't very directional--or so it seems to me. Others may disagree about what's best. I found it very important to get the antenna outdoors, but it seems omnidirectional on the frequencies that interest me.

The ALA-330S is optimized for SW and is designed to attenuate strong MW signals. In fact, I find that it still works very well on MW and I have never had any problem with overloading. At the same time, I understand that the ALA-1530 is optimized for MW, but nevertheless performs admirably on SW. I went for the 330S, since SW is my primary interest. I doubt you could go wrong with either antenna.

I suggest that you consult the excellent reviews of this antenna that are available in this group, on the Wellbrook website and elsewhere on the internet. This is an especially good one, I think:
http://www.radiointel.com/review-wellbrook.htm

Good luck!

Steve

Hello:

Until it puked and died recently, I used to have a palm-sized, battery-powered, AC Voltmeter (by Radio Shack) that I used across my headphones to help me peak voice frequencies with my audio filter. It had a scale that read out in 150 milliamps AC. I'd like to replace it, but Radio Shack no longer makes this particular model (surprise!)

What's worse is that I can't seem to find a volt meter anywhere that measures AC milliamps.

Can anyone suggest a possible source for a voltmeter of this type that would measure 150 milliamps AC?

Thanks in advance for any help!

Lawson,

Im Hotep,

Lawson,

You folks are the ones who started the discussion about CBS; not me.

Surely you can see well enough to understand that.

I just got fed up with the clueless thinking going on here and everywhere else I look and decided to have my say.

To say that no one will change their minds about how they feel may be true, but I still feel a responsibility to present a side that is far more Christian and humane than what MOST Americans hold.

No one died in the CBS episode. someone made some mistakes in researching information. That happens thousands of times a day in this country. So what! That is just a molehill compared to other issues on the table.

George Bush's mistakes are costing tens of thousands of innocent people their lives, and many American soldiers as well.

To try and say that they both are of the same weight is ridiculous! This is like Mount Everest!

Despite the fact that your grammar is much better than most here, your logic is equally infantile.

Tell me this honestly...anyone here.

Do you people feel that Iraqi. Afghani's Africans, Iranians, Jews, and other non white people are full human beings just like you believe yourself to be?

Would you be comfortable with your sisters marrying one of them?

I know what lies deep deep down at the very bottom of these issues, but I want to see if you are in touch enough with how you really look at other human beings; to answer that honestly. :-)

What do these countries that we have unnecessarily attacked, or are otherwise threatening to harm, or are interfering in their internal affairs, have in common? I'll give you a hint. It's one of two things .

Somalia
Grenada
Panama
Afghanistan
Libya Iraq
Bosnia
South Africa Cuba
Haiti
Zimbabwe
Korea
China

Ignoring both minor bombing raids and the numerous subversive efforts not involving military forces, since the end of World War II the United States has committed acts of aggression against Guatemala (1954), Lebanon (1958), the Dominican Republic (1965), Vietnam (1954-75), Laos (1964-1975), Cambodia (1969-1975), Nicaragua (1980-1990), Grenada (1983) and Panama (1989). I would argue that the Persian Gulf war was also a case of U.S. aggression, as the U.S. took advantage of Iraq's aggression against Kuwait to smash a regional power that had defied it. In short, the U.S. has been the number one international aggressor over the past 50 years.

In the case of the Vietnam War, the global rogue was able to ignore the 1954 Geneva Accords, place a puppet in power in South Vietnam, invade and bomb all of Indochina, killing as many as four million people over two decades, without the slightest interference from the UN or World Court.

In the case of Panama, the rogue invaded in 1989 to capture its leader, Noriega, allegedly for drug dealing and authoritarian rule. But Noriega had been on the U.S. payroll for years while dealing in drugs and ruling by terror.

THE REAL REASON FOR THE INVASION OF PANAMA WAS NORIEGA'S REFUSAL TO COLLOBORATE WITH THE U.S. IN IT'S ILLEGAL ATTACKS ON NICARAGUA.

Again, the U.S. veto and overall power allowed this multi-leveled rogue operation to go forward without impediment.

Trivial? Mistake?

Surely you jest?

Keep trying to seek that knowledge, because so far you're not doing very well.

The two most popular models are the HF-150 and HF-250. Other models of note are the HF-225 and HF-235. All of the Lowe models are fairly difficult to come by and tend to fetch a premium, especially in the UK where they were made.

I have the HF-250E, the European version of the HF-250  I'm very happy with the radio being that it's 10+ years old.

If you'd like to test drive my HF-250, I currently have it available online:

I know that practically the whole 49m band is filled with weird QRM at my location. It's so bad that the BBC is practically unlistenable most nights on 5975-I have to use 9525 even though that freq has problems of its own.
> I get intermod junk from local 50kW MW stations.  Bad in wet weather

On 9525 I'll get some other signal that occasionally wipes out the BBC for several seconds at a time. Usually it's talking in Spanish, but a couple nights ago it was American sounding jazz music, sounded like that "soft jazz" muzak stuff that seems to be a popular FM format nowadays.
The transmitting tower of a soft jazz FM stn is near my location. But that doesn't explain the Spanish.

Steve thank for that review link its made my mind up.
i will be ordering the wellbrook ALA-330S in the next couple of days...i shouldn't have any problem ordering the 330s as i will just phone wellbrook direct and have one delivered the day after i place my order....i am out all day Thursday so there is no point in ordering tomorrow.  i will more than likely order when i get in Thursday for delivery Friday. if i get home in time to call wellbrook.

i am living in quite a small village you might say good location but one thing our village is located very close to Heathrow Air Port... if i stand at my front door or in my back garden i can watch plains taking off and landing and i don't need any binoculars.... i sometimes listen in but i like HF / SW ..

It sounds like an inexpensive SWR meter for CB use. It will work on ham freqs below 30 MHz. Probably will be inaccurate at VHF.

There should be a FWD/REV switch on it. Put the switch in the FWD position and key up your rig. Set the adjustment to full scale. Then, switch to REV and read yer SWR. If it's the type I think it is, it will only give a relative power indication, not actual watts.

about 5 HF-225's show up on eBay for every HF-250 so I would say the 250 is not that popular if you measure it by ebay exposure.  the 225's don't sell for nearly what they are worth. the 235 is fairly rare, only about one or two show up a year on ebay. the 250E would be the most desirable but are hard to get.

I heard on the new today that where the big mud slide was happened previously. The folks, who originally build the homes there complained to the city. The city spend millions on building a huge retaining wall which in this stored was like balsa wood.

We used to build them with 1N34A diode, capacitor across the headphones, and a coil wound on a toilet paper tube, with taps on the coil that you'd clip an allegator clip to, for tuning.

Assemble atop wooden board.

There were some with an actual cat whisker instead of the diode, but we went the modern way mostly.

The project is mostly winding the coil, many turns of enameled wire, and scraping bits of it clear of enamel for the allegator clip landing spots.

Another tuning method was a slider over the coil but it never seemed like that would be very easy to get to work reliably.

Antenna and ground across the live portion of the coil.

Now that we're all agreed what it means, how about this?  How do you pronounce 'Mondiale'?

Trashy version:     mon (as in monitor) dial (as in soap or radio if you prefer)

Italian version:      mon      "           dee         ali (as in Muhammed)

French version:     moan     not sure about the rest

 KATANGA. CONGO DR. 7205, RTNC, Lumbumbashi, 1942 Nov [correct] 25 in French, M&W talk with brief afropop music between segments at 1950, 1955 and 1958, dead air for about 20 [seconds] at 2000, then a woman mentioning "Congolaise," more abouot Bukavu, Bunia, Lumbubashi --- all towns in Katanga province --- then back to M&W talking, brief African tribal rhythms between segments at 2012, 2016 and 2017. Very weak. You have to hope for an early opening for this one, as a Russian-language service, probably BBC, takes over this frequency from 2030 (Mark A. Coady, Ont., Your Reports, Jan ODXA Listening In via DXLD)

Katanga counts as a seperate NASWA ountry.

I had a couple of those rocket radios in the late 50's early 60's.

BBC7 also has it.

Streamed "live" and on demand. I'm not sure if this is the current series or a previous series (most of the stuff on BBC7 seems to be old stuff - like the Goons and Just A Minute's from 1998)

Let's Talk About Sex

Note: This January 12, 2005 BuzzFlash Editorial marks the twelfth in 20 consecutive editorials BuzzFlash will be publishing through January 20th.

A BUZZFLASH EDITORIAL

Let's talk about sex.
Well, really, here at BuzzFlash we don't talk much about it.

What we do is talk about Republicans talking about sex, because they can't seem to stop talking about it.

You might say that the right wing morality police are obsessed with sex, in a way that indicates some mental health issues.

So much of BuzzFlash's coverage over the last four and a half years has been about hypocritical Republicans who hold themselves out as moral scolds, but are bed hopping like jackrabbits in a lettuce patch.

Let's see, we've got the contingent of gay Republicans who are anti-gay (with their journalistic contingent headed by Matt Drudge). We've got anti-adulterers who are regular adulterers (remember beloved husband Newt Gingrich was shtooping a Congressional staffer while calling for Clinton's impeachment and his right wing replacement in waiting, the former Congressman Bob Livingston, was exposed as a married Capitol Hill Romeo, by Larry Flynt, no less.) We've got the anti-gamblers and kinky sex preachers who are gamblers and into kinky sex (Bill "Moral Virtues" Bennett where are you? You can come out of hiding now.) We had Bush supporters like the former Republican Mayor of Bridgeport, Connecticut, who paid a mother so that he could have sex with her underage daughter in his mayoral office.

Oh, we could go on and on, but what's the use? They get away with their sexual hypocrisy because the media has a double standard. If you're a Republican male, you're just having a good old frat party sort of Hooters time, just some lusty male fun. But if you are a Democrat engaging in sex, the same acts are considered sin.

God just has a more forgiving standard for Republicans we guess.

But frankly, we wouldn't know about how sexually depraved America has become if we didn't keep hearing the Republicans decrying it all the time (while engaging in the same activities that they are deploring.)

Oh, we are sure there are a couple of faithful Republican Congressmen up on Capitol Hill, well maybe one. That's right, we've always said that Tom DeLay picked Dennis Hastert to be his puppet Speaker of the House because Denny was the only Republican male Representative DeLay could be sure would prefer a leg of lamb to a woman's leg -- or a man's leg, for that matter.

But if the Republicans would just stop their hypocritical fire and brimstone lectures on sex, we all might be able to get back to a "G" rated society.

I mean, we haven't seen anyone fornicating in the streets lately, have you? But, we see a lot of leg in Rupert Murdoch's FOX Television programming. How come the GOP Puritans aren't coming down on Republican media mogul Rupert? How do you spell FOX NEWS? You spell it, G-O-P P-R-O-P-A-G-A-N-D-A.

And it's all posturing and propaganda, the sex talk that is. It's the modern day descendant of our Puritan and Southern Baptist and Evangelical heritage in which man is always wrestling with the devil of his sexuality.

When it comes to the bedroom, most Republican politicians do a lot of sexual wrestling all right -- and they emerge from the erotic tussle to denounce our "sinful" society.

Hey, maybe we're going out on a limb here, but what percentage of the guys who fly Hooters airlines down to Myrtle Beach for some golf do you think voted for Bush? Maybe 95%? Or make it 98%?

And what about all those gasoline stations in the South with the pin-up calendars hanging out just beyond the grease pit?

Frankly we don't know of any depraved Democrats, but we sure read a lot about Republicans who are sexually obsessed philanderers. You know, like Bernie Kerik, who was Bush's kind of guy and the kind of man he could trust in his gut (as Bush is wont to say) to head our "Homeland Security Department." Well, Bernie, as we now know, wasn't just cheating on his third wife; he was also cheating on his mistresses.

The claim of the Republican leadership to a moral high ground on sex is nine planets beyond hypocrisy. Their hero was the legendary Strom Thurmond, who manhandled just about every woman he could get his racist paws on. The GOP knew that Strom couldn't resist a comely woman, or even an uncomely one for that matter. But Strom stood for those good 'ol Southern Values, right?

Right, and at the top of the list of the Confederacy morality Thurmond exemplified was one simple word: hypocrisy.

And that is what BuzzFlash makes of the Republican obsession with all things sexual: naked, raw, lascivious hypocrisy.

Now, can we please talk about something else besides sex?

Please.

Last summer-more this month

FDA Betrays Public Trust; Reneges on Promise to Quickly Reduce Mad Cow Risk in Animal Feed

(Yonkers, NY) -- Consumers Union, the independent, non-profit publisher of Consumer Reports, today criticized the Bush Administration for reneging on a promise made in January to quickly tighten rules governing what material can be in animal feed for cattle to help reduce the risk that the feed might transmit mad cow disease.

�This is a betrayal of a promise made to consumers to protect their health,� said Jean Halloran, director of Consumers Union�s Consumer Policy Institute. �Six months ago the administration said it would take the necessary steps to address this problem, and now it is dragging its feet.�

At a news conference on Jan. 26, HHS Secretary Tommy Thompson and then Food and Drug Administration (FDA) Commissioner Mark McClelland announced that FDA was issuing an interim final rule that would change four U.S. feed practices it said were risky. FDA said it would change its rules so that cattle could not be fed blood from other cattle, floor wastes from poultry facilities, and plate wastes from restaurants. These types of feed practices were similar to those in place in the United Kingdom before that nation�s mad cow outbreak and may have contributed to Britain�s epidemic. FDA also said it would require separate machinery at feed facilities for handling cattle protein and other types of protein.

However the changed rule was never issued. Today FDA said in a press release that consideration of such measures had been demoted to an �Advance Notice of Proposed Rulemaking,� a very preliminary stage in the rulemaking process that might never result in final FDA action.

�As a result of FDA�s backing off from its commitment, calves can still be fed cows� blood in their milk formula,� Halloran said. �Cows also can consume poultry wastes that may contain poultry feces and spilled feed that could carry the mad cow agent. These practices increase the risk that this deadly disease may infect cows, and in turn infect people who eat beef.�

FDA had issued an Advance Notice of Proposed Rulemaking two years ago, in November 2002, regarding the need to tighten the feed rule to reduce risks of mad cow disease, technically known as bovine spongiform encephalopathy or BSE.

�FDA does not need another round of comments; it should act on what it said it would do,� stated Halloran. �They know what needs to be done and how to do it. This further delay needlessly puts public health at risk. This action today raises profound questions as to whether the public can trust statements made by the Bush Administration on food safety.�

At the Jan. 26 press conference, Secretary Thompson stated that �[a]lthough the current animal feed rule provides a strong barrier against the further spread of BSE, we must never be satisfied with the status quo�this is the time to make sure the public is protected to the greatest extent possible.� This statement is very similar to one issued today by Secretary Thompson. Commissioner McClellan further said at the Jan. 26 press conference that �we are bolstering our BSE firewalls�we are further strengthening our animal feed rule.�

Given today�s announcement, Halloran countered, �Now it appears this was empty rhetoric. Any action will be far in the future. In the meantime, public health is at risk.�

FDA�s announcement also included the issuance of an interim final rule to prohibit the use of certain cattle-derived materials in human food and cosmetics, and a proposed rule on recordkeeping requirements. Both of these proposals are welcome and will help in the fight against the spread of mad cow disease. However, in the absence of stricter animal feed rules, the totality of FDA�s announced actions are inadequate.

Just think if we had had a shaker!!!!  Everything would have been in the ocean!!!

All this wonderful green will change to brown dry under brush in a few months then we will have lots of "Fire Tender".

Life's wonderful in California.

Regardless of where in the world we live we are at the mercy of a higher power (for me it's God) and we are only a small dot on the face of the universe!!!

I've emailed Glenn Hauser about the frequency as Lubumbashi has been reported in the past on 7435 vs. 7205 and I can't seem to find when or if the switch was made.

DENNIS;
I have the ICOM R-75 and use the LF H-800 antenna with the unit. I can tell you that the R-75 will pick up many stations and with the many controls the unit offers you will be pleased with the audio. Also if you desire and it does improve the audio is the new ICOM Speaker -23 which has several filter controls to enhance audio.
This receiver is a very good value and I think there are now several deals being offered where you will be able to get the unit for under $500.00
Good hunting and have fun

You used to be able to buy a spray can that with compressed air that was ejected at a rate safe for circuit boards.  Don't know if Radio Shack or any other place has it around any more.

Free hint:  don't use regular compressed air.  I found that out the hard way while I was in college.

Unless Drake updated their circuit design from the SW8/Sat 800 version, probably not.

Very strange.  Most topics would not be considered meaningful, then.

Ordinary DMMs have at least three other "quirks":

They sample at only several times per second so can give annoying and misleading readings with slowly varying signals or when on the ohms range with some inductors (wallwart  transformer primaries are a typical example).
The digital circuits generate RF noise,
On AC ranges, they are only good for sine waves and only at 50-60
Hz, at best some to 400Hz.

I am not "you folks". Do not confuse some with most. It used to be said that for every poster in a newsgroup, there were somewhere between 4-10 lurkers who simply read, and not participated.
Don't presume that some speak for most or all.

In a place inappropriate for it. That would be roughly the equivalent of myself walking into a library and shouting out to everyone my opinions on whether ozone depletion will lead to an increase in skin cancer. While my opinions may or may not be valid, screaming in a library is a place inappropriate for it.

Because no one died in the CBS episode doesn't make it unimportant. One of the most important issues that faced this country when it was new didn't involve anyone dying over it; it was the replacement of the Articles of Confederation with the Constitution. I'd consider that a pretty important issue.

Death != importance, and death does not make one issue more important than another. By this rationalization, the most important issues affecting the world the past decade would have been two episodes of genocide in Africa, AIDS in Africa, and the Tsunami. Not Iraq. Not Terrorism. Not George W. Bush. Not Israel and Palestine.

No, it's not.  To presume to compare, I have to assume that first you are correct in your assumption concerning George W. Bush's prosecution of the war in Iraq.  I do not make that assumption, so I do not compare.

This is a loaded question and has nothing to do with the discussion at hand.  A discussion about CBS or George W. Bush does not hinge on whether one is a racist or not.

> Would you be comfortable with your sisters marrying one of them?

It doesn't matter to the discussion; and even if I had sisters, it would be their concern whether they had found the right person to marry, not mine.

> I know what lies deep deep down at the very bottom of these issues, > but I want to see if you are in touch enough with how you really look

No, racism does not lie at the bottom of these issues.
To say that it does is like saying mathematics is racist because some Englishman named Newton co-invented Calculus.

People see in things what they want to see.  If some people think that an alien spacecraft crashed in the Indian Ocean and caused the Tsunamis, so be it.  If some people think that NASA faked the moon landings, so be it.  If some people think that the Holocaust didn't happen, then so be it.  If some people think that I am a racist because I get annoyed when people accuse myself and my entire country of racism, then so be it.

I can't change another person's thinking on emotive issues, whether I agree or disagree with what they said, so I don't often try.  All it does is raise my blood pressure.  All I can do is present my opinion of the facts, and that has to be sufficient.

<<snipped rant about the US's racist attacks against other countries since WW2, which ironically enough was a war against primarily a European agressor>>

Go down the makeup aisle in your local pharmacy and find a large size "blusher brush". Handiest little duster in the world. It is soft enough to use on electrical components, but will really do the job. Either blow off disloged dust with your breath, or hold the nozzle attachment of a vacuum cleaner about 2" from the board while dusting it.

Spray electrical contact cleaner is available through most large retailers and hardware outlets. RatShack sells it, too, but it's a lot more expensive (for essentially the same product).

Dennis & Judy, be advised that you'll have to have cap mod ICOM's R-75 to get satisfactory agc, audio, & sync performance. Bought Radio Place's last R-75 before they went out of business two years ago, had the cap mods incorporated, & it's been a stellar receiver ever since. Although ICOM gets ripped for lousy audio, those cap mods produce a robust, midrange-centric tonality via external amplification. If you want to go Yaesu, though, get a Century Frog (FRG-100). They don't seem to suffer the bugaboos of FRG's 7000, 7700, or 8800. B.T.W., really miss Lucky Ocean's "Planet" via Radio Australia since the holidays!!!

Steve
        i have just got off the phone to wellbrook antennas.
and i was told that i was better placing my order through the short wave shop as wellbrook don't have facilities to take payment by cheque. not even for uk customers.
so my next day delivery is out of the window.
i have just phoned the short-wave shop up and i have placed an order for a wellbrook ALA-330S and i am expecting delivery of the antenna on Wednesday of next week....another new toy to play about with... and another antenna to add to my garden....
antennas i already have in my garden are (1) random long wire antenna (2)

full sized G5RV for the HF amateur bands (3) Wide band discone for VHF & UHF...i also have a couple of home made antennas mounted in my loft space.....
Will let you know when and how i find the antenna at my location..

If you look at his posting history through Google, I think you'll see he's preoccupied with racism, and makes racist remarks on a regular basis.

He'll call white people racist, and a few paragraphs later he'll say something like: "The new strong black people don't give a damn about white folks because we know MOST of them have cheated, lied, stolen, and murdered their way into whatever riches they may have."

He's just an angry troll.

Re: G & F Ssales Company, Chicago -- 1930's Futuristic Wood Radio has been called the "Searchlight radio" by some or "Disk-shaped Radio by others."

I have one of these and am looking for any info. Please feel free to email me if you know anything at all about this radio or if you have one. Mine is missing a tube and I am trying to find out what it was. I also would love to know what value it has -- I have been told it is "quite valuable." It is a really funny a interesting design. Something from the 1933 Chicago or 1939 New York World's fair. It turns up and down and from side to side, just like the tourist quarter binoculars at the Statue of Liberty or Empire State Building. What I have been able to find is listed below. Thanks to all who have emailed me from other lists as well as from this list. There seems to be little or no info on these sets. It seems that it is very rare. I would love a copy of any articles or pictures from those cited below. I would also buy a schematic if there is such a thing on this set.

Hi Chris,

I'm still researching.. Can you send me any information that is on maybe a metal plate in the back? The tubes you have in it 1-6A7, 1-25Z5, 1-75, 1-78 make me think it is not the General TV and Radio 5A5 as one of the below references say, as this chassis was made with post-war tubes like 12sk7, 12sq7 etc. I remember reading the article you copied in Antique Radio Classified a while ago, that's where I was trying to find (from the back of my mind) when you described it. I then found a picture on the web. Thanks for the tube line up, that may help identifying it. It was most like made by one of the many shops in Chicago and then resold under a different name. By the way- it's quite valuable.. Where did you find it?

Hi Patrick,
I don't know if you got my other email but I am very impressed that you found it. Since you led me in the right direction I came up with these web citings. I really need to still find a schematic, a tube list if nothing else and a value would be nice. I only have 4 of the 5 tubes (1-6A7, 1-25Z5, 1-75, 1-78 missing the other it has a ballast marked triad and a 6pin tuning eye.) Below are all the excerpts that I could find on the web, I tried emailing to those mentioned but who knows if that will work.

Thanks for your help!
Best,

Disk-Shaped Radio Help ID
Dear Editor:

The unknown radio shown in your Photo Review, February'97, p. 13, and again in the March 1999 issue, p.15, is a General Television Model 5A5 "Spy Radio," ca.1938. It appears to me to have Detrola knobs, possibly made for the company by Detrola(?). I have this radio and mine has a sticker on the front saying "GF Sales Co., Chicago, Illinois."--Jim Hauskins, Bloomington, IL

=============================================

Dear Editor: In the March 1999 issue of A.R.C., a disc-shaped radio is shown asking for the identity of the manufacturer. I have the same radio. On the back is a metal plate with the following information: "Licensed under patents of Radio Corporation of America, General Electric Company, Westinghouse Electric & Mfg. Company, Hazeltine Corporation." There is also a sticker on the back which reads: "G&F Radio Patent applied for. For maximum efficiency for local and distance reception, add 15 to 25 feet of aerial. For foreign reception add 40 to 50 foot outdoor aerial." The serial number for this unit is 25-174958. I hope this information is helpful. --J. Melvin Isett, Huntingdon, PA

Following these leads reveals an example in "Machine Age to Jet Age II" by Mark Stein on page 148. And yet another can be found on the cover of the 1997 tube catalog of Electron Tube Enterprises, Essex, Vermont, which clearly shows the G&F Sales Company, Chicago logo on the lower portion of the disk. It appears that the mystery is now solved. (Editor)

Had no responses to my inquiry on the "Searchlight" radio nearly identical to the General Radio and Television model shown in "Evolution of Radio" book. The decal says "GF" in script, with a ???? Co., Chicago. Cant read the ????. The tube lineup is: 6D6, 6C6, 25Z5, 25L6 and a L55B ballast. Riders shows several models with a similar lineup, but the output tube is always a 43, not a 25L6. Do the Riders on CD do a search on tube complement? Their ads imply they do, but dont seem to be clear. Does anybody remember "GF" associated with a store or store brand in Chicago in the mid to late 30's?

In order to reply by mail, please change "davis" in my address to "david"

Thanks for any hints anyone might have.

I found 48 schematics in Rider's with the above tube compliment in 15 seconds using Gerald Larsen's handy dandy reference book "The Locator". This book is a tabulation of all of the schematics in Rider's listed in alphanumeric order by tube compliment. The listings are for radios up to 8 tubes and they are listed by tube number starting with the output tube(s), followed by power rectifier, then the remainder starting at the antenna and working towards the output. It covers Rider's 1 - 18 and covers A.C. powered sets only. This book was compiled out of the frustration of the author who is interested in off brand radios. He spent many hours thumbing through Rider's in search of schematics as well as other clues to the maker's of his off brand sets. He finally decided that it would make more sense to make an index by tube compliment than to go through all of Rider's looking for each new set that came along. The man hours of work to assemble this data probably was huge! For those of us who have spent many bleary eyed hours paging through The Mallory Radio Service Encyclopedia looking for a Rider's reference for a certain tube compliment, this is a fantastic reference. Should anyone wish to pusue this book, drop me a note end I'll send you the author's info.

The decal is black with gold highlighting; says "GF (or G&F) Sales Co. Chicago".You can get a copy of the ETE catalog at http//members.aol.com/etetubes.
It is an excellent color photo.
The owner says it's a General Radio mod 5.

Hope this helps Dave.

Can somebody reccomend a good product that is sold in spray cans and is good for removing battery corrosion in radios and also for getting rid of the scratchy sound when tuning in radio stations? I used to have an old spray can of CRC 22 or CRC 222 (I think that is the name of the product) and it worked very well.I can't seem to find it in the local stores around here anymore.Thanks for any information.

I wouldn't use contact cleaner on anything except switches and pots.
Don't spray this stuff on components, especially in the high impedance area of the synthesizer, of you could have a non-functioning radio. If you do use a contact cleaner, use one of the Caig products such as De-Oxit or Pro Gold.
If you brush the dust off the circuit boards, make sure that you don't bump any of the trimmer capicators.

Ok I'll be careful. I picked up some stuff this morning from Radio Shack.
It's an electronics cleaner. Looks to have ether in it but the brush is stiff. I won't use it on the components even though it says it can used. Was $10.50 a can!

Reminds me of when I was a kid - my best friend decided to soup up his French version:     moan  DEE ahl  (not certain of the accent, French isn't my first second language.. :)  ) moan  dee  ahl        French does not accentuate some syllables like we do " en Anglais "  k35454.

CRC is still made - I bought a can of it a month ago, but many stores that used to carry it don't anymore, true.  In the North Central states we have a chain called "Meijers" (Like Wal-Mart or Target) that always has it.

They sell it in the automotive section, and if you haven't tried a large auto parts store, they should carry it or it's equivalent.  Rat Shack does too, last I looked.

I'm confused. You are concerned about the sexual interests of neorepublicans, but proceed to talk about only Hastert, Thurmond, Delay, Gingrich, Livingston.

For someone who want's to: "...please talk about something else besides sex" your column seems to be unusually focused on gay republicans and philanderers. Maybe all this writing is a manifestation of physical interest?

I check out this and other Asian re-broadcasts on a regular basis and find them to be very culturally oriented- rather than the political propaganda you might expect.  Listen awhile and you may find it very entertaining- in other words; nothing like the Cuban news commentary!

In China, CRI leases SW transmitters from the Chinese PTT.
Voice Of Russia, does the same in Russia via ROSTELCOM.

In fact -- Radio France International has the same 'broadcasting organization' model.
[France Telecom owns ALLOISS and ISSODUN SW relay sites, and leases them back to RFI.]

Jamming in China may be done by the military [or other entities] in country, with no connection to the PTT.
There was a connection with the PTT in the USSR, but China has not perused that model internally.

Jamming was started by Italy under Mussolini, against the USSR.
In international law jamming does have some legitimacy -- pursuant to certain conditions being met.
Religious broadcasters broadcasting into China are not jammed, that I am aware of.

If a broadcaster is being jammed on SW, it is indicative of a failure in international relations.
Jamming also shows a failure of the broadcaster to take into account the realistic needs of its target audience.

The US is obsessed that there still are some non-Christian heathens that exist on earth that are 'communistic' -- and it is willing to endanger relations with China by using Cold-War ideological broadcasting tactics.

I can only assume that the US wants to re-create the Hungarian revolt of 1956 in China -- a concept 1000 years out of date considering Wal-Mart's dependency on cheap Chinese goods to be profitable!

How did you narrow the choices down to those two receivers?

Oh my God Martha tote your portable, the Commies are taking over! You know the first thing they do when they take over is ban Christmas then they round up people like dxAce and cuhulin and send them to Re-education camp where they turn them into empty-headed tards! Wait a minute the Commies have taken over!!!

I had a crystal set in the 1960's that used a real galena crystal which was mounted in a small metal cup. The cup served as one of the electrical connections for the crystal. The crystal was embedded in some kind of metal which I assume was poured into the cup in a molten state. Could it have been lead?

You can obtain them very easily from any cosmetics store.
I find a lot of the commercial cleaners leave a residue on the boards and this detracts from they appearance.
Hope this helps, cheers, Ken, G4KIR.

In a homebrew crystal radio, I tried a chunk of galena, but it did not work as well as an iron pyrite ("fool's gold") crystal.  For a "cat's whisker", I used a small gold-plated safety pin.

In my experience, the old high-impedence headphones (which typically have Bakelite ear pieces and a headband made of spring steel covered with cloth or leather) work much better than the cheap in-the-ear kind found on modern crystal radio kits.

As mentioned earlier, http://www.midnightscience.com has some great crystal radio info.

You can use solder, but Woods Metal is better as it melts in boiling water and you can make your mould in wood or plastic.  I've just made some crystals using it for a reproduction 1920s style xtal set.

Thanks to everyone who replied to my query about Crystal Sets. I have firm plans to purchase a rocket radio for my son. I have built my own crystal sets in the past but I think for a present the rocket radio is hard to beat.

That aside I have another query for which I would be grateful if people could provide a response.

When I used to build crystal radios I found that my voltmeter would show a small voltage when measuring the output of the circuit. For some time I have toyed with the idea of building a crystal set transmitter which seems to me to be a logical extension of the idea of a crystal set reciever.

First one would tap a large coil in parrallel with a variable capacitor and attached to a long wire. Several taps would extract the strongest stations in the vicinity. Each signal extracted would then be rectified by the use of 4 diodes so that a pulsating DC current is generated. Finally the various DC currents would be combined and smoothed out  to provide a power souce for the transmitter stage.

Next, a simple single transistor crystal locked transmitter would be built which would be powered by the dc current mentioned earlier. This could be keyed on and off to give a morse signal.

Finally, and separately, a short wave crystal radio could be built for reception on the frequency of the transmitter stage

Is such a project doable or is the power that you would extract out of the air too low to drive transistors etc?

cheers peter

SEAN [G4UCJ/G4001SWL],

Grounding the Home (PC) Computer's Frame and Power Supply
- Does It Help ?
- Will It Work ?
- Could It Do Any Harm ?
To Reduce and/or Eliminate RFI / EMF Sound that are Heard at various Frequencies on your Radios and Recivers.

A GOOD IDEA :
I just read your comments about Grounding the Home (PC) Computer's Frame and Power Supply.  And it started me to Think (Warning) WHY NOT ? Can't Hurt and Just May Help !

STARTED BY :
Turning on three Radio/Receivers that are on the oposite side of the room that has the Computer in it.  Tuned for what I thought was the 'best' RFI/EMF Noise or general High Static Sound (Off Frequency Dead Spots) on the Radios.

TEST RADIOS, SET-UP AND CONDITIONS WERE :
*  Icom IC-R75 on AC Power with Thirteen Foot (13') SWL
Coax Cable Loop Antenna in-the-room and a background base Noise Level reading of 3 S-Units at 9.830 MHz with Pre-Amp
#2 Turned "ON".
*  Sony ICF-2010 on AC Power with a Thirty Foot (30') SWL Loop Antenna in-the-room and a specific 'hum' Noise Level reading of 3-5 S-Units at 9.862 MHz.

*  CCRadio +Plus using Battery Power and only it's internal AM/FM Ferrite Rod Antenna and a specific 'buzz' Noise Level reading of Two-Bars at 853 kHz.

GROUNDING THE COMPUTER FRAME AND POWER SUPPLY : Examined the Back of the Computer and chose a Case Screw that went througH the Metal Frame and into the Metal Body of the Computer's Power Supply.  Backed-Out the Screw and attached a #14 Stranded Copper Wire and connected this Wire to the Ground being used for the Radios.
The "Initial Test Results" Were:
*  Icom IC-R75 = No Change in S-Meter or Sound Levels.
*  Sony ICF-2010 = Slighly Higher +1 S-Unit reading but the Audio "Hum" did not sound any louder.
*  CCRadio +Plus = Much Higher Four-Bar reading and a Higher Audio "Buzz" Sound.
[Suspected the Ground Wire was acting like an Antenna.]

FERRITE "DONUT" CORES :
Installed a Ferrite 'Donut' Core on both ends of the Ground Wire about 3"-4" from each end.
The "Follow-Up Test Results" Were:
*  Icom IC-R75 = Again No Change in S-Meter or Sound Levels.
*  Sony ICF-2010 = Returned to the 'original' S-Meter reading and the Audio "Hum" Sound was slightly less.
*  CCRadio +Plus = Went Down to NO-Bars (Zero) and the and Audio "Buzz" Sound was reduced greatly.

CONCLUSION {FUZZY LOGIC} :
What FIXES one Radio's Noise Problem; may have "No Effect" on other Radios; and could Cause a New Problem for yet another Radio. Not Very Scientific - But What Works... WORKS !
[You Have To Try It Yourself - To Find Out [.]

Some computer PSU's are fine, others are not. The one in my shack PC generates no RFI hash, but the one in my main PC throws up s9+ on 160 and 80m, using a mfj noise canceler reduces it to a tolerable level but the only real way to hear the weaker stuff is to kill the mains to the supply.

The only problem is you've got no real way of telling what's going to be a quiet PSU and what isn't.

Perhaps grounding the metal case would help in some situations?
[ RHF - Note - The Light Bulb Goes "ON" Here :<]

But I guess you would have to exercise caution when doing something of that nature. One other source of noise can be the displays on some radio's (the one on my 756 is quite noisy).

Good luck and I hope it works!

The old Raytheon ``What to do with your CK722'' project book has a crystal-set-powered transistor radio, taking the DC from a crystal set output and using it to power a CK722 amplifier.

They used the same station for both, however, which was a major conceptual error.  You want to use a local for the power, to amplify a more distant station.

SOX FAN 1968,
Hello - All are "Welcome" to [ JOIN ] the CCRadio  and the CCRadio Plus eGroup on YAHOO !
CCRADIO PLUS => http://groups.yahoo.com/group/CCRadio/
NOTE - The CCRadio  and CCRadio Plus are Made by Sangean and they are Sold and Marketed by the C. Crane Co.
ABOUT USING THE CCRADIO PLUS IN AN AUTOMOBILE :
Two Choices - Replace the Car Radio -or- the Car ;-}
Something-to-Think-About . . . The 'common' Auto-Trunk Radio is a pretty good $200-$300 AM & FM Radio with a $10-$20 Antenna and a $15,000-$60,000 'mobile' Ground Plan System :o)
Really - If your current Car Radio's AM/MW Reception 'stinks'
I would recommend that you "Invest" in a better Car Radio/Receiver

FWIW - Most Standard Factory (OEM)  Car/Truck Radios will Out-Perform the CCRadio and CC Radio Plus in-or-out of the Vehicle. .  The CCRadio and CC Radio Plus are NOT a good 'substitute' for a Good Quality AM/FM Radio that is 'designed' to Perform Very Well in an Automotive Driving Environment [.]
GOOD {STANDARD} FACTORY "OEM" AUTO RADIOS HAVE :
+  Better AM/MW Band Reception
+  Better FM and FM Stereo Reception
+  Better Overall Sound Quality
+  Higher Audio Output = More Sound
+  Dynamic Stereo Effect (Surround-a-Sound)
Then the CCRadio and CC Radio Plus
TIP - Many AM DX'er claim that a 'high quality' Car Radio will provide "Excellent" AM/MW Reception; equal to many high-end AM/FM Shortwave Radios. You would need a AM/MW Loop Antenna connected to the AM/FM Shortwave Radio to get better results than the Car Radio.
IIRC - Some where I remember reading that Pioneer 'SuperTuner' Car Radios were rated very good for AM DXing with an automobile radio.   Although Sony, Kenwood, JVC, Jensen, Alpine, Panasonic all make some very good AM/FM 'replacement' Car Radios.

Matching of the Antenna to the Receiver."

IMHO - The only thing that would warrant the use of the CCRadio and CC Radio Plus in a Car/Truck would be for the Reception of the TV-VHF Sound and Weather-WX Band.

The Crane website advertises a car interface kit where you can hook up to the car's antenna, and I have an aux audio input to my car stereo so I could listen over the car's speakers.  My current car stereo's AM reception stinks, and I like to listen to Boston stations while I drive (I live in New Hampshire).  I'm not sure if there would be alot of noise interference from the engine and alternator because of how sensitive the CCRadio is.

Thanks for any help.

FIGHT IGNORANCE: READ BUZZFLASH

Christian Nation or Medieval Coup to Overturn Our Constitution? Or Both?

Note: This January 13, 2005 BuzzFlash Editorial marks the thirteenth in 20 consecutive editorials BuzzFlash will be publishing through January 20th.

A BUZZFLASH EDITORIAL

Antonin Scalia believes that America is officially a Christian nation.

John Ashcroft has declared that God is our King. George W. Bush believes that a Christian God chose him to become President and lead the nation in killing tens of thousands of people.

The Bush right wing religious base firmly believes, with few exceptions, that America was founded as a Christian country.

This is not hair splitting about "moral values." This gets to the heart of whether America was created, as Jefferson pronounced, with "a wall of separation between church and state" or whether we have an official state religion.

The Scalias, Ashcrofts, Bushes, Falwells and Robertsons are not just talking about a Christian nation; they are talking about THEIR vision of what a Christian nation should be. And a vengeful one it is.

There are many Christian denominations and interpretations of the Bible, and most of them are not radically extremist like the Bush hard core base. The Methodist Church, for example, to which Bush nominally belongs, opposed the War in Iraq, as did, it appeared, most of the major Christian groups in the United States. So the Bush religious contingent is a splinter group of fundamentalists.

Not only do the Bush religious zealots believe that there is no wall between church and state -- in contradiction to our Constitution and the intent of our founding fathers -- they believe in a radical interpretation of the Bible -- and that they are literally on a Crusade.

Jefferson foresaw the dangers such an outlook held to the Republic: "Reason and free enquiry are the only effectual agents against error. Give a loose to them, they will support true religion, by bringing every false one to their tribunal, to the test of their investigation. They are the natural enemies of error, and of error only. Had not the Roman government permitted free enquiry, Christianity could never have been introduced. Had not free enquiry been indulged, at the era of reformation, the corruptions of Christianity could not have been purged away. If it be restrained now, the present corruptions will be protected, and new ones encouraged."

As Mark Crispin Miller notes in his brilliant one-act monologue on the Bush administration, "A Patriot Act," the right wing Republican religious base doesn't want America to return to the status quo before the Civil War; it wants to turn America into a nation founded on a religious outlook that preceded the Enlightenment.

John Leland, a Baptist minister who voted to ratify the Constitution, observed that "religion is a matter between God and individuals, religious opinions of men not being the objects of civil government nor in any way under its control."

Much of the debate on issues leading up to the Constitution played themselves out in Virginia, where many of the founding fathers lived and were involved in politics. In response to a Virginia bill that would have provided governmental stipends to the clergy, Madison vigorously objected in a lengthy "Remonstrance": "What influence in fact have ecclesiastical establishments had on civil society? In some instances they have been seen to erect a spiritual tyranny; in no instance have they been seen the guardians of the liberties of the people. Rulers who wished to subvert the public liberty may have found an established clergy convenient auxiliaries. A just government, instituted to secure and perpetuate it, needs them not."

Madison knew that a just government need not cloak itself in the robe of religion in order to be perceived as credible. And that a religion too intertwined with government runs the high risk of being used to achieve political goals, thus corrupting the religion itself.

We don't know what Constitution the Bush fanatics are looking at when they assert that we are a Christian nation, but it's not the American one. They aren't "Strict Constitutionalists." To the contrary, ideologues such as Antonin Scalia are, in reality, radical Constitutional revisionists.

They don't want to restore us to the America built by our founding fathers and enshrined in the Constitution. They want to change the very foundations of the Constitution; in this case, the separation between church and state.

Some time after the Revolution, a Unitarian minister from England, Richard Price, wrote a treatise praising the separation of church and state incorporated into the creation of the American nation. It was a wise step to take, Price noted because: "Civil establishments of formularies of faith and worship are inconsistent with the rights of private judgment. They engender strife. They turn religion into a trade. They shore up error. They produce hypocrisy and prevarication. They lay an undue bypass on the human mind in its enquiries and obstruct the progress of truth."

What's clear to BuzzFlash is this: In 2005, the right wing has so twisted the psyche and Constitution of this nation, our founding fathers would have been considered radicals. And they wouldn't have gotten a minute of airtime.

Those 1776 guys were more concerned with principles than sound bites.

People would switch channels in a New York minute if one of THEM started talking.

I had a RF2200 for years, and only gave it away last spring to a friend. Due to not being used for years(maybe a decade), the SW band selector switch needed some heavy duty cleaning and turning. After a few days of use, with many turns of the band switch it worked great.

Very nice radio, but the analog tunning and lack of stability limited it use to me. When I bought it I was into RTTY and the RF2000 just didn't work for that.

You're right again, dxAce! the Dang 1107 is a lot better. These DXers at the recent DangFest are the experts, and they agree, too:

Hi Mark,

All of the RF design is done...........I have built two prototypes. On one of them, I use a ten turn pot to tune the VCO. The other unit uses a PLL for tuning. I think we will have some time to develop the tuning software, etc.

We were tied up with a big project for the last several months; this was the Automark election machine that you may have heard about in the news. All kinds of fun things, getting it through EMC certification.

Speaking of MW receivers, I did purchase the Boston Acoustics Receptor clock radio. MW performance is not bad, but the selectivity is pretty wide. It appears to be a single conversion affair that uses a 450kHz I.F. It might be a double conversion unit, but when I peaked the Radio Shack loop antenna on the image frequency, I was able to receive the image. It could also be that the (2 X 2nd I.F.) rejection isn't too good, if this is truly a double conversion unit. Is it worth the 150 dollars? Could be. I did call up Boston Acoustics to see if I could get ahold of some service information. The wouldn't make it available. When I asked them how to remove the main circuit board from the unit so that I could change the 450kHz filter, they explained that they couldn't give me that information, since I if were electrocuted, they would be liable. When I explained that I was going to quote them in my review, they said that it was ok. If anybody figures out how to get this thing apart, feel free to contact me.

Oh, another thing...........it could be off topic, but this is good for you Drake '7 line folks. If you change the 1st mixer in your Drake R7/TR7 to a Mini-Circuits SRA-3MH (Level 13) mixer, and you change the 1N4148s in the 2nd mixer to matched sets of 1N5711 hot carrier diodes, the receive performance improves a bit. The original 1st mixer has an SSB conversion loss of 6.5dB, while the Mini-Circuits mixer has a conversion loss of 4.75dB. As far as the 2nd mixer, it is good to get rid of those general purpose switching diodes and replace them; the 1N5711 Hot Carrier diodes have lower loss, better IM characteristics, and they are designed for RF applications.

One thing about that Radio Shack cleaner. I have used some of it in the past, and it has dissolved plastic switch wafers. I would stay away from that. The Caig De-Oxit is in the same price range, and it doesn't destroy components.
In the old days, we used to use Freon based solvents to clean circuit boards. I would get ahold of the De-Oxit and play it safe. Caig is the same company that marketed a product called Tweak.

Here's some more OT OT for you:

Dr. Myers is a United Church of Christ minister.

Dr. Robin Meyers' Speech to students at OK University **

As some of you know, I am minister of Mayflower Congregational Church in Oklahoma City, an Open and Affirming, Peace and Justice church in northwest Oklahoma City, and professor of Rhetoric at Oklahoma City University. But you would most likely have encountered me on the pages of the Oklahoma Gazette, where I have been a columnist for six years, and hold the record for the most number of angry letters to the editor.

Tonight, I join ranks of those who are angry, because I have watched as the faith I love has been taken over by fundamentalists who claim to speak for Jesus, but whose actions are anything but Christian.

We've heard a lot lately about so-called "moral values" as having swung the election to President Bush. Well, I'm a great believer in moral values, but we need to have a discussion, all over this country, about exactly what constitutes a moral value -- I mean what are we talking about? Because we don't get to make them up as we go along, especially not if we are people of faith. We have an inherited tradition of what is right and wrong, and moral is as moral does.

Let me give you just a few of the reasons why I take issue with those in power who claim moral values are on their side:

a.. When you start a war on false pretenses, and then act as if your deceptions are justified because you are doing God's will, and that your critics are either unpatriotic or lacking in faith, there are some of us who have given our lives to teaching and preaching the faith who believe that this is not only not moral, but immoral.
b.. When you live in a country that has established international rules for waging a just war, build the United Nations on your own soil to enforce them, and then arrogantly break the very rules you set down for the rest of the world, you are doing something immoral.
c.. When you claim that Jesus is the Lord of your life, and yet fail to acknowledge that your policies ignore his essential teaching, or turn them on their head (you know, Sermon on the Mount stuff like that we must never return violence for violence and that those who live by the sword will die by the sword), you are doing something immoral.
d.. When you act as if the lives of Iraqi civilians are not as important as the lives of American soldiers, and refuse to even count them, you are doing something immoral.
e.. When you find a way to avoid combat in Vietnam, and then question the patriotism of someone who volunteered to fight, and came home a hero, you are doing something immoral.

f.. When you ignore the fundamental teachings of the gospel, which says that the way the strong treat the weak is the ultimate ethical test, by giving tax breaks to the wealthiest among us so the strong will get stronger and the weak will get weaker, you are doing something immoral.

g.. When you wink at the torture of prisoners, and deprive so-called "enemy combatants" of the rules of the Geneva convention, which your own country helped to establish and insists that other countries follow, you are doing something immoral.

h.. When you claim that the world can be divided up into the good guys and the evil doers, slice up your own nation into those who are with you, or with the terrorists -- and then launch a war which enriches your own friends and seizes control of the oil to which we are addicted, instead of helping us to kick the habit, you are doing something immoral.

i.. When you fail to veto a single spending bill, but ask us to pay for a war with no exit strategy and no end in sight, creating an enormous deficit that hangs like a great millstone around the necks of our children, you are doing something immoral.

j.. When you cause most of the rest of the world to hate a country that was once the most loved country in the world, and act like it doesn't matter what others think of us, only what God thinks of you, you have done something immoral.

k.. When you use hatred of homosexuals as a wedge issue to turn out record numbers of evangelical voters, and use the Constitution as a tool of discrimination, you are doing something immoral.

l.. When you favor the death penalty, and yet claim to be a follower of Jesus, who said an eye for an eye was the old way, not the way of the kingdom, you are doing something immoral.

m.. When you dismantle countless environmental laws designed to protect the earth which is God's gift to us all, so that the corporations that bought you and paid for your favors will make higher profits while our children breathe dirty air and live in a toxic world, you have done something immoral. The earth belongs to the Lord, not Halliburton.

n.. When you claim that our God is bigger than their God, and that our killing is righteous, while theirs is evil, we have begun to resemble the enemy we claim to be fighting, and that is immoral. We have met the enemy, and the enemy is us.

o.. When you tell people that you intend to run and govern as a "compassionate conservative," using the word which is the essence of all religious faith-compassion, and then show no compassion for anyone who disagrees with you, and no patience with those who cry to you for help, you are doing something immoral.

p.. When you talk about Jesus constantly, who was a healer of the sick, but do nothing to make sure that anyone who is sick can go to see a doctor, even if she doesn't have a penny in her pocket, you are doing something immoral.

q.. When you put judges on the bench who are racist, and will set women back a hundred years, and when you surround yourself with preachers who say gays ought to be killed, you are doing something immoral.

I'm tired of people thinking that because I'm a Christian, I must be a supporter of President Bush, or that because I favor civil rights and gay rights I must not be a person of faith. I'm tired of people saying that I can't support the troops but oppose the war.

I heard that when I was your age--when the Vietnam war was raging. We knew that that war was wrong, and you know that this war is wrong--the only question is how many people are going to die before these make-believe Christians are removed from power?

This country is bankrupt. The war is morally bankrupt. The claim of this administration to be Christian is bankrupt. And the only people who can turn things around are people like you--young people who are just beginning to wake up to what is happening to them. It's your country to take back. It's your faith to take back. It's your future to take back.

Don't be afraid to speak out. Don't back down when your friends begin to tell you that the cause is righteous and that the flag should be wrapped around the cross, while the rest of us keep our mouths shut. Real Christians take chances for peace. So do real Jews, and real Muslims, and real Hindus, and real Buddhists--so do all the faith traditions of the world at their heart believe one thing: life is precious.

Every human being is precious. Arrogance is the opposite of faith. Greed is the opposite of charity. And believing that one has never made a mistake is the mark of a deluded man, not a man of faith.

And war -- war is the greatest failure of the human race -- and thus the greatest failure of faith. There's an old rock and roll song, whose lyrics say it all: War, what is it good for?  ... absolutely nothing.

And what is the dream of the prophets? That we should study war no more, that we should beat our swords into plowshares and our spears into pruning hooks. Who would Jesus bomb, indeed? How many wars does it take to know that too many people have died? What if they gave a war and nobody came? Maybe one day we will find out.

Why do SW stations broadcast scary and silly religious nonsense: because they sell the airtime on the open market.  It's called capitalism.  Same reason that China is buying pieces of petroleum companies in North America. It's for sale and they buy it.

China is a big and growing trading nation, and everyone wants to be friends with those with money to spend.  China is allegedly moving in a market economy direction so friends is good and makes $.

Actually given the continual corruption in China, probably into some corrupt official's pocket.  They're learning all the lessons of capitalism currently, including how to be on the take.

This is getting serious:

==================================
Just hours after confirming that the search for weapons of mass destruction in Iraq was over, President George W. Bush leveled his harshest charge ever at Saddam Hussein, accusing the former Iraqi dictator of "knowingly telling the truth" about not possessing WMD in the months leading up to the U.S.-led invasion of Iraq.

"After years of lying about his weapons, Saddam Hussein willfully decided to tell the truth about them," Mr. Bush said. "His treachery knows no bounds."

Does it look like the one at:

   If so, then its for CB radio and won't work for VHF.

Radio Havana had a news item on what we have actually done to Fallujah-namely, bomb it into rubble. Not one house is inhabitable. Rotting corpses are everywhere. 300,000 people are homeless for the foreseeable future. Then they mentioned that not one piece of WMD has been found. In fact, American news confirmed this-the stated reason for going to war was a lie. Yet the president says we must "stay the course", and America agrees, when there is absolutely NO REASON for this war to be happening and no reason for it to continue. The stated "reason" for America staying the course shifts like a desert mirage. It's not to destroy WMD, because there are no WMD. It's not to bring democracy to Iraq, because the Iraqis will for the large part be unable to vote. Maybe it's not to fight the terrorists on their own soil either, because the terrorists are winning. What does that leave us with? Bomb Iraq into rubble and steal all its oil to add to the colossal fortunes of a few? Why is America silently acquiescing to the destruction of Iraq and the bankruptcing of America in order to make the President and his friends wealthy?

DaviD,
Once Again - Two Choices :
#1 = Replace the Car's AM & FM Radio :o)
#2 = Replace the Car ;-}
If he were BUYING a New Car:  Then a Monthly "Pay-to-Listen" Satellite Radio Service like XM or Sirius might be a worthwhile option to consider.
However - Most People would rather Listen to the Radio for FREE !
And the most "Cost-Effective" 'choice' for an AM/MW Radio Listener is a 'new' High Quality AM & FM Automobile Radio that has a Superior Tuner 'designed' for the Mobile
'on-the-road' Radio Listening Environment.

You're probably out of luck.

An actual beam antenna would work, meaning one with large forward gain and resulting low response in most other directions, which you aim AT the station you want to listen to.  More dollars than most SW listeners want to spend, if one is even available for the frequency you want.

A small antenna can produce NULLs which you put on the stations you don't want, eg. a loop or a loop+whip phased array, but the nulls are small and everything else still pours in as before, and at night the direction of arrival is not likely to be stable enough to null even a single station unless it's a local (and so has a stable direction).

A long wire has forward gain, though I forget whether it's along the antenna or broadside to it.  It's certainly along in the case of a beverage antenna, so maybe it's along.   Aim that at the station you want and see if it helps.  Be sure to look up the great circle direction, they're not what you'd think.

I find Radio Australia on both 9580 and 9590 for a considerable morning overlap, sometimes one is better and sometimes the other, in Central Ohio.   Just to mention that it's on both and check the other if one is weak, since it's only a couple button pushes away.

WRAPPING THE ANTENNA WIRE THROUGH THE INSULATOR :
Her is the Method / Process that I use to Wrap the Antenna Wire
Through the Eye (Hole) of the Antenna Insulator.
Fold over One Foot of Antenna Wire at the End going into the Eye of the Insulator.
Run/Route the Folded-Wire-End through the Eye of the Insulator leaving about Three Inchs outside / unused Main Antenna Wire exposed.
Pass the Folded-Wire-End through the Eye of the Insulator a Second Time and Snug-it-Up to lay with the Main Antenna Wire.
Take the Single Tag-end of the Antenna Wire an place it Perpendicular (90*) to the Main Antenna Wire.
Take the Folded-Wire-End (Two Wires) and the Main Antenna Wire
(One Wire) and TWIST all Three Wires together Counter-Clock-Wise (CCW) like you are forming a Western Ubion Splice.  Do this until all of the Folded-Wire-End is used up in the Twist.
Now take the Single Tag-End Wire (One Wire) and Tightly and Closely OVER-WRAP it Clock-Wise (CW) Around the Three Twisted Wires.
Do this until all of the Tag-End Wire is used up in the Wrap.
RESULT - You have Four Wires (2x2) in the Eye of the Insulator to Distribute the Force and Ware place on it; and Gives it a Double Bite.  The CCW Twisting of the Three Wires and then CW Over Wraping of the Single Wire Mechanically LOCK the Four Wires into a Solid Joint.

For One and All,

WHY - The Eton E1 AM & FM Shortwave Receiver with XM Satellite Radio
Does NOT have "DRM" Digital Radio Mondiale reception feature.

READ : DRM - Do the Right Marketing !
[ DRM - What Went Wrong in the USofA ]
Why Digital Radio Mondiale (DRM) needs a Brand Name
-  Commentary by Andy Sennitt, 13 January 2005
RNW => http://tinyurl.com/4cona

http://www2.rnw.nl/rnw/en/features/media/features/drm050113.html
"Eton Corporation, the company that brought Grundig radios into the US, showed the Eton 'Elite' E1 XM portable Receiver. It combines AM, FM, Shortwave Receiver, and XM Satellite Radio into one ultra high-performance unit, which - although portable - is sized at 13.1 by 7.1 by 2.3 inches and weighs 4 pounds."

OBSERVATIONS ABOUT - The 2005 International Consumer Electronics Show (CES), the world's largest consumer electronics event, ended a week ago in Las Vegas.

Unfortunately, due to the decision of the US to adopt iBiquity Digital's HD Radio instead of DRM as the standard for digital AM, a major opportunity to promote Digital Shortwave Broadcasting in the US market has been lost.

But the Shortwave receivers in these new devices are only for AM, because the digital system chosen for use in the US - iBiquity Digital's HD Radio - is aimed at the AM (Medium Wave) and FM bands. So even if a digital AM receiving capability is added to these sets in the future, it's not likely to benefit Shortwave Broadcasters.

Also at the CES, 21 of the top radio broadcast groups in the US announced an historic agreement with iBiquity Digital to accelerate the conversion of 2,000 AM and FM stations to HD Radio Technology.

So it looks as if the US domestic market is firmly shut to DRM, despite its status as a world standard endorsed by the International Telecommunication Union.

Unless this marketing issue is addressed, only a subset of existing Shortwave listeners are likely to be interested in DRM. Consequently sales of DRM-capable receivers - when they eventually appear in significant numbers - will be low, and the momentum will be lost.

The majority of consumers will not even be aware that there's a digital AM Broadcasting System out there, especially as they need to buy a new receiver before they can hear it.

And since the total number of hours aired by the International Broadcasters continues to fall, the selling of the medium in terms of listener choice becomes harder and harder day by day.

DRM needs a brand name, preferably one that works in a number of major languages, that will explain what the technology is for, and cannot be confused with something else.

As we're less than a year away from the release of the first 'portable' DRM Receivers in significant quantities, I hope attention now turns to how the technology is going to be sold to the consumer, especially in the US.  A lot of time and effort has been spent getting to this point, but it could all be rendered ineffectual by poor marketing.

For One and All,
WHY - The Eton E1 AM & FM Shortwave Receiver with XM Satellite Radio
Does NOT have "DRM" Digital Radio Mondiale reception feature.
E1 XM => http://groups.yahoo.com/group/ETON-E1-XM-Radio/
READ : DRM - Do the Right Marketing !
[ DRM - What Went Wrong in the USofA ]
Why Digital Radio Mondiale (DRM) needs a Brand Name
-  Commentary by Andy Sennitt, 13 January 2005
RNW => http://tinyurl.com/4cona
http://www2.rnw.nl/rnw/en/features/media/features/drm050113.html
"Eton Corporation, the company that brought Grundig radios into the US, showed the Eton 'Elite' E1 XM portable Receiver.
It combines AM, FM, Shortwave Receiver, and XM Satellite Radio into one ultra high-performance unit, which - although portable
- is sized at 13.1 by 7.1 by 2.3 inches and weighs 4 pounds."

OBSERVATIONS ABOUT - The 2005 International Consumer Electronics Show (CES), the world's largest consumer electronics event, ended a week ago in Las Vegas.

Unfortunately, due to the decision of the US to adopt iBiquity Digital's HD Radio instead of DRM as the standard for digital AM, a major opportunity to promote Digital Shortwave Broadcasting in the US market has been lost.

But the Shortwave receivers in these new devices are only for AM, because the digital system chosen for use in the US - iBiquity Digital's HD Radio - is aimed at the AM (Medium Wave) and FM bands. So even if a digital AM receiving capability is added to these sets in the future, it's not likely to benefit Shortwave Broadcasters.

Also at the CES, 21 of the top radio broadcast groups in the US announced an historic agreement with iBiquity Digital to accelerate the conversion of 2,000 AM and FM stations to HD Radio Technology.

So it looks as if the US domestic market is firmly shut to DRM, despite its status as a world standard endorsed by the International Telecommunication Union.

Unless this marketing issue is addressed, only a subset of existing Shortwave listeners are likely to be interested in DRM. Consequently sales of DRM-capable receivers - when they eventually appear in significant numbers - will be low, and the momentum will be lost.

The majority of consumers will not even be aware that there's a digital AM Broadcasting System out there, especially as they need to buy a new receiver before they can hear it.

And since the total number of hours aired by the International Broadcasters continues to fall, the selling of the medium in terms of listener choice becomes harder and harder day by day.

DRM needs a brand name, preferably one that works in a number of major languages, that will explain what the technology is for, and cannot be confused with something else.

As we're less than a year away from the release of the first 'portable' DRM Receivers in significant quantities, I hope attention now turns to how the technology is going to be sold to the consumer, especially in the US. A lot of time and effort has been spent getting to this point, but it could all be rendered ineffectual by poor marketing.

Any western program material allowed in China is very carefully scrutinized for content.
It is heavily monitored and censored.  Providers risk losing access if they don't comply the CPC rules.

This also extends into the book publishing business as at least one well known TV program provider is also in the book publishing business.  The Communist Party in China has so much clout with these morally corrupt publishers that the CPC can snap their fingers and the publisher will refuse to publish a book IN THE U.S. of A if it happens to offend the CPC.

These are FACTS!

It is all a subtle form of propaganda.
Their programming is made to make you "feel good" about the country.
This removes your aversion to the fact that the Chinese Communist Party is a murderous regime.

Go tote that CPC QSL boy!  - LOL!

Ebay fees going up will be good for stock holders in the short term. In the long run, it will make it easier for a competitor to enter the market and get big enough to become profitable. If this happens, auction fees are likely to drop below their current levels. Competition is good.

Can you name one CEO who makes 1/4 of what you're claiming? I doubt it. According to Forbes, only one CEO makes at least 7% of what you're claiming.

Dear Friends,

From mid December 2004, I was in the Andamans and returned only yesterday to Hyderabad. Although I went there for logistic support for the VU4 Dxpedition conducted by our National Institute of Amateur Radio, I ended up by providing emergency communications for those affected by the earth quake and tsunami. I could not get in touch via email from there as it was not easily available.

All our 6 members who were in the capital Port Blair escaped unhurt. Soon after the casastrophe, I had the opportunity to operate Ham Radio from Port Blair and a couple of days later from Rama Krishna Pur and Hut Bay in Little Andamans Island which were badly affected. I was mainly clearing health and welfare messages as there were no telephones. We used generators and batteries which were charged by solar power.

Several days before the earth quake / tsunami we had given a lecture and demo of Ham Radio for the officals of All India Radio and Doordarshan.

AIR Port Blair suspended most of it programs and were giving live phone in programs where listeners could send messages to their relatives / friends.

This was broadcast on MW, SW and on the newly installed 10 kw FM transmitter on 100.9 MHZ.

Some photes of my vist to AIR Port Blair etc.can be seen at http://www.geocities.com/vu2jos/vu4

The AIR web site also gives lot of info in the following site:

http://www.allindiaradio.org/Tsunami.htm

(More details later)

Yours sincerely,

Jose

Listeners can choose between a large number of very entertaining conspiranoics and end-timers.  Nothing wrong with that.

Is Andy Sennitt serious?  Does he really think a gimmicky name is the secret to DRM success?  Let's not forget Sony's well named Beta format lost out to the other videotape format known by a dopey Three Letter Acronym.

Poor marketing might keep one good product from selling, as long as consumers can choose another good product.  Poor marketing won't keep an important new technology on the shelf.  If DRM really meets a need, it will be as easy to sell as ice water in a crowed desert town.

However, poor market research might well lead a company into wasting alot of money developing a product few consumers want.

Other than slamming Dell did you have a point?

BTW, Dell is replacing the system boards with bad caps as they turn up.  call them and out comes a tech with a new system board.  On the other hand Abit also had that problem a couple of years back and charged $25 plus shipping.

Bad wall warts are nothing new.

Yep, sending a reception report and getting a QSL does not necessarily entail tacit approval of a particular regime.

Lookie here, Sweet Cheeks:

I've been a radio junkie for 50 years, listened to ''Suspense'' on a 6 tube superhet with the 7 series loctals under the blankets.  Had a Truetone in my bedroom throughout the '60s, went through the Hallicrafters thing, then the DX-150 series solid states, Uniden (2024?) Sony ICF-2010, Lowe HF-150, Drake SW2, R8B, Stewart-Warner R-390A, Racal RA-17, etc.  I am fully cognizant of the radio universe and I think satellite radio is fun.

Last week I was listening to the early morning BBC transmissions from East Asia but reception sucked so I tried the local FM band to see if one of the local educational stations was carrying it.  The news bulletin ended when I had headphones for both on my head.

(The easy way to search a band for another transmission of a current program is to put a diferent radio in each ear and do a quick sweep of the band.  When each ear gets the same thing, you get a strange echo effect. If you work in an open (cubicle zoo) office you can tell when somebody in the same room calls you on the phone, even though you couldn't hear the person over the rest of the noise).

The next program  on shortwave was one of their current events blocks running one of a multi-part series on the problems of privitization of public utilites around the world.  But the FM band program was some sort of inspirational filler about somebody or other.  I guess that PRI didn't want to offend any free market fundamentalists.

No, your leakage inductance is going to be higher with seperated windings, so each winding will act like there's an independent series inductance that isn't coupled into the transformer.  The tradeoff is less interwinding capacitance, and lower isolation (arc over) voltage.

Please Say NO to Gambling with Social Security!!!

It is one thing we should all be able to count on.

Social Security is far from bankrupt. Here are some facts from a telephone press conference held Tuesday by Rep. Sander Levin (D-Mich.) and others knowledgeable about the fund:

Some 48 million people get checks. Some 38 percent of those are disabled, widowed or kids.

Social Security faces a challenge, not a crisis.

Privatization means cuts of up to 40 percent for future retirees.

Transition costs for setting up private accounts - Bush's proposed solution - are estimated at over $2 trillion - money the United States does not have.

When Argentina tried something similar, its entire economy tanked. Challenge Bush's "the sky is falling" now and he'll back down.

Whether we are red-staters or blue-staters, most of us have relatives dependent on Social Security - if we are not dependent on it ourselves. Call 1-800-307-8525, the AARP hotline [regardless of whether you're a member or not]. It will connect you to your senators and congressmen. Write every senator and representative in Congress. Remind them that we can vote the whole lot of them out of office if choose.

yep, torture and murder are fine tools, used by everyone who wants to make money.

The whole point of a wiki is that you can update it yourself, Dr. Hawking.

The Communist Party of China method of (non-)jamming is to park a domestic service transmitter ontop of any undesirable external Chinese language broadcasts and pump up the propaganda volume.  It is no wonder China has the most number of shortwave transmitters.

No, it is the ordinary people in China who wish to start a Hungarian revolt.

Before you make a complete fool of yourself you need to begin you re-education program:
http://english.epochtimes.com/jiuping.asp

Once you have completed the course you can take the Resign from the CPC quiz:
http://www.9ping.com/

Now go tote that lil' Red Book.

Clueless liberal speak.

Funny in 1998 Clinton was claiming it WAS broke and needed fixing. And the left was all over it. Now it's magically fixed?

Couple of good articles on it:

Gore claimed it was broke too, as did Teddy Kennedy.

Anyone interested in science and outer space exploration knows that today Huygens probe had just now successfully landed on Titan, Saturn's largest moon. The probe began transmitting radio beacon siginal at 11:25 CET, and the Green Bank radio telescope in West Virginia, USA, picked up this faint but unmistakable radio signal (2040 MHz) from the probe.

My wondering is, considering the huge distance between Titan(Saturn) and Earth, and the undirectionality of the beacon radio signal (not the ones modulated with scientifically data that will be picked up by Cassini and relays directionally to Earth), the telescope in WV must be very very sensitive. Can anyone estimate what sensitivity it has, and compare it with a regular radio receiver (say, 0.1uV)?

I'm not really sure what is there after 1930 when apparent Turkey signs off. I do see Iran listed there in Russian from 1930-2030 to Eastern Europe, and I was able to hear what certainly seemed to be Koranic recitations.

I'm not sure what Mark was hearing, but it almost seems like it may be Iran as even my 70' N-S wire hears it better than the 200' W-E wire which would generally work better toward Africa.

And at least at 2030 the BBC comes on in presumed Portuguese.

I see China has finally learned the lessons of propaganda that the Soviets never seemed to get. Instead of political harangues, they broadcast "softer" programming (music, cultural, etc) meant to provide a positive view of their country to the outside world. The Soviet stuff unintentionally provided a negative view of their bloc-all you heard were political rants against "evil imperialist American dogs". Radio Peking used to broadcast the SAME phrase over and over for hours on end, as if the point wasn't made after the first 15 minutes. The North Koreans are still clueless on this front-all you hear on Voice of Korea is odes to Kim Il Sung and Kim Jong Il.

I would point out that Mark's report was from November, so it is indeed possible that frequency usage has changed since then. However, EiBi lists Katanga (Zaire) on 7435 as does the BDXC list from April of 2004.

It isn't as though I am knocking anybodys personal computer's,because I am not.There are computers and then there are computers.That is why last year I bought myself a new ProMagix tower computer from Velocity Micro in Richmond,Virginia. www.velocitymicro.com and when I phone their toll free phone number to ask whatever question about my computer,the President of Velocity Micro is just as likely to pick up the phone as anybody else who works at Velocity Micro in Richmond.I know a couple whom I see at a local Goodwill thriftstore once in a while and last year his wife bought a new Dell computer and six days after they started using the computer,it quit working and they smelled a burnt smell coming from the computer.It was leaking capacitors on the computer's motherboard.The way some computer companies can offer such good deals is by cutting back on the quality of the parts they use in those computers.And besides,I don't care to own a computer that has propietary parts and or propietary operating systems.But,that is only my opinion.

That article was written in 1999, and represents an unusual year for Eisner.

Most of his income was from gains on stock he sold.  He gets options every year.  At the time, he'd been CEO for 15 years so he had a while to collect them.

Still, even with the unusual extra income, he made less than 60% of the amount you were talking about.

Here's the page on Eisner from Forbes for 2004:

<http://www.forbes.com/static/execpay2004/LIRC3YW.html?
passListId=12&passYear=2004&passListType=Person&uniqueId=C3YW&datatype=Person>

Is he over paid?  Probably.  But the stock holders are the ones who should be complaining.

QST de W1AW
Propagation Forecast Bulletin 2  ARLP002
>From Tad Cook, K7RA
Seattle, WA  January 14, 2005
To all radio amateurs

SB PROP ARL ARLP002
ARLP002 Propagation de K7RA

For the second reporting week for 2005 (January 6-12) both solar flux and sunspot numbers were down, as expressed in the weekly averages of the daily numbers. Average daily sunspot numbers declined over 9 points to 31.6, and average daily solar flux was down over 5 points to 89.9. These are not big point spreads, but at this low level of solar activity there isn't much room for decline. Eventually over the next two years we will see increasing periods of consecutive days with a sunspot count of 0 and solar flux down below 70.

The daily solar flux value is an expression of the noontime 2.8 GHz energy detected at a sun-pointing receiving antenna in Penticton, British Columbia. Canada's Dominion Radio Astrophysical Observatory does the measurement, and you can see details along with a history of this daily observation at, http://www.drao.nrc.ca/icarus/www/history.html. According to my records, the lowest daily solar flux value measured over the past decade was 64.9, on July 9, 1996. This was during a time when the sunspot number was 0.

Solar activity has been rising over the past week. Right after this bulletin was put to bed a week ago, the interplanetary magnetic field near earth dropped sharply to the south, which made earth vulnerable to geomagnetic storms. The geomagnetic indices (A and K index) rose sharply from very quiet to very stormy on January 7 and 8. A few days later earth was inside a high-speed solar wind, and conditions were stormy again on January 12. Fast growing sunspot 720 emerged, and this should increase the sunspot number and solar flux over the next few days. See, http://spaceweather.com/images2005/14jan05/midi512_blank.gif for a January 14 view of this fast growing spot.

Solar flux is predicted at 120 for January 14-15, and around 125 for January 16-20. This is a sharp increase over the average daily value of 89.9 for the past week and 95.4 for the previous week. Solar flux values around 120-125 suggest daily sunspot numbers rising toward (but not reaching) 100. Unsettled to active geomagnetic conditions are predicted for January 14, and quiet conditions for the following week.

Last week's Propagation Forecast Bulletin ARLP001 didn't say anything about disturbed conditions on the first days of 2005. There was a powerful solar flare around 40 minutes into the UTC New Year on January 1 (0040z, or 4:40 PM December 31 here on the West Coast). The high latitude and planetary A and K indices rose dramatically over the following two days. This produced disturbed HF conditions. On January 2, the high latitude college A index (in Alaska) rose to 64, and it was 44 and 41 over the next two days. The planetary A index was up to 33 on January 2, indicating a geomagnetic storm.

If you would like to comment or have a tip, email the author at, k7ra@arrl.net.

For more information concerning propagation and an explanation of the numbers used in this bulletin see the ARRL Technical Information Service propagation page at, http://www.arrl.org/tis/info/propagation.html.

Sunspot numbers for January 6 through 12 were 14, 22, 34, 28, 40, 25 and 58 with a mean of 31.6. 10.7 cm flux was 83.2, 83.5, 88.5, 87.5, 90.1, 94.2 and 102.1, with a mean of 89.9. Estimated planetary A indices were 4, 37, 30, 4, 6, 14 and 30 with a mean of 17.9. Estimated mid-latitude A indices were 4, 21, 20, 3, 4, 9 and 18, with a mean of 11.3.

Hi all,
I have a icf-sw77 that has been working fine for years. I lost AM receive last night. FM works fine and I checked different antennas, jacks, power and everything else I could think of.

I came home from work and tried it again. I can scan through the band and toggle freq. no problem. I did see it come back a couple times for a split second and then go dead again.

Has anyone had this problem before?
I called sony and they said.
repair flat rate = $130.00
exchange = $383.00

I would like to trouble shoot it before sending if anyone has any ideas on this???

Amateur Radio Under Threat in the UK

o Advocates total disregard of all International rules in the interest of National flexibility

o Suggest that 60% of all spectrum is tradable

o Is in favour of Software/Cognitive Radio that could potentially operate on top of Radio Amateurs without warning

o Proposes to withdraw from CB, Amateur, Maritime licensing

o Proposes to simplify access to entrants - barely after the new License structure is in place

Do you have static removal of some type installed on the antenna lead in ? Static can wreck a silicon chip in a hurry. I fyou know anyone who can do a diagnostic on your radio I would sure ask them if they would. I had a scanner get zapped once because of static on the antenna. It would not scan trunked systems all of a sudden. I finally turned it in and got my money back.

The US has demonstrated a similar lack of concern for shortwave radio listners. I'd say we have a lot in common. I refer to broadband over powerlines. Where I live, the apartments all come with DSL if you can afford it, and no outdoor antennas allowed. That sure makes a mess out of shortwave. I can't imagine what it does to an amateur trying to communicate.

The key isn't as much sensitivity of the receiver. That is seriously limited by background noise anyway to something around .5 microvolts unless you use synchronous detection.  The game at Green Bank and the others is the huge gain over an isotropic radiator the big dish gives.

If an 8 ft dish gives about 40 db, an 80 ft dish is about 60db, 800 foot dish (like Aericibo) 80 db gain over an isostropic radiator.
When you have 60db in the antenna system, ta picowatt becomes a microwatt, and a microwatt turns into a watt.

I concur.  Plus, the 7600 has an AM sideband-selectable sync detector, making it outstanding for broadcast stations (BBC, Dwelle, etc.).

Among others, I own the YB 400 and Sony 7600.  The RS DX-398/Sangean 909 is much better than the YB400 for sideband, but it doesn't have a sync detector.

K9RZZ - Sounds like you aleady know the answer.
Care to share it with us ;-)

The general theme of this thread was a Mechanical Failure of 'cheap' plasitic Antenna Insulators; and better replacements for them.

But as you point out - If you use a quality Plastic 'type' Rope and "Tie" the Rope and Antenna Wire together - That will work also :o)

Doubling Over (Double Lay) and Twist together about Eight Inches of the Antenna Wire and a Single Lay of Rope usually works well for a "Secure and Lasting" Knot between the two pieces.

Well I have had the radio in the same place for a long time and use it as a table top basically.

I'm not sure what I can do for it now if it got static zapped.

AM comes back only for a split second when I am trying to tune in something and FM works fine.

TWO VERY REAL FACTS :

When Bill Clinton was President he 'claimed' Social Security was BROKEN and gave Public Speeches and Campaigned to "Fix It".

When Al Gore was running for President be 'claimed' Social Security was BROKEN and Campaigned to "Fix It".  Plus "HE" was going to put the Social Security Trust Fund in  a LOCKED BOX to protect it.

THE CONCLUSION :

So what has changed now that President George "W" Bush also says that Social Security is BROKEN and is Actual Working "Fix It" ? ? ?

How is having most of the workforce take money OUT of the Social Security system going to FIX it?

There is no logic in it.

If you take money out of the system, it leaves a huge shortfall for those coming up on retirement in the near term.

If you invest that money in the stock market, and we have another crash, as has happened several times in my lifetime (though nothing quite like the BIG crash), then you have a personal shortfall in the long term (i.e. you have no Social Security to fall back on).

Even precious metals are no guarantee of solvency, I'm sure you remember the gold crash back in the late 70's, where the price of gold dropped from the mid $400 range to the low $200 range literally overnight...

There's a nearby ski area, Snowshoe, that has to work closely with the NRAO to keep  from interfering with the deep space transmissions.

_Wired_ had a good article last year about the problems NRAO faces.

http://www.wired.com/wired/archive/12.02/quiet_pr.html

Issue 12.02 - February 2004

The Quiet Zone
Cell phones, pagers, Wi-Fi, Bluetooth - the wireless revolution is everywhere. Except here.

By John Geirland

The subjects of radio astronomy are astronomically large, but the signals they produce are astronomically weak by the time they reach Earth. These emissions are measured in Janskys, named for the father of radio astronomy, Karl Jansky. A Jansky is based on 0.00000000000000000000000001 watts - and that's a big signal at Green Bank. Even a musical greeting card playing at the base of the telescope could produce anomalous spikes in the data of an unlucky astronomer trying to study stellar gases. If the interference is strong enough, the telescope's ultrasensitive first amplifier - cooled by liquid helium to minimize internal noise - shuts down.

There was an article in the _WSJ_ two months ago as well.

http://www.mindfully.org/Technology/2004/Wireless-Devices-Increasing15nov04.htm

Be Quiet. We're Listening.
Scientists in West Virginia are trying to hear what the universe has to say.
But wireless devices are making it increasingly difficult.
MARCELO PRINCE / Wall Street Journal 15nov04

The task of preserving the Quiet Zone largely falls to Mr. Reynolds and a team of scientists at Green Bank. The radio frequency interference team spends hours every week driving around in a vehicle equipped with sensitive antennas and special gear to pinpoint local sources of interference, like a broken knot in an electric fence. They must also monitor thousands of cellphone towers and broadcast antennas in the zone to ensure they don't disrupt the telescope -- an increasingly time-consuming and difficult task.

I come to this thread a bit late for which I apologise, but have you considered a RF Systems DX-1 Pro, an active antenna I have had for four years and has given me outstanding performance?
Its characteristics are that it is very sensitive but also very quiet and resistant to local man made QRM.
It has the highest third order intercept point of any hobby active antenna on the market, so is very suitable if you live close to high powered transmitters, that will not break through or cause intermod problems.
It's egg beater shape gives it omnidirectional performance and is resistant to deep cycle fading.
It is a high performance design that is very sensitive, from chasing LF NDB beacons, through MW right up the top end of the HF band.
With this antenna I have recorded amazing catches from the four corners of the earth

According to http://www.geocities.co.jp/SiliconValley-PaloAlto/4065/dev-di.htm#mixer
the 1SS135 appears to be a VHF/UHF switching diode, from Rohm

Semiconductors. It could be a good diode, but I know that the 5711 is intended for mixer/detector service. I was unable to find a data sheet for the 135, so I can't make direct comparisons. I have used the 5711 over the past several years, with good results. Awhile back, I picked up a batch of matched quad sets of these diodes from the Rockwell-Collins Inventory Disposal store for around a dollar a pound. Too bad I got rid of most of them........................I thought I would be living out there for longer than I did. Easy to take things for granted, when they are plentiful. Fortunately, these things are currently available, and they aren't too expensive.

Found these in my garage.

KB-2 Beverage Antenna Transformer
Price 80.00
KB-3 Beverage Reflection Transformer
Price 45.00

Buy both and its 115.00
Both are in excellent shape, so good the stickers are hardly worn. For more info on these go to

BAD,

The FIX for the Social Security Systems is very easy.

Remove the Income Cap Limit and allow the High Income Earners to Pay 'their' Full and Complete "Fair Share" since Social Security is a True Flat Tax on Payroll for all Wage Earners.

After All - What's Fair and Equitable - Is Right and Just !

Oh that's easy to calculate. You get a S unit For every $ you spend on a ceramic insulator.

It is 3:18am EST (0818z). There are comms concerning a sea emergency going on on HF freq 2182 kHz USB.

The captain of the F/V Endeavor has been in comms with the US Coast Guard concerning the plight of a man aboard the F/V Rhianda, an 86-foot eastern-rigged red & white scalloper located at 41-25 North, 66-36 West. The 44-year old man aboard the vessel has collapsed several times and is in and out of consciousness. Winds in the area are from the NW at 25 mph, seas have 5-8 ft swells, and visibility is 4-5 miles. The F/V Rhianda is now at anchor there.

I have not heard the US CG Station ID itself, but I have been told that it is CG Oceana Radio and CG Group Ft Macon that are maintaining comms with F/V Endeavor.

I had one for a while before it crapped out a few years ago.
Just a different radio is all.

I just wondered as I remember when they sold new and I thought they looked worth trying but I never did. I think they were selling the Panasonic RF-2900 new around then too.

RHF

Your plan would fix SS as it should have been from day ONE. Flat tax on your income. This is not a political issue but a social issue and a humanitarian issue. Allowed to invest SS money will help few increase their money. Most of the new people that will depend on SSI aren't qualified to act as investors and to hire advisors will defeat the purpose(added cost).
Keep the politicians out of SSI. They usually screw up everything they touch.
One thing for sure, messing with AARP is a bigger political issue than the NRA ever thought of being.

Next time I'll alter something like that to read "Dear 'Tard" so you'll be able to understand it.

;-P,
Yes - The Social Security System is a Matter of Public Policy.
Whereas Income Taxes and other Federal Levies are a Matter of Funding the Operations of the USofA's Federal Government.
The Social Security System is really a Social Engineering Endeavor that is Rightly-or-Wrongly based on the General Socialist Collective Concept of Each According to Their Ability 'for' Each According to Their {Basic} Needs.  {A Society Taking Care of It's Own In Need.}
So the First Question Is :
Should We (The USofA) Even Have a Social Security System ?
- I Would Say - YES !
Next the Second Question Is :
How Should We (The USofA) Fund and Pay For the Social Security System ?

- Currently We Pay through a Flat PayRoll Tax; that is Funded by both the Employee and the Employer; that has a PayRoll Limit CAP.
This PayRoll "Limit" [CAP] Actual makes a High Salaried Employee 'cheaper' (by about 6%) for the Employer; and is a "Tax Gift" of about +6% for the High Salaried Employee.
Therefore High Salaried Employee Do NOT Pay 'their' Fair Share [.]
Then the Third Question Is :
In the Future - How Should We (The USofA) Fund and Pay For the Social Security System ?
The Number One Answer (#1) is Eliminate the PayRoll Tax "Limit" [CAP]
-  Require Employers to Pay the Full Cost of Employment for their High Salaried Employees.
- STOP the "Tax Gift" for High Salaried Employees.
- Require High Salaried Employee Employees to Subscribe To and Invest in a Personal Retirement Account (PRA) with Every Dollar of their "Tax Gift" Money.
NOTE - These High Salaried Employees can be allowed to Join the Federal Employee's Thrift Savings Plan (TSP) which is the very same Option that Members of Congress have and is available to Every Federal Employee to Save-A-Little-Extra for their Own Retirement.
- At Retirement Age the High Salaried Employee Standardized Monthly Personal Retirement Account Payment (LERO Methodology) would Off-Set their Monthly Social Security Retirement Benefit Dollar for Dollar.
So the Fourth Question Is :

In the Future - Who Will pay Into the Social Security System ?
- Everyone Who Receives a Salary.
- For the Average Salaried Employee NOTHING Charges [.]
- - They Work and Pay into the Social Security System.
- - When they Retire they Receive a Monthly Social Security Check.
- For the Employer of High Salaried Employees they Pay Their Fair Share of the Full Cost of the Social Security System.
- - This provides an Immediate Cash Infusion for the Social Security System to Start Paying Down the Trust Fund Borrowing by that Congress started in the 1970s.
- For the High Salaried Employee they are 'Required" to Pay their "Fair Share" into a Personal Retirement Account (PRA) via the Federal Thrift Savings Plan (TSP).
- - In-Fact these High Salaried Employees will Put Away Enough and Earn Enough via the TSP then when they Retire.
- - Their TSP Income will Provide for Their Full Retirement Benefit far Exceeding the Amount they could get from Social Security.
- - They will NOT Draw a Single Dollar from the Social Security System.

- - This Will Reduce the Distribution Load that will be placed on the Social Security System in the Future.
WHAT THIS CHANGE DOES :
It Ain't Perfect - But It Does FIX the Social Security System
1 - It does NOT Require the Average Working American Citizen
to Pay Any More Into Social Security.
2 - It does NOT Change Any of the Average Working American Citizen's Social Security Retirement Benefits.
UNQUESTIONABLY - Another Crazy Idea From The Mind Of A Mad Man ;-}

Does anyone know what the FSK signal on 289.6KHz is? While experimenting with a new feed line I found this signal.
In Lexingotn KY it is a S6 and has been steady for the last 12 hours.
And does anyone have a suggestion for a freeware FSK demodulator? My MFJ1278 only shows garbage.

Hi John
yes i did consider the DX1 Pro made by rf systems.
but at twice the price of the wellbrook i decided to go for the wellbrook as i have read many highly recommended views for the wellbrook and couldn't find much information about the DX 1 pro

Thanks  anyway : John

I had hoped that Triax might make a better feedline. Better as in less noise ingres, not lower line loss. After experimenting with a new and temp 80' wire antenna, with a Minicircuits 9:1 matching and a Minicicuits 1:1
(see members.aol.com/WA1ION/nrants.pdf for how the 1:1 is used) and a 90' piece of Triax I found that Triax helps reduce the ingress for frequencies below ~1MHz.
It made NO difference above 2MHz. Between ~1MHz and ~2MHz any diference is debatable.
I grounded the outer braid on the Triax at the transformer/antenna. Using the diagram in the NRANTS.pdf I found in earlier experiments that R1/R2 have no effect. Like the NRANTS diagram, the shown COAX becomes the inner and ungrounded shield. I grounded the outer Triax braid at the base of the antenna with a 8' rod.
At the 1:1 transformer I did not ground or connector the outer shield at the 1:! end.
The 1:1 transfomrer is located just outside my radio room and is in a shielded (Altoid tin) box that is directly grounded. The shield of the cable that comes into the house is only grounded at the ground strip in my room.
My ground strip was salvaged from a eletrician friends junk box and is the grounding busss from service pannel and is about 1' long, 1" wide and 1/4" thick and has 8 tie points and is connected to the outside RF ground by 3 parallel 1/2" tinned braids that are about 3' long. My RF ground is bonded to the power/telco ground by 1/2" tinned braid. The power/telco ground is the standard 8' rod.
The RF ground consists of an 8' ground rod, connected to four 4' ground spikes(2 8' ground rods cut in half) via 1/4" copper tubing that is brazed at each end. The copper tubing rdiates away like finges from the palm of your hand are about 10' away.
The tubbing and top of the ground spikes is about 18" under the soil surface. For this experiment
I laid the feed line on the surface of the earth.
The antenna was suspended at about 15'on one end and about 30' at the other end, and sagged to about 10' at the middle.

I have found the NRANTS setup to be very good in reducing noise and is the best antenna setup I have used so far. Midline 1:1 transformer really helps reduce noise from the PC used with my radio to a minimum.

This afternoon a friend is bringing some shielded, balanced video line and we will see how it behaves. For this experiment I will use a modified matching network with R1 halved and placed in series with both out put legs of T1 (9:1). After that we will test lamp/zip cord and some high end balanced microphone cable.
Terry

Heard here on 10 and 15 MHz at 1520. However, the only thing Sam says after the sort of digital buzz that was present on the original Sam transmissions is 'Varmint'.

Thanks!
I have a GPS38 and I located the plans for building a differntial system.
Now all I have to do, is to refind them.
They must be running a lot of power to produce that stong a signal here. and that explains why my MFJ1278 only shows "random" charctors.
Any idea when this station went "online"?
It has been a while since I tuned down to listen to anything other the some NDBs.

Try Ebay.  60's are reasonably common, but 65's somewhat less so.

As a matter of fact: Bush claims on Social Security should be compared to claims on WMD

Molly Ivins

AUSTIN, Texas -- Cheez, I go to all this trouble not to call the president of the United States a liar -- perhaps misinformed, did not seem to know about, no one has told him, etc. -- and then he just comes flat out with a whopper.

Drolly enough, he prefaced his latest with the unlikely statement, "As a matter of fact..." before he proceeded to do battle against truth: "...by the time today's workers who are in their mid-20s begin to retire, the system will be bankrupt. So if you're 20 years old, in your mid-20s, and you're beginning to work, I want you to think about a Social Security system that will be flat bust, bankrupt, unless the United States Congress has got the willingness to act now. And that's what we're here to talk about, a system that will be bankrupt."

Let's try this again, slowly, for those who, like the president, seem to be having difficulty with reality. Social Security will not be bankrupt, will not be flat bust in 2042 or 2052 or even, as the president has also claimed, by 2018. According to the deliberately alarmist projections of the fund's trustees, it will have exhausted the trust fund in 2042. According to the nonpartisan Congressional Budget Office, Social Security will be able to rely on the trust fund until 2052 and after that will still be able to pay 81 percent of scheduled benefits.

And that's if no changes are made to the current system.

Iraq New Terror Breeding Ground War Created Haven, CIA Advisers Report

By Dana Priest
Washington Post Staff Writer
Friday, January 14, 2005; Page A01

Iraq has replaced Afghanistan as the training ground for the next generation of "professionalized" terrorists, according to a report released yesterday by the National Intelligence Council, the CIA director's think tank.

Iraq provides terrorists with "a training ground, a recruitment ground, the opportunity for enhancing technical skills," said David B. Low, the national intelligence officer for transnational threats. "There is even, under the best scenario, over time, the likelihood that some of the jihadists who are not killed there will, in a sense, go home, wherever home is, and will therefore disperse to various other countries."

Low's comments came during a rare briefing by the council on its new report on long-term global trends. It took a year to produce and includes the analysis of 1,000 U.S. and foreign experts. Within the 119-page report is an evaluation of Iraq's new role as a breeding ground for Islamic terrorists.

President Bush has frequently described the Iraq war as an integral part of U.S. efforts to combat terrorism. But the council's report suggests the conflict has also helped terrorists by creating a haven for them in the chaos of war.

"At the moment," NIC Chairman Robert L. Hutchings said, Iraq "is a magnet for international terrorist activity."

Before the U.S. invasion, the CIA said Saddam Hussein had only circumstantial ties with several al Qaeda members. Osama bin Laden rejected the idea of forming an alliance with Hussein and viewed him as an enemy of the jihadist movement because the Iraqi leader rejected radical Islamic ideals and ran a secular government.

Bush described the war in Iraq as a means to promote democracy in the Middle East. "A free Iraq can be a source of hope for all the Middle East," he said one month before the invasion. "Instead of threatening its neighbors and harboring terrorists, Iraq can be an example of progress and prosperity in a region that needs both."

But as instability in Iraq grew after the toppling of Hussein, and resentment toward the United States intensified in the Muslim world, hundreds of foreign terrorists flooded into Iraq across its unguarded borders. They found tons of unprotected weapons caches that, military officials say, they are now using against U.S. troops. Foreign terrorists are believed to make up a large portion of today's suicide bombers, and U.S. intelligence officials say these foreigners are forming tactical, ever-changing alliances with former Baathist fighters and other insurgents.

"The al-Qa'ida membership that was distinguished by having trained in Afghanistan will gradually dissipate, to be replaced in part by the dispersion of the experienced survivors of the conflict in Iraq," the report says.

According to the NIC report, Iraq has joined the list of conflicts -- including the Israeli-Palestinian stalemate, and independence movements in Chechnya, Kashmir, Mindanao in the Philippines, and southern Thailand -- that have deepened solidarity among Muslims and helped spread radical Islamic ideology.

At the same time, the report says that by 2020, al Qaeda "will be superseded" by other Islamic extremist groups that will merge with local separatist movements. Most terrorism experts say this is already well underway. The NIC says this kind of ever-morphing decentralized movement is much more difficult to uncover and defeat.

Terrorists are able to easily communicate, train and recruit through the Internet, and their threat will become "an eclectic array of groups, cells and individuals that do not need a stationary headquarters," the council's report says. "Training materials, targeting guidance, weapons know-how, and fund-raising will become virtual (i.e. online)."

The report, titled "Mapping the Global Future," highlights the effects of globalization and other economic and social trends. But NIC officials said their greatest concern remains the possibility that terrorists may acquire biological weapons and, although less likely, a nuclear device.

The council is tasked with midterm and strategic analysis, and advises the CIA director. "The NIC's goal," one NIC publication states, "is to provide policymakers with the best, unvarnished, and unbiased information -- regardless of whether analytic judgments conform to U.S. policy."

Other than reports and studies, the council produces classified National Intelligence Estimates, which represent the consensus among U.S. intelligence agencies on specific issues.

Yesterday, Hutchings, former assistant dean of the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs at Princeton University, said the NIC report tried to avoid analyzing the effect of U.S. policy on global trends to avoid being drawn into partisan politics.

Among the report's major findings is that the likelihood of "great power conflict escalating into total war . . . is lower than at any time in the past century." However, "at no time since the formation of the Western alliance system in 1949 have the shape and nature of international alignments been in such a state of flux as they have in the past decade."

The report also says the emergence of China and India as new global economic powerhouses "will be the most challenging of all" Washington's regional relationships. It also says that in the competition with Asia over technological advances, the United States "may lose its edge" in some sectors.

Thanks for the comments on the ICF-5900W. I'm curious if a collector will be the high bidder, or someone who just wants to use it and appreciates its fine condition.

I would have liked to try this 5900W and a Panasonic RF-2200 side-by-side, but I've never owned this two models at the same time.

Speaking of nice radios, have you noticed this awesome Zenith Trans-Oceanic A600 on Ebay?
http://cgi.ebay.com/ws/eBayISAPI.dll?ViewItem&rd=1&item=5743311111&ssPageName=STRK:MEWA:IT
My good friend John Bryant is the author of "Zenith Trans-Oceanic: The Royalty Of Radios", and this particular unit looks as nice as some of the models he used to own. A while back, John got out of the collecting side of radio, and sold off most of his Zeniths, including an unopened, new-in-the-box T-O 7000-1 model.

ranier lichtes top 5 portables (from 1987):

panasonic rf-B60
sony 2010
sony 2002
toshiba rp-f11
satellit 400
uniden 2021

sets he put in the desktop that could be in the above category are:

sony crf-1
sony ic-6800wa
sony crf-320a
satellit 650

so no where is the RF-2200

and ranier is a top authority in my book

I have two RF-2200's and enjoy them a lot. I personally rate them very high.
I would rate the 2200 in the top category but I don't think they are worth over $200. more like $150 in excellent condition

I swear it works! I just did it, and it worked!!!

Instructions:
Please read this over completely.

It is extremely powerful and will pay you very well.
This is not MLM or a ponzi scheme or gifting.
All funds come from the company's advertisers so
You Pay Nothing! -- not one penny.
The company pays you to promote it -- you don't pay them.
It doesn't take any money to start, and takes only 5-10 minutes to set up. It can pay nearly $350,000 at NO Cost to You except a little time.

The Details:
Carefully follow the instructions below...and hopefully you may be willing to give it a chance...after all the opportunity is totally FREE...nothing out of your pocket now or ever!
You will make $100 in the next (3) minutes if you want it... WITHOUT SPENDING A DIME!
This will cost YOU NOTHING! - HONEST!

"Yeah right," you say.

You get $100 just for joining and the referral potential earnings is STAGGERING! You will NEVER SEND MONEY, NEVER SPEND anything and NEVER

ASK FOR MONEY, but you will make THOUSANDS!

* * * THREE STEP PROCESS * * *

Read Very Carefully & Take Your Time for Accuracy Listed below are three e-mail addresses & sign-up URLs.

(1) First, sign-up at RichMails.com - Under the first (1st) ID and You'll get $100 just for joining. [You can't use AOL for this. I would suggest free www.Yahoo.com or another email account you might have.]
So Click on the #1 Position's url and Sign-up.

(2) Next, send an e-mail to the #3 - third person on the list and put in subject line: "I signed up under #1"

(3) Now, Copy and paste this letter into a file. Delete the person in the #1 position of this letter. Move the other two URLs - UP to #1 & #2 positions respectively, and INSERT YOUR information at the BOTTOM, in the #3 position.

Please be sure you copy or type YOUR e-mail and your new RichMails sign up URL correctly and the other 2 addresses also!

Replace your own name where mine now is.

FINAL STEP
Send this ad until you have 3 responses saying they signed up under #1.
That's it, only 3 responses, not 6 or 10 or 20, (just 3)!
Of course, you can mail more and make more, too!
When your address gets to the #1 position, you will have (27) people signed up under you!

Not bad, but ONLY THE BEGINNING. A short (very short) time later, each of those 27 people will have 27 people signed up under them which equals 729, and so on. RichMails pays you for everyone who subscribes under you for three levels, and it adds up fast!

They make their money from the advertisers.

See calculations below...Here's how the payout works:
Your own sign-up $100
First level is 27 X $25 referral 675
Second level is 729 X $25 referral 18,225
Third level is 19,683 X $25 referral 492,075

Here is the list of names:

#1:
http://www.RichMails.net/cgi-bin/signup.cgi?r=tangirl1042000@yahoo.com #2:
http://www.RichMails.com/cgi-bin/signup.cgi?r=windblade20@hotmail.com #3:
http://www.RichMails.com/cgi-bin/signup.cgi?r=matippc@gmail.com

Mail to me with the subject: (I have signed up under #1)
TO: matippc@gmail.com

A WORD OF CAUTION:
"IF YOU CHEAT, YOU LOSE"! And, the people above you, know it!
This is the reason you would lose: It must go through all (3) levels to work!
The Money builds up and goes to you! If you type your information in the #1 position, you will only make, maximum, $75!
Once you have your page set up, simply advertise it everywhere and anywhere( spamfree or course) and watch your income e-x-p-l-o-d-e-

Don't forget funding your favorite charity!
See ya at the Top!! May you be richly Blessed

Sincerely,

Matt.-

Yeah, you are S-9 +20 dB here.  That's how the S to $ conversion works.

I guess he's on a bent to piss me off. This week it's a slam on Christians. A little late for the holiday but that just falls in line with nothing else right about it. Christ did not exist was the point of the, I guess you would call it, commentary. I think he is trying to be funny but he is not. Radio Netherlands should just blow this guy off. Independent thinking does not mean broadcasting ignorant thought or blatantly offending other peoples religion.

Wonder if Mr. Green will be man enough to insult Muslim's next week by insisting Muhammad did not exist. He just makes himself out to sound like some Trolling jackass in the news group. Robert Green, on the air international SW Troll and coward.

This was during the otherwise great programming on the weekend broadcast from 19 to 21 hours UTC. Robert only gets to puke on 5 minutes or so of the broadcast. Why Radio Netherlands bothers with him is beyond my understanding.

I had a very good signal on all the following frequencies during the 19 to 21 hour broadcast.

17,810
17,725
15,315

All these frequencies should come in well for anyone in NA or CA.

What exactly is "Yosemite Sam" saying,
and why has he been named that?
First I've heard of him.

He's like the cartoon character. Now he's just saying 'Varmint'. In the past he's said 'Varmint, I'm a gonna blow ya to smithereens'.

Indications from the past seem to point to a possible location near Albuquerque, NM for Yosemite Sam.

He is just making fun of other peoples religious beliefs. This will only generate bad feelings on the part of people that believe. What's the point of doing this other than just being disrespectful?

Mr. Green is a coward knowing that he can get away with mistreating Christians in a world wide broadcast. Let's see him do the same for other religions that don't take kindly to this kind of treatment if he is an atheistic.

I have a question for you. Why don't you find such commentary offensive?

There's one comparison which comes to mind. The BBQ joint generated interest among BBQ enthusiasts, but that interest didn't translate to a broader interest among the general restaurant consumers. Good marketing would certainly have helped.

DRM doesn't seem to have much interest even among radio enthusiasts, if the responses on this forum are any indication. Expecting DRM to generate interest in shortwave radio among casual radio listeners looks like somebody's pipe dream.

Monopolies in vital services don't need marketing. Marketing becomes increasingly important as the markets become more competitive.

DRM has the monopoly on shortwave digital modulation for international broadcasting. If people want digital SW broadcasting, DRM is the only game in town.

So, what's the best way to market digital SW radio? With a gimmicky name? If the DRM wizards asked me, I'd suggest they need to develop a low cost, easy to use, long battery life portable radio. I don't know if such a radio is possible.

Or the old line international broadcasters could broadcast programs which the casual radio listener would want to listen to.  But, since the Cold War and colonial era have both faded away, I don't know if that's possible, either.

If Alex Jones and the Prophet of God go to DRM, I'll be right there with them.

Ah- ha, this NG just helped me figure out why the sigs are so poor on HF today here in NC.
Figured something was going on, when these listings looked a bit poor:

Agreed, and the weekend English programming from Xian to Africa (audible here in the US, probably off the back of the beam) is a good bet for actually being able to easily QSL a Chinese outlet - and the programming fun and decent.

I started out with a DX-398 and by the time the wire had grown to 100' the noise and overloading were bad. Running the wire through a grounded ICE 180 transformer greatly reduced the noise and I was able to add another 20' of wire w/o overloading.

There is certainly someone in there today at 2000, however conditions are poor due to a previous solar storm which seems to have subsided a bit.

There was a European station in earlier at 1900 and the interval signal escapes me at the moment.

The frequency bears watching though.

For the time being, I moved and really dont have any antenna room and dont want to let this stuff sit idle when it can be used. I might get back in to it later. I also have a Collins R-390A I'm selling but I have a tentative offer from someone but I think they might flake, this is the hard one to give up, I had to it restored by Walter Wilson 2 years ago.

Point is, 'tard boy, in two sentences you state: "I should have bought ebay stock a couple years ago. they already make too much money in my opinion"

On the one hand you are perhaps envious of those who did indeed invest, and perhaps because you did not invest, you're pissed because they actually make money.

Never ceases to amaze me that there are so many 'tards in this hobby.

Tardism has no boundaries Steve. It's typical of the liberal mindset. They want everyone to suffer equally and anyone who gets ahead or makes a profit is considered heartless and opportunistic.

Trouble is...ebay positions itself as a safe and honest place to do business. Actually, it allows people like radio-mart to shill bid his own auctions and end up with a "summer vacation" suspension, only to be allowed to trade again.

Ebay's good far outweighs the bad, so it continues to be accepted by the buying public. Where else can you buy a nice little radio like a Degen 1103 for under $70 shipped to your door.......nowhere. Where else can gottahaveit1995 buy a radio for $100 and then two weeks later sell it as radio-mart for $300?......nowhere.

When their fees get too high, another operation will come along. Ebay is badly in need of competition. But, if they make billions in the meantime, so much good for them....that is what built this nation and makes it a great place to live.

I have JUST acquired a Sony SW-100 from a certain www auction site that I had better not mention by name due to recent posts hoho.

It was the bare radio with no instructions, psu, active aerial etc.

This was to tide me over while I got my ICF 7600D fixed BUT ...
I am so impressed with the littler beast I would like to get the missing bits to complete the kit.

Anyone got a, UK psu, active aerial (hoho) or manual lying around? or know where to get an electronic copy of the manual? I have worked my way around it but just for completeness.

Thanks in advance
Garry

why is it that people brag that capitalism is so great but complain that we MUST to go to war when oil prices go up.

or why does everyone complain that their cable TV bill keeps going up but then they say its great that ebay keeps raising their fees.

and its great that CEO's make over a billion $$$ a year but complain when their job is sent to china

wise up people, don't be stupid till the day you die !!!!!
its all tied together !

Even at the $135 final bid, that's not too bad of a price for this radio at the "collectible" level. Definitely not a "steal", but not horribly overpriced. This model sells easily for $200+ in excellent physical and operational shape. The antenna can be replaced for a few bucks from the right source and the radio probably wasn't used much on SW, so the band switch contacts probably just need a good cleaning with Deoxit. The RF-2200 is considered to be in the top 5 best shortwave portables ever made.

Don't miss the rest of the inside scoop to the up coming public Johnny Wizard trial, cradled within this last testimony of a King left forsaken by all of America as unworthy of public discussions in our media.

Seriously Folks

Napoleon Bonaparte wrote forming governments are forged only through the public witness of shared mutual experiences, simple, yet, the bushite strategy implemented continually on behalf of the enemy forces in Iraq have been to divide the nation's people with different "legal" definitions, while speaking for typical bushite bigotry, by then offering distinctions of human value between US some from "others". Not freedom, nor democracy. [Remember: Evil is dumb]

Example: Allawi forbade surviving Iraqi doctors and nurses from medically treating any of the estimated 200,000+ innocent victims from Falluja [IRAQI vicinity].

Example 2: DYING two-bit bushite war with "foreign" soldiers paid especially more than a thousand dollars a day as self confessed RACISTS, and THEREFOR, left "officially" too weak as, "pissing post illiterates" to go after real terrorists who torture the innocent, or real thieves, that have stolen BILLIONS from the Iraqi Development Fund. Done all to sacrifice life's purpose for no better good to the ANTI-CHRIST EVIL bush "cabal" of lying neo-con Christ haters. Allthewhile stating the objective worth dying young America as bushite for is "Democracy" in Iraq. But, isn't a founding principle of any democracy to outlaw thefts, sexual assault, murder? Again, bushite kills bushite for a stolen nickel that they just as soon, stole from anybody. If you can believe it. We need YOU to make some effort to engage American talk mediae. Perhaps it's only YOU, who hasn't yet heard a responsibility to this once greatly revered world of wisdom, of the enchanted, and mystical, or of the tyrannical as hell bound for suffering and sorrow. ,in which you share allegiance too my friend.

Being caring and compassionate for the victimized innocent not only feels good, but it is a choice we would make at being alive to help US survive. To not speak against the bushite war crimes against YOUR Humanity, is to not speak in defense of our ancient dying God no longer found worthy of you Peoples humble respect. Currently corrupted bushite want my voice of truth silenced by censorship with false imprisonment, and those who advocate such hatred for myself and our humanity, speak no public word or disagreement on my allegations of high treason by Our Mr. bush Jr.. While I want to openly debate the, "censorship for tyranny", corporate talk radio bushite bitches on their furthering commitment to not allow objections regarding their contempt for true justice and freedom in America. But if you singly decide not to support my cause, like corporate news control encourages, We will be left forsaken, again. God is Just to the core, like Johnny Wizard tries to be, while bushite liars lie, cheat, and steal from America as ourselves measured unworthy for deliberation to gain true understanding. The Coast to Coast radio network in America disallows America learn for why American soldiers are currently sacrificing their LIVES irrationally. Why? Because there is no legitimate reason, while bushite pretend in YOUR name, that there must be another reason but for to rob our humanity in George Bush Jr.'s name. For if there truly wasn't another reason, not so then blind, stupid, and cowardly American soldiers wouldn't be too happy about the wealthy corporatist bushite commentators silencing America's dying cries by bushite enemy command. Now would they? Remember: wealthy blind and stupid bushite kills/gets killed, poor blind and stupid bushite for a stolen nickel - a nickel in all likelihood, they rifled as thieves from some pensioner, that just as soon, would be their own "grand" parents. Or Yours as someone elses beside.

Phil Donahue had the highest rating, number one money making news commentary show on NBC as it was canceled. Why? Too good as enlightening and INFORMATIVE. Then there was the recently canceled Crossfire. Or how about Barry Zwicker on VisionTV as Canada's greatest broadcast before it too was canceled. Why? Too good as enlightening and INFORMATIVE. VisionTV, a "religious" channel now likely forbids anyone to suggest that God would be good as just, and REALLY INTELLIGENT. Forbidden knowledge we are the corporate bushite insist with Your stolen rights. Why so? Because Americans might learn of what it is to be a true Christian, and therefor stop to have arrested else immediately executed for high treason regarding 9/11: the enemies of Johnny, Justice, God and Humanity, the evil doers George W. Bush, Rumsfeld, and Condolezza Rice. Alone with Myers and Cheney for good measure. Then, those responsible for the needless bombing of Samarra and Fallujah.

Under EVIL bushite tyranny, We are criminally fighting for needlessly dying as bushite here, but corporate newsCASTers don't find "our" costs worth getting a discussion group going, after all, American soldiers who die for the bush regime, as the kept in the dark, will less likely be going after the real bad guys for 9/11 then right? Corporate America refuse US just basic rights of legitimacy to at least address the absent war reason issue from time to time - Jeeze. But no. As bushite, they're prepared to not inform the bushite soldier that depleted uranium is radio-active, that the stolen American Enron pension money is sitting in the Cayman Islands, or that the war itself has no justification. See, the bushite war is a TRUE CRIME against all Peoples of Humanity, for the war against Iraq has no reason available to explain enemy military action, but for to die thieving from ourselves as the bad guys. The Enemies of Freedom. Why we have Law. God is Just, and evil is just the slavish ignoramuses who censor our Words of empowerment for freedom through Justice represented indivisible as Eternal. We rule.

Therefor, George Walker Bush is guilty of treason to US all, not only including your one and only King Johnny Wizard as Heaven's afar, but also the not going anywhere but yet still sacrificing ungloriously as the stupidly blind as almost completely incoherent,. devote bushite nazi dumfuk soldier grunt enemy vermins.

Will you not help these words reach a larger audience? I ask you to consider your helping me can do good for your real world too. Perhaps it is ONLY the single individual that hasn't yet understood, this once greatly revered world of the Word is of which you share allegiance too.

Speaking for a just battle of freedom for all humanity, is a right you could exercise in brightest intentions of a muted God who sure could use your help right about now man. Our family is in so a desperation for needed support. I am fearing your fears have got you believing, you have no dying right to speak against Mr. bush Jr. for the crimes he has committed in Your name, but You do. Think of it this way: anybody who stays silently connected secretly to the crimes of nine-eleven, can not be trusted as a sacrificing bushite thief by the enemy bush administration. [Secretly speaking in all strict certainty.]

The warrant that allowed the confiscation of my computer equipment, was to prove that I was the one and same who demanded true justice for our humanity by following the crimes scene leads for nine/eleven, arresting those responsible, or killing the escaping culprits, bush, rumsfeld, and condolezza rice by the hand of our guns. (Why do you think Police officers carry guns after all?) It is now argued that because demon bush is President, it therefor doesn't matter where the actual crimes scene evidence for the murder of thousands in America leads to according to the FBI, for George Walker Bush (666) in above all the laws of the universe. Despite! the reason they obtained the warrant, was to charge me for "threatening the life of an international person", they instead decided not to as saboteurs of liberation. They argued after the warrant gave them my personal possesions, (hundreds and hundreds of video tapes, ALL MY WRITING, computers, disks, along with approximately 50,000 tasteful images.) That the reason for the warrant being originally issued, no longer, if ever, was justified. For if they were calling for justice, the demon bush, and his co-conspirators might get caught by America, and pay the ultimate price for their treason by death sentence. After two self confessed PRO-BUSHITE (support death squads against Afghanistan school girls, and propping up the heroin trade by arming women slave traders) "officers of the law" reviewed my images, they now contend, that several can be argued to be illegal in an almost fixed to win proceeding. (No more than a small few pictures of beautiful girls in different states of undress - "Home Lolita" I think.)

The charges they offered to the prosecution to argue for a "life term prison sentence" (almost jokingly it was quacked) were complete fiction, of which the crown offered me "a deal". Plead guilty for being a shamed ostracized sex offender, [I'D HUNT CHILD KILLER ENEMY BUSHITE EVERY DAY OF MY LIFE IF I HAD THE BUS FARE AND THE AMMO] and maybe, the Judge won't argue for a long term prison sentence for another charge that has absolutely nothing for substantiation. Substantiated, that will surely do nothing but testify to their attempts at demonizing my better name. Nothing doing darkness, the court of Law, is Our court, and I intend to make my case heard among my peers. Here.

Please, I beg you for my life, forward this document to the propper authorities, post these passages to any church, or, phone talk radio America and demand my public case be heard for Your benefit too, or don't and get what we'll deserve by not making a miracle happen with your single sole but sure, human will power!

1=2E I obtained the questionable images through Usenet group "youth-and-beauty". Images can be downloaded a thousand or more at a time. I can't not perceive the images until they are on my computer! If they had told me they were coming as bushite, I would have been sure to delete anything near objectionable for argument's sake. They laughed when I told them that.

2=2E The service companies that offer such groups as child-rape and so on, have an easy ability to filter out subjective objectionable material, along with the truly grusome stuff. But they don't, nor, are they found legally liable for not doing so. I suggest the reason is, it would put out a billion dollar industry of these child-porno cops that view real sicko slime routinely, while then arguing anyone who witnesses such depravity must be guilty. Guilty to have their professional lives destroyed, their life invested property removed till whenever/perhaps stolen, and then be publicly ostracized as senseless victims. All because some guy maybe believed women are worthy of worship in the highest respect and honor, while cute adorable boys he couldn't help but feel compeled to cover with praise, or mutual hugs and kisses., as long as there are no other men in the room with him and the gals perhaps one day chatting over maybe child care let's say. (no wonder the two child porn cops in question regarding my public case admittingly were/are staunch bushite offenders.)) I know of no nobler lineage that that of our police officer. For protecting the rights of our children, is what we've always been committed to gaining respect for. We want to do right for ourselves, and despite Johnny, this world really is something remarkable to concider a future with on our own terms as a foundation of wisdom with the ever presnt will to succeed at something greater than first realized. Evolution. The Revolution of reason while jiving with justice for freedom holds many perks per praised principle. Hammurabi's number one thang.

3=2E If a search warrant can be made against anyone who a criminal bushite finds objectionable, (bush and rumsfeld made the charge against me through the Secret Service, then to the RCMP.) then what freedom fighter is safe from pictures of godly and beautiful children in bath tubs? Swimming? IF, the bushite demands the images appear seductive, and compel them to commit sexual assualts? Or, what if you download a program on cars to have the bushite find, it contains bin Laden's secret where abouts in code? Would you be guilty, and if so, of what? No thinking freely?

So, the warrant brought the officers of law the right to prove my Johnny Wizard writing was of my own, but yet, after doing so, refused to enforce the law by giving me my day in court on the reason the warrant was granted to begin with. Also, I, as anyone can not perceive potentially objectionable material until it is in my possession, while a service provider would have little of no problem. (The still working child porno cops could look for child porno all day, and actually get closer to catching those who proliferate actually objectionable materials. [See?, an internet service provider could defend thus: they're not guilty because the subjective material, that would be questioned, is subjective, and so would the porno cops if they got someone intelligent to defend themselves. But for Christ who needs to know what's going on in the realm?, while loving girls in general like they were his own distant siblings? They'd put Christ up on a cross for loving schoolgirls, by demanding such thoughts come only from a criminal prospective. The problem here is child porno cops can view a suggestive cute girl smiling in her panties, or witness some heinous bushite rape or torture, and measure them equally when charging US for their deviant sexual sugestion. As alas, they refuse to support the Law when it comes to the easily provable criminal actions of enemy bushite, as for would be, the defense of the lives of our innocent children in Iraq mean something to me too.

Anyway, apparently, the reasons for the warrant were not as was so intended. To charge me for threatening the freedom of bush, rumsfeld, and the evil witch condolezza rice. (Can I get some legal advice from someone out there on this then bogus? warrant please?). The Court will (try) argue without allowing ANY voice of objection, that because I demanded the immediate arrest or execution for the individuals responsible for the crimes of nine/eleven, (relying primarily on the Whitehouse, FBI, and the public spewing of the war criminal demon anti-Christ itself,) the prosecutor, it has been alleged, will demand justice not be served in that respect, and that the search warrant that obtained the bushite's evidence against me as a truth teller during their fishing expedition will not be allowed for re-dress. Is this Justice on behalf of God I ask you?

Nature of the Beast

(Again, remember, nobody from the RCMP, the Secret Service, or the FBI, state that I am incorrect in my allegations of treason against the bush administration.)

The prosecutor is going to press for incarceration if I plead not guilty for a crime I'm not guilty of, while my public freebie lawyer, contends my defense of innocence and corporate news agencies forbidding the pursuit of Justice in protection of our Police services, like the honorable FBI officers that contend Ahmad funded Atta will likely not be allowed heard. [Are you a member of a Police Union somewhere, or know of someone who is? Or, do you just not give a care for you fellow officers either?] See?, bushite falsely believe bush can not be arrested for nine eleven, no matter where the actual evidence leads, because he is not judged an equal among men by corporate news standards, but as the anti-Christ, FALSE deity, an enemy to every free person standing.

That is our, for real court case against the Bush administration as it stands today. While some have warned, bushite are pushing to have me taken in now, to try stopping this from speaking in our Humanity's true defense. They just might succeed, if you decide no care for Freedom from tyranny either..

This is was/is/will be my last Wizard Wire public service announcement regarding this, George Walker Bush (666) wars America, Humanity, and me as the Lord of Creation. I've said everything I can say twice over, and if you can't find it within yourself to pass this post on to every church corner, with a, "I love life too" set of priorities, I can guarantee you no greater reward. But for to be present if not in person, but in spirit during my public trial where the bushites will publicly judge my character unworthy, while attempting the silencing of our own voices for Justice as We stand in TRUTH, indivisible. Be it known, the prosecutors of Law in my case have read Johnny Wizard's "The Trial and Conviction of Our Mr. bush Jr.", and likely a few others that will be asked by the hiding in darkness bushite enemies to completely disregard as crime scene evidence. It's going to be a case worth getting to, considering the newspapers, talk radio stations, and National News desks are expected to forbid honest coverage of by the higher ups at corporate command. Call your Church group to organize a call for Johnny!

Or don't.

I thank all those with whom the true liberation of Humanity from tyranny could not have been made possible without themselves individually. I know it seemed like no one was listening, when we spoke for God's cries, but WE knew better, and we knew soon, all of US will then learn it too, defending God is of no greater privilege. So, cheers to You, our Humanity's defenders of the human challenge, for being there to speak for this life when we needed You as a contributor. Fare thee well with your pride and honor, and no bars will ever hold your undying spirit.

Breaking Camp

I will advocate full compensation for every mistreated soldier who had been tricked into believing something without reasoning.

Johnny condemns George Walker Bush (666) to death for the crimes he has committed against God's Humanity.

Let it be understood, that Saddam gave America 100 percent access to do anything the anti-Christ wished without delay prior to the needless military conflict beginning. So, every treasonous thieving bushite life taken, is done in protection of God, and the American dream. See?, TRAITOR bushite Art Bell's amerikan talk radio forbids BY CENSORSHIP anyone in America to speak in the defense of the undefended American People. Art Bell, America's enemy, with ensure that America "never" learns that bush's business partner, General Ahmad, funded 9/11's mastermind ring leader Mohamed Atta, or that depleted uranium is measured radio-active, or most especially, that billions of STOLEN American pension money is sitting in bushite bank accounts in the Cayman Islands. Instead, he'll do another show on UFOs, or bigfoot, while broadcasted to the wordless bushite grunts their dying is for naught. Who cares?, bush's war against freedom in America isn't anything bushite amerika ever wants to get persnickety about.

http://www.chapelhill.indymedia.org/uploads/bushite-kills-bushite.mp3

/ / Who cares? CNN is not going to cover it, we know that. CBC in Canada, they're not going to mention it to anybody. It's no concern of themselves to show a caring word for the [thieving] sacrificing soldier. \ \

The EVIL bushite liars die for no better good, but as the ungodly bringing further hardships against US innocent people they target for murder. God says, the Magna Charta says, the American constitution says, let US all arrest or kill the TRUE ENEMY bushites instead. "See lawless bushite, kill it in defense of all that are innocent", I always say as the Son of Man and Living Creator. No joy greater than saving the innocent victims of the enemy bushite thieves, torturers, and first degree murderers. WHO WOULD DISAGREE? in a true Democracy?

Every American soldier who dies as a bad guy in Iraq, dies for cowardly worshiping bush instead of Life. The demon anti-Christ as their false, untrue, dummy deity, sends them into harms way for only to steal from the innocent. The innocent left in God's trust. There was nothing that could have better been done in Iraq by bombing the country. The blind attacking of the population, along with it's functioning public institutions, brings only the STOLEN cash rewards on trading in the American soldier's LIFE as a fascist criminal. All that is bought to by putting cowardly bushite soldiers in bush's un-needed conflict, is to steal from their very own families back home left almost completely undefended. [Have no fear, Johnny Wizard's here!] A criminal military force that deems some soldiers from Apartide fame as "un-accountable" to American or "Iraqi" law, while paying them a thousand dollars a day or more as rewarded racists who fight allong side black and Hispanic dying bushites, to not allow equal rights for those classified by different colorations. Allthewhile with spokespeople smattering the sacrifices are to bring democracy together in Iraq to arrest bushite for thieving then? [No matter whomever you are, George W. Bush is truly evil to God in YOUR name too see?] Regular Joe in the Army, 47$ before expenses concurrent and impending.

I will advocate full compensation for every mistreated soldier who had been tricked into believing something without reasoning. Example: those who had been taken in criminally to handing over their military pensions for five year loans at 56%, or a 20,000 loan paid in five with 60,000. No competion exists for this racket because it's an actual crime scene. Guess where American Gis can hear the sales pitch advertised? The Army Times.

No thoughts of understanding are expressed (OR COULD BE) from the soulless bushite on why they are in Iraq dying, or why depleted uranium is harmless, or why depriving Iraqis of medicine along with food and water, is a ploy to win the hearts of every man who owns a gun. Or why the bushite demands through the censorship of tyranny, that Our Humanity has no rights to speak for our freedoms and liberty, or on behalf of Iraqis who have had billions of much needed dollars stolen from themselves by the bushite enemy. (The billed for taking bushite soldier itself, will not receive a penny of the ill gotten gains, just like their own grand parents were robbed of the pensions, and the bushite couldn't find a word of outrage to say against their false idol then either.)

/ / As the soulless disciples of the enemy anti-Christ, Our Mr. bush Jr., their "officially" granted legal immunity from all prosecution means nothing to me as a honorable man defending my humanity, or as living Creator, who brought all into this new world to be free, and can just as soon, take you all nazi bushite out the old school way. \ \

The ungodly evil bushmob fascist totalitarianists are pushing to have US specially arrested. The demon anti-Christ enemy forces have gambled an attempt to find prosecutors and judges, lawyers and defendants, who together wouldn't let the truth be spoken in our own defenses. I have had many discussions with the National Security branch of the RCMP, CSIS, the Secret Service, the FBI, and several commanders in the Canadian Military, and WE all know, this upcoming trial is something a great deal of many are lookiung forward to, however, an agent of law recently approached me to warn, some are working to try having me arrested without bail, and spend maybe a few years behind bars before a trial could not be postponed any longer, all in an attempt to try stopping my words of truth that represent the interests of all defendable legitimate legal enforcements. Canada's system of checks and balances, and our honorable police services have too many good guys in place, to want to silence my calls for Justice by measurement. And, up until now, our security people have advised the bushite case would never fly in a public court room, for Johnny Wizard would just make his case as it stands FACTUALLY DOCUMENTED along with that which was FALSELY ALLEDGED, and the wealthy do nothing corporate news agencies would be caught as culpable to being accessories to first degree murders in New York City, where they deliberately with malicious intent, refused to report on the FBI's findings that General

Ahmad funded Atta, or that demon George W. Bush with condi and rummy, had a top secret CRIMINAL plan to invade Afghanistan dated September 9th, 2001. Just like still, CBC and CNN refuse to report any human concern for those murdered irrationally by bushite in Iraq today. No concern for those Humans, but in Asia, where bush isn't yet anyway, thieving in the wide open from God, they can try to make up for lost respect by claiming those People are better People worthy of our commpassion with wall to wall coverage on the suffering we have little of chances in preventing. But for to stop needlessly droping tons and tons of toxic bombs into our Living Earth. It is the bushite enemy who refuse to allow YOU speak in your defense as an Earthling.

However, this being said, I have been recently informed that, since the godless bushite enemies would wish to have our freedoms censored, it will likely be pushed to do so without a public trial allowing a jury of my peers to judge the case accordingly. Up until recently, Guantanamo could never happen in Canada. But now in Canada, the enemies behind closed doors are talking about sending intelligent innocent people away to be tortured for sadomasochistic satanic tendencies, and further have argued to no one that persecuting People in Our names without evidence, maybe isn't such a bad idea, when you think of all the people we could rob our humanity from like the "popular" and "Democratic" bush regime does. Bushite corporate new censors are fighting for a return to the dark ages. Don't let this happen to YOUR world. Care not for my freedoms as an honorable man who stands with America's FBI, and your given up life wont be worth nothing but as yet another sacrifice to bring further glory and stolen riches to the American cop killer, pension thiever, 9/11 perpetrator, war mongering anti-Christ, Your unbelievably EVIL Mr. bush Jr.. The enemy of God anti-Christ who continues to hold your real life in mistrust and dishonor, while wealthy corporate "celebs", talk freely about their pride in such ungodly sacrifices as Christ's forsaken name.

I ask ONLY you to argue this paper with your best intentions, for I will perhaps not receive another chance to publish, if as usual, the Internet community at large extends me little support in my UNCHALLENGED assertions on who truly committed the crimes of 9/11. A single bushite corporatist sends a complaint to a Internet provider alleging I talk "spam", therefor, without any hearing, private owners are threatened to lose their privilege to communicate, by an enemy bushite protagonist who exercises his "authority" by stating only, "spam", and not even providing my actual post in it's entirety. One Internet service was shut down for the sole reason that discussing George W. Bush as the 9/11 perpetrator in tx.politics, was against the rules, for such subject material must be confined to only a American nation political forum. I talked to the kid on the phone who made that power decision on behalf of all usenet, and let it be known, he knows what he's doing. But "they" can't do this everywhere. I can not "take over" your big old lonely world that you must work to protect for yourself as an equal citizen sworn to freedom. I have written all I need to say about Justice and Freedom, and if the human race can not still find enough care for themselves to propagate my writings for others to read, or demand Art Bell be removed to allow Johnny Wizard to debate the ungodly dumfuk bushite vermins, there truly is no hope for US continuing.

Bush Lies to Canada

Demon bush spew "I made some decisions obviously that some in Canada, didn't agree with. Like for example removing Saddam Hussein, and enforcing the demands of the UN security council."

Saddam was not found in violation of 1441, so the war criminal anti-Christ's demands were not our world's, nor that of the UN Security Council. How does thieving our assets, destroying our infrastructure, and indiscriminately murdering more than a hundred thousand innocent people, (in turn to sacrifice more worthless bushite nazi teens) bring about their closer fraudster bushite "Freedom"? Again, CNN, and CBC let the demon liar spew his hatred of our liberties, without factually challenging his lies with our un-debatable established truths. Jotiar Nafaa, "coordinator", should surely know, that it is 175 families that had requested for the help of Red Crescent totaled several days previous, (without phones, nor abilities to leave their homes (150?)), NOT, "left in the city". [THINK: how could they possibly know? (nazi bushite whores were ordered to murder innocents indiscriminately as enemies to God)] Also, is "Jotiar Nafaa", the same woman hater, who LIED in REUTER"S anonymous hand previously, as the Red Cross, that the women held illegally as hostages by the thieving evil nazi bushite forces, didn't really exist? Aljazeera.Net - Aid trickling in to desperate Fallujans

/ / The organisation estimates that only 150 to 175 families stayed in Falluja after the start of the US-led offensive on 8 November \ \

The organization does not estimate the incorrect fantasy conclusion held by this pro-irrational Bush article from Aljazeera.NET. By god Johnny, where tell us could such lies begin at? Well, let's go investigate... If as it is, a misrepresentation of Red Crescent's actual findings, wouldn't you think "they" would put out a press release to correct this falsehood of public claim?, to suggest 150 remain in a city the size of 300,000+?, but no greater than 175? without access for numbering by anyone, but for the only near 15,000 HUMAN BEINGS known escaped as refugees??? Or, are the "reporters" just conveying the "facts", by putting no investment in our validity? Leaving us for further victimhood, by hiding ourselves from the war crimes the anti-Christ bushite nazi savage commanders have committed in my name, America's name, God's name? as our enemies?

Our cause as Humanity is for freedom's reign, not to sacrifice Humanity as misled bushite nazi facist teens further, so bush, condi and rummy can fi-nah-lly escape "The True Patriot's Wrath", for the crimes they committed against Freedom America on "bush win", 9/11. So... Why so do I think Justice is going to get GW, making no mistakens? Because the Patriot's Patriot is you too my sworn believer, and now that's this: America's craftier than that George Bush Jr. makes living out for, in "our"-OWN news broadcasts. As the "censored" contributors who learned our gathering skills some time ago already, I say, Freedom is paramount. Mr. bush's unbiased corporate news agenda doesn't hold America to an account before the Lord, nor to God as being, an honest spoken word, or deed of good measure. Of friendship, of kindness, of compassion and caring for our fellow human beings. I have rights too you know. As cowards, the bushite refuses to defend the innocent they rob and murder from to serve as enemies of Life, done in to die pleasing their false idol, corporate america's glorious leader, the un-elected dictator, Our Mr. bush Jr..

It should be further noted, as reported, that all aid agencies contributing have accounted for only near 15,000 families stationed in refugee camps that escaped the indiscriminate anti-Christ demon bombing campaigns. So, total deaths tolls could exceed 200,000 just for Falluja alone., what with the napalm, land mines, 1000 lb bombs, snipers, tanks, mortars, essential services, police protections, denials of foods or water, thefts, vandalism, and so on. All along with the refusal to allow the People to escape before hand, or even enter now. I've only heard that the nazi grunts will only allow the "staff" of "Red Crescent", to quickly as can be, come into the demolished city, and dispose of our corpses with bulldozers likely. You know?, any males between 15 to 50?, like their "Hero", the bush family's Hitler regime did. You tell me, would you enjoy as a True Patriot Warrior, killing a LYING enemy bushite nazi bomber, on behalf of saving yourself and family, God and Humanity? God?, that the demon anti-Christ disciples murder to steal from US as the innocent? To kill an evil and mindless devaluating corporate bushite facist slave, is to save the untold lives of thousands of US innocent they target indiscriminately for criminal plunder. Dying as cowards too weak to defend their own country from the neo-con conspirators, they die. Die.. Get this measage out to the American forces, and stand back, cause America's gonna win this fight for freedom, or die as slaves remaining unworthy to a blind comitment of tyranny by furthering enslavement against our Human species.

Continue doubting in silence fledgling Patriot, and bushite america's war will continue refusing to speak on it's needless sacrificing through bushite criminal decree. We know, wealthy con man Art Bell, Limbaugh, and O'Really will try and refuse such truths discussed in Your America, care for the lives of sacrificing American teen soldiers are of no concern to their profit margins., so far. You, my friend, just need to try starting a demand for justice as Freedom commands.
(And, if you wish, you can thank us with a small cash donation to help me escape this nearing starvation.)

I'd, as the Son of Man, (but you can call me Dad.) proudly teach, or kill godless thieving bushite to save the lives of any child, and so would the rest of Humanity likewise. There is no known fate worst, than a Mother Nature scorned, or near 7 billion People really very angry with you.

"if the USA's honor can go along with these [bushite] tactics . . then the USA is a country without honor."

And, boy, real America wouldn't take kindly to George W. Bush Jr. as understanding, the elected President has leadered the murder, of thousands of decieved Americans as the innocent, all to only steal from, as the left "officially" undefended. Hell, as the true Leader of this Free World, and holy roller god child, George W. Bush Jr. pisses me off to no end, how about you?

/ / Washington says the Falluja campaign was necessary to bring the Sunni Muslim city back under the control of the central Baghdad government ahead of planned Iraqi elections in January. \ \

Reuters up to their old nazi tricks again. It was only mindless nazi savages who indiscriminately murder good honorable people, who advocate thieving and torture, rape and murder, and the willful destruction of America, that were banned from entering the Holy city.

No evidence, so then, for what? What but to get more cowardly american marines dead, to serve soullessly further - as the stolen riches of the evil enemy demon anti-Christ, evil personified, Our Mr. bush Jr.. (the same from 9/11 fame)

http://www.truthout.org/docs_04/112604I.shtml

/ / By targeting civilians, he said, an army could advance more rapidly. ``Air-delivered terror'' effectively removes civilian obstacles. \ \

Pure, unadulterated fascist nazi evil. "Never again"? Killing un-arrested bushite (Saudi wahabbi) commanders, is like killing the enemies of America, Humanity, and Jesus' God. Do ourselves and Johnny a great big favor, when you see a loyal bushite nazi grunt, thief and murderer, imagine, "yah, that's right, that's what being a kind neighbor is all about, for Christ said so in John's Revelations." Bushite! your false Idol religion is too stupid to remain for dying spark under the anti-Christ's evil criminal dictatorship of, wannabe dumfuks. I'm Your God see, and Your coming and going. As for Royal King Johnny, he's just standing in for this time being,..' hey you!, pay no attention to anyone behind what curtain! Boo!

America is wonderful to truly believe of it as in the making. So, let's get the work done that needs doing, so God can get back to trying to enjoy some time at home. I'm here for a good time, not a long time, and the sun don't shine every day. So get off your asses, and demand some real Justice for Christ's sake. Johnny has awoken, and he's cranky they say.

God is Great

A person accused in our name(s) of a criminal offence, needs to be established somehow to be as such, and the only way to do that, is to present evidence that formed your/our conclusion. Without evidence our accused is ourselves as the innocent, being falsely imprisoned, tortured, or murdered. Murdered, as the Allawi and the bushite nazi forces did to our friends and family in Falluja, to please the demon liar, lawless George Bush Jr. as their central thief system of dishonor and betrayal to the human cause, Your own.

Now, when bush stated that Laden was guilty, without evidence needed to form a conclusion, or when he just told you for no reason possible, why American soldiers are DYING, "Saddam wouldn't let inspectors in", the bushmob thieves plundered in our "lost" confusion. All the while bush always seeking to close America's on-going criminal investigations, by causing even more have nots among US. So, as a free person, to side for the, bush wars America, God, and Johnny issue, you would seek out to find for Yourself beholding likewise as We all are: bush is actually super fuking evil, like personified or incarnate even, and Johnny's almost like a stranger Messianic figure who just wants to be known as a semi-normal average GUY/god fellow. (Sheesh.. We gotta bring ourselves everywhere we go) I "hate" bush for being so not himself stupid to think there was no actual walking, talking, godly Persons from the outer-reaches coming in to get him for the crimes he has committed ourselves to. Corporate news dictate without a human presence, doesn't rule this world of communication, we do. (Jesus wasn't buying Satan's misconception.. SEE THE BIBLE AND THE KORAN CAN BOTH BE RIGHTiOUS!!..! Just ignore the misconceptions others have, and join the party!!! The Time is Now, and man, do I know how to make an entrance or what?)

A demand for Justice is our birthright as the human species struggling to survive.

We could be on good terms with the "unthinking", greatly special loving Earth as the no longer leaving ourselves to be silently victimized, and I think, we'd think, we want to live in a freedom bound for glory, not a hell hole of, ignorance is bliss, look there! your dying needlessly victimized, oh.. too late who cares your dead nonexistence. Did you say something?

Trust me America, YOU WANNA correct this George Bush Jr. problem before it becomes the "law" of the "land". Don't fear though, for, God's here, there, everywhere!!! It's you over... there! and under here.. and then... we said hello to Johnny, the miracle worker. God People, I have so many good words to tell you, and wonders that would surely boggle some senses. Our hope for a better future doesn't have to die here on a cross for the war mongering bushmob thieves, but, it's going to require You personally taking some action, be it however slight, to bring a remedy to this current, "Look People, bush thinks he has almost escaped accountability for the commitment of crimes he perpetrated on 9/11 against US interests." Strange but.. REMEMBER: people like Americans, are currently needlessly still dying for the bushmob war monger thieves., dying by only our continuing censored voices on the seriousness of our commitment to defend the rights of every free person standing; ourselves as God being victimized with these unjustly expensive, neo-con bushite terrorist campaigns against Civilization's better judgement.

God is great I know it's true, just put a little faith in yourself, and demand America soldiers fight instead to protect DYING America from the tricky, evil bushmob cabal of THIEVES. Cheney looks bad there, as does Myers, and didn't Goss have some pre-9/11 meetin' with 9/11's General Ahmad that he has still yet to answer for, or.. is it we guess, to be "legally" done in by... the Secret Order. The American good cop is all we're expecting, and all we need when dealing with the likes of a self-depreciating bushite conspirator..

We don't get to be Magnificent without you likewise. This alien world we have victimized against our better interests, is a failing spirit of Life from our vantage point. Going back before the Age of Reason, is not where I believe America wants to be taken any further, thank you, but no thanks, besides, the King of Kings is here. Johnny Wizard looking to break into prime-time with his very own Special special.

I'd have ta be one crazy mixed up loon to follow this world over with the universal principles of justice as freedom, to set course for the dreams of my trying, and you might be right. Get You to talk TRULY will, guaranteed, freak you out. REMEMBER: Mr. bush Jr. should have been arrested day one, with that fifty billion. That was before 9/11, Afghanistan, Haiti, Iraq, a few hundred thousand innocent lives, 300 billion plus a few hundred more stolen, and for what? I can only see, we needed myself as King here yesterday. I wasn't chosen for this freedom post per say, but, me and the stars had a dream one time, and it continues through out to this day, enough to say but, this is not what you read about in the manuals. Freedom to be yourself, is the freedom to dream something bigger that your wildest imaginations. I am the Son of Man, and do I have tales to tell. (I know, it sounds crazy, but it's just like a performance gimmick to increase my Q ratings. And, it seems to be somewhere working with me.. I've got a story down pat for anything if someone should ask what fear is.., now, open that curtain so we can start the show!)

I have a treat for you strange friends and friendly strangers out there. Some art work from me. Now, I used the drawing myself, for posters of different sizes, explaining in small writing some key 9/11 questions, while with maybe block letters, things like "bush is EVIL", 'did 9/11', can you hear me?, as what have you.. So, here I will offer you something I created, a Johnny Wizard pencil drawing in jpg format. Enjoy!

http://la.indymedia.org/news/2004/11/119755.php

Hmm, perhaps I'll give out other of my drawings as thankyous for fifty dollar donations? Or prints for $500! You know, they could be worth a substantial amount of money in a few years, hmm, a real investment for your future... A wise move for the prudent investor really when you think about it. But hey, no pressure, no pressure.

Being me out to destroy bushite just sucks. I'm really not naturally so angry about what bush has done to our world all the time. My voice is getting hoarser, and I'm occasionally grunting, bad sign. I want to live like it's 1999!

Arrest for immediate trial, bush, rumsfeld and condi for the crimes of 9/11 back in New York City, and all will be well with my World,

A friend of living on for a brighter day,

Truth is Telling

/ / Major-General Richard Natonski prepared his troops for the battle ahead. 'We're goin' in to raise the Eye-raqi flag above Falluja - to give it back to the Fallujans,' \ \

So, was it Major-General Richard Natonski's decision to drop 2000 lb bombs then? Was it his charge to indiscriminately shoot at US innocent, on the street, in our cars, our homes?, cause somebody's gotta pay then with their lives for lying to die the dumfuk marines, who it turns out, weren't so dumb, or hard of hearing after all. Those responsible for the bombing campaign targeting hospitals and groups of innocent people, need to be hunted down with extreme prejudice, and publicly executed on behalf of our Humanity. So too, do those who ordered the NEEDLESS bombing campaign in Samara. And, for those who have worn the American flag while willfully committing the sadistic crimes of torture and rape, we shall all join together, and hunt down as our enemies without mercy. The bushite are enemies of all our humanity, demanding we sacrifice our honor, like they have done to family and friend, and sacrifice our courage, because they refuse to defend their own flag and the freedom of which it stands, one nation, indivisible.

I will not rest until every traitor of the America I remember, is summarily executed by death sentence for the convicted war crimes Humanity and God has suffered under their heinously satanic barbarity. I HATE the anti-Christ, and all the bushite has tolled against our better station. As I tell again, killing bushite is a godsend. They as a satanic force of evil, torturing and murdering, rob from America as they "willfully" allow the robbery of Iraqis, and they truly, rob from themselves when refusing to join US in the demands to have bush condi and rumsfeld downed for the crimes of 9/11. We also demand all stolen assets taken through the bushite mongering war privateers, returned to a legitimate Iraqi government. All done by firstly, arresting Allawi for the murderous war crimes in Samarra, and then in Falluja. Also, hunting down to kill those who forbad humanity from helping US in Falluja, or turned off the utilities, shall be tried and publicly executed for commiting war crimes against MY humanity.

Weak intellectually as fascist nazis, the slave whore bushite's commitment is to only die for as enemy. They FEAR to have to stand up for fellow thieving soldiers and say, "damn, this war is evil to the 'n degree, Jesus would surely be angry, And from what I hear, the Son of Man is pretty upset about what we enemies of God have done too, and, well.. we do not have to thoughtlessly serve under anti-Christ war crime decree any longer, as the cowardly lying chicken shits, too afraid to defend our own nation., instead, let's go bag US some enemy bushite for America's America!" We do all together want to convict those who murdered thousands in New York City, and we're definitely not combating global terrorism, by fighting a needless war against the innocent, lying to ourselves that by doing so, brings about a fair just government of "The People"., to then in turn arrest whom? American soldiers need to say, to hell with bush, and corporate professionalism, my loyalty is with Christ as a truth telling demon slayer.

For those who still continue, to sacrifice our rights to life and liberty, for a no better good deal as the bad guys, are TRAITORS to America, who are attempting to help escape bush and rumsfeld from the murder scene of 9/11. Never gonna happen. So, why should yet another, promising young man, die as a dumfuk bushite, the most hated and reprehensible nazi savage America has ever gleamed of? The indiscriminate bombing of our communities rightly gets dead, another, good for nothing, nazi soulless bushite vermin, AND RIGHTLY SO. I'd kill thieving bushite bombers to save the innocent life of anyone.. like a,.. cluster dud dropper., wouldn't you?, in all honestly, if you had the power, kill such an evil nazi betrayer to Freedom and America who blindly targets our residential communities to enrich the UN-AMERICAN demon anti-Christ bushite thieves further? That, as bushite nazi grunt, they die for? Paleeze.

America is dying to prosper their false-deity war criminal demon anti-Christ, Our Mr. bush Jr, the same responsible for the nine eleven travesty, who attempts escape only through fascist americans who willfully betray America by condoning the furthering of bushite censorship for tyranny. Is America the cesspool of corruption and greed, without a People person present willing to make a stand for God and Country? BUSH IS EVIL. Let's arrest'em, or kill'em for committing high treason on 9/11 with condi and rumsfeld.

What do yah say?

Under the witness of every freedom loving person this universe over, I am proclaiming, a war against the liar George Bush Jr., the vilest contempt for mankind this World will not stand by to be destroyed because of.

So, America! there is your reason for dying America's sons and daughters, Johnny's brothers and sisters. "No idea" rumsfeld states while his private partners cash in the blood checks for everything but the funeral services. I ask sacrificing soldiers to help grant me space to debate bush and rumsfeld on international radio. We gotta take away Art Bell's turn off button to thank him for all the enlightenment he has been a part of in America, but that these life death top priority issues of ours, he hasn't the right to censor communication on. This is your World that I wish to play servant of. As my subject; I promise a fight to return Justice through freedom for all. How? By believing in you to do as you should, demanding the immediate arrest or execution of bush, rumsfeld, and condi for the crimes of 9/11. Demanding the return of all stolen Iraqi assets, made by those who personally profited off the criminal transactions. Demand the arrest or execution of Allawi for the bombing campaign of Samara, along with bushite military commanders who organized the satanic attack. Why would America do this? To free the dying lives of their bushite nazi whored, dying grunt savage slave population. .or perhaps not...

/ / Joseph Bowman, a 20-year-old marine from Texas:
``We're ready to go. I'm just ready to get this done.
I want to go and kill people, so we can go home. Kill them, and go home, that's all we can do now.'' \ \

Where is home for the Joseph Bowmans? A devolving backward wasteland?, where brother kills brother for a stolen nickel? Who would want to share the same home?, street?, or community with such contempt for life and liberty? God and Johnny? Who's home does bushite Bowman SEE the joys of his humanity flourishing?, or being destroyed as the true enemy? Is that the place where the pursuit of freedom is done by sanctioning first degree murder for no reason in particular? And is that the bushite america we've all come to getting to know of these last few days through corporate news contempt for the loss of our life's love?, and God's voice? It is all up to us, You included. In battle against the evils of this world, we should start on getting back to those that did US wrong on 9/11: bush, rumsfeld, and condi., just for starters, while keeping a careful watch on those that jump to their cause for furthering tyranny.

A terrorist to target: Major Todd Desgrosseilliers

/ / US forces unleashed more than 20 air strikes and some 60 artillery rounds on Monday, said Major Todd Desgrosseilliers. [...] An AFP reporter in the Jolan district said one building in every 10 had been flattened. As US-led troops closed in on the neighborhood overnight, at least four 900-kilogram bombs were dropped in the city's northwest. \ \

What is it that the major is warring Falluja's defenders for? Is it to thieve the assets of the war torn city through the sacrifice of American boys and girls?, or is it to set up a representative government that would firstly stand demanding immediate reparations? The return of all stolen assets? (referring to the satanic bushite documents: the lawless 13303 and the, "THIEVING bushite dying soldiers stole it, so" now, G.W. can sell it privately to his no-national robber baron "Economy Plan"sters.) Would not a free and liberated Iraq demand a return of the "missing" or "lost" billions through the humanitarian Iraqi Development Funds? The practice of human rights law? Criminal investigations? World wide Public arrests or executions of the rapists and torturers, along with the war crime commanders?, who mostly command from sunny Florida as pension thieves, and the lucrative Halliburton billionaire war pressure lobbyists?., For all together as represented, we instead (they claim) advocate the mistreatment of US innocents in Your name. Sacrificed? Why do you let them get away with that? How about instead my friends, for Christ's sake, we decide together to go after the criminals? Allawi must pay with his remaining life for the needless bombing of Samara that got many an American soldier KILLED for nothing. Nothing. Died for nothing, but to sacrifice more of America to the war crimer bushite, the lawless demon anti-Christ's followers of evil personified., the most popular Presidente' ever all-act-dud. .!!.

Yeah yeah, bush and rumsfeld did 9/11, but did you know the Pentagon has not so mysteriously misplaced near 3 trillion dollars?, that a couple few claim was forever lost? Shucks? And did you know, it is the Treasury Department that loaned the Federal Reserve American currency to begin with, not the other way around, when they in turn, lent it back to ourselves.., at private interest. Whoms? Hmm... a quest for answers to the name on the bill We Trust?

At the same time while we're all parting, we got like, American soldiers indiscriminately murdering people. That isn't an accusation I make against the nazi bushite, they freely confess it. and for what purpose? They say, "we'll kill more than them that they'll kill of US"

Yeah but, why bomb ANYBODY? Why do you have to sacrifice American soldier's lives for no greater good? What benefit does it bring to the DYING bushite grunts who are ordered to stick around and try to placate hostilities with "good" intentions? as within the sites of Humanity - as enemies to US all? Will the commanders argue from sunny Florida, that yeah but, we killed more of them, than them of US. And.. they are who? ordering the commitment to indiscriminate murder? as the bad guys?. The bushites bombed, the willing to placate Samarra, to only get killed, more American Marines. And for what but the few bucks wasted on the ammo?.. to get killed more "uncounted" Marines naturally., for the bushites are waging to make a real killing on this American sacrifice. Look, we can sit down with each arrested bushite individually, talk to them about wether they are personally committed to thieving further from America, all to die benefitting the likes of an Enron, and those that thought they'd get away from the crime scene of 9/11; before deciding ultimately, wether the born again have any real hope left. The bushites are enemies to God, Amnerica, Johnny, and themselves truly dying US for. We can see how easy the manipulation of the American soldier's mind is, they have no ability to rationalize while speaking, and as a consequence, have no understanding of their bad-faith based satanic system. George W. Bush Jr. threatens the grunt soldier to always fear what they don't understand, like, the wisdom contained within the American Constitution, or the dreaded, free to speak any mind Internet. Terrified of growing up like real men do to make their own decisions in this big world, the bushite nurse instead on the teat of sadomasochism, as bushwhore nazi dumfuk slaves. Dying brain dead limp as noodles mushing. And why? All because Americans don't want to trouble American Talk radio with our freedoms. I again challenge Art Bell, Limbaugh and O'Really to a three hour debate entitled, "Wizard's War of Words: A Super Duper Special" all about their un-worthiness to censor our screams for Justice.

Joy to the world, or more misery and suffering under the demon anti-Christ, Our lawlessly evil Mr. bush Jr.? It is up to you really. Where do you want to go? Up, or down? You decide, but don't wait until forever never coming; these times demand for the victim, some real accountability. It is the power of our nature to being, that demands a call to arms against the war crime instigating, nine eleven perpetrators. Military commanders who don't support the arrest or execution of said individuals: bush, rumsfeld, and condi, are traitors guilty of mutiny.

/ / because having photographers or reporters present could have interfered with the count \ \

What we do now is accuse ES&S, along with Diebold of falsifying the election, then when they're pressed to prove "their" findings, they'll tell US, they can't, no ballot trail. Their convictions on our accuracy is misplaced. Pen and paper with ballots secured in locked boxes that never leave public scrutiny is the answer. Those who deny US that privilege, are enemies of freedom and democracy, wether they know it or not.

What for you say?, up for a challenge?

Your, coming to town, lovable loyal American King,

Voting.html

/ / But not until Friday did they begin to spill into the more conventional news media. That's when the Cincinnati Enquirer reported that officials in Warren County, Ohio, had "elocked down" its administration building to prevent anybody from observing the vote count there.

Suspicious enough on the face of it, the decision got more dubious still when County Commissioners confirmed that they were acting on the advice of their Emergency Services Director, Frank Young. Mr. Young had explained that he had been advised by the federal government to implement the measures for the sake of Homeland Security. \ \

MSNBC Covers Voting Problems

He said that all the irregularities in Florida and Ohio have happened in counties using non-paper-trail e-voting from the companies run by Bush's friends. \ \

/ / Meanwhile, the U.S. continued its targeting of medical facilities in the city. A makeshift clinic that is serving as the main first-aid facility was bombed this morning after U.S. and Iraqi forces took over Fallujah General Hospital early Monday. \ \

Praise Jesus! I killed ten lawless bushite disciples of the demon anti-Christ today, and I'm just getting started.. Praise Jesus!

/ / Here is a city, surrounded and cut off, whose male population between the ages of 15 and 50 faces being ``put to the sword'' by the US military, and no one in the media can stir himself to raise an objection. \ \

We all can only hope and pray all US Godly innocent people will wake up, and starta' hunting bushite to the ends of this Earth. There is no pleasure greater, than destroying fascist nazi bushite grunts, to save the lives of the innocent they target for pillage and murder. Enemies of America are the cowardly and soulless disciples of the demon tyrant anti-Christ, Our evil Mr. bush Jr.. Disciples of evil who war God as our enemies in attempt to escape bush, condi, and rumsfeld for the crimes of nine eleven. No dice, for Johnny's now, truly coming around like some kinda godly American Man of Virtues most can not even begin to understand. Don't be afraid my brothers and sisters, unless of course you're a bushite, for as a Christ Crusader I'll kill you myself, before allowing you to murder another innocent soul in My name. "Death to the bushite instead of our good friends and family", is our King's reply. Bushite commanders responsible for ordering the irrational bombing campaigns in Iraq, (to steal profit for rumsfeld's partners, while sacrificing weak and stupid American teens in the process,) such as in Samarra and Falluja, I am now offering a ten million dollar bounty on, per. If your organization bags three or more, before December 25th, there will be an extra something under the Christmas tree this year.

Do you Love me now as the Son of Man you'll ever know?

(to steal profit for rumsfeld's partners, while sacrificing weak and stupid American teens in the process,)

See? Evil bushite kill "other" bushite to steal our freedoms and money, and US true freedom fighters would kill'em too to defend our innocent families. Like I said, un-principled nazi facist savages is the un-American enemy bushite without contention but for lifeless corporate censorship on our core values. Demand our voices be heard, or die not trying to do any greater. I'm serious this time.

God bless America - Now, let's arrest or kill US some enemy bushite, what do you say People?

Nor for sabotaging the ORHA for franks and rumsfeld to rob the pro-Iraqi central bank. It's just more American deaths as dumfuk sacrifices for the evil anti-Christ, like bush and rumsfeld committed as stolen from America on 9/11. Who cares about America Limbaugh would quietly trumpet, he's making a killing like Art Bell and O'Reilly do, keeping US masses PORTRAYED uninformed and ignorant beyond belief. Did you hear? Getting Started

<http://www.yubanet.com/artman/publish/article_14748.shtml>

/ / ..a call for immediate inquiry into evidence that suggests high-level government officials may have deliberately allowed the September 11th attacks to occur. \ \

I would suggest all living American medias to join the 911 Truth Statement, then, if we did that, America might settle her own affairs, and I could then just center on my upcoming "Wizard's World Wide Wonder Tour" plans currently in the finishing stages. This great World is yours, treat yourself well. A National radio program is just waiting for your call on what you know now about freedom.

/ / So, at the time of the invasion, the Iraqi government had already disclosed and disarmed, and was thereby in compliance with the major provisions of UN Security Council resolution 1441, to which Bush refers in this quote. Diplomacy had, in fact, worked. \ \

Demon bush spew "Saddam Hussein would still be in power, he would control all those weapons and explosives, and could share them with our terrorist enemies."

Yet, it was rummy and tommy franks who TREASONOUSLY threw out the State Department's semi-thought through ORHA plan of, securing the weapon sites and preventing anarchy, and, it was the IAEA that had tabs on the weapons before the bush demon kicked them out irrationally. Done so to instigate looting and the deaths of American soldiers, all so to allow traitor franks and company to rob the public bank of uncounted billions, along with the museum. See? bushite would truly get the dumfuk cowardly bushite killed for a stolen dollar, and US real men would kill bushite too, as so would this eternal Universe, done so to protect our loving innocent families. Being a bushite disciple of the evil anti-Christ, is something all wish hardship and death for instead of the innocent they, un-apologetically, as enemies of God, openly target for rape, pillage, and murder. Johnny Wizard pays ten cents for every bushite tagged and bagged, ten cents. And, an even share of at least 3 billion to those who kill the bushite commanders responsible for the criminal bombing of Samara. Hint: You kill the individuals who ordered the bombing MURDER campaigns of Samara, then stand up proud to our media as a real American soldier should or would, and say yeah, I killed the nazi bushite traitors as a true Patriot Warrior to protect my fellow brothers and sisters. (Optional close: "All hail Johnny!) Do that, and I promise you'll get what coming to you: all the riches this world of God's can afford., But don't, as bushite nazi soldier grunt, and likely die sacrificed as a coward and a traitor to the Human cause of liberty and Justice for US all. WARRING military corporate commanders that don't support the arrest of those responsible for 9/11, or the return of all stolen assets taken through the neo-con's war crime actions, we should all just frag for America.., what do you say Patriot(s)?

/ / Marine Colonel Michael Schupp dismissed the sputtering dialogue as a sham. "The negotiations are a ruse. They are just stalling for time," he told reporters near Falluja. \ \

What negotiations? Allawi has repeatedly informed American soldiers he has no evidence whatsoever, establishing his therefor, FALSE allegations. Mr. bremer's Zarqawi moves freely throughout Iraq, including the green zone. Question: When all those children were targeted for murder, by what was reported at the scene with remote controls in one truck and under the street, why would Zarqari take credit for it even if he was truly responsible? And so on..? I think Michael Schupp is a fuk up dumfuk, who thieves from America for bush, and who clearly doesn't have the intellect to command anyone but himself to his own rightly death. Why would Zarqawi target children, when bushite nazi grunts are all so close by coming and going?, for days at least constructing stuff?, that rumsfeld broke?, then over billed to fix for even further takings? Remember several un-arrested bushite NAZI commanders openly confesses to AMERICA in having no public objections about murdering the innocent, without even having a military objective established in some cases, but only for to sacrifice another soulless bushite grunt/slave, all so to enrich the comfy neo-con war mongers left back home in our luxuries., Luxuries from where America's very own grand parents are left un-treated as the still victimized.

What do You think People? Needlessly murder thousands upon thousands irrationally making no sense, or, return stolen Iraqi assets while arresting American enemy Iraqi People killer Allawi, along with maybe Michael Schupp while we're at it? For, who cares about what is right, just, or true is this dying world of Yours?, er.. I mean bush's. You remember, Saddam wouldn't let the inspectors in, and that was why bush took a serious look at this real world situation and decided unilaterally, what the hell, he'd start a war against our Humanity left "undefended" as an enemy to everyone. (Satan's wager, that if i Remember correctly, Christ/God refuses(d).) Evil is Our Mr. Bush Jr.. Thank Johnny we had the time to intervene finally, now eh? Spooky is not the word, but baby, we sure could be on the winning side of this evolution by revelations thing. We are it together, bound for freedom through the practice of Justice, or bound to tyranny through acts of ignorance, ignorance propped by fascist censorship regarding our news content., Censorship of our human cause for liberation.

It is up to You brothers and sisters to demand evidence a requirement to convince ourselves on who shall be deemed the free person, or be sentenced to jail without trial somewhere. Tyranny through criminal dictatorship, or democracy expressing the true will of us people? It is all up to you.

"the Trial and Conviction of Our Mr. bush Jr."

Big deal. To the war mongering mass murdering thieves go the stolen spoils., as the bushite's devolving american new century would say.

/ / The American public is told that this butchery is part of keeping up pressure in the war on terror. All these terrorist brides and grooms and terrorist kids rushing round in party clothes ; all the terrorist musicians and the terrorist wedding guests, by God, they have to pay for 9/11 because (as millions of Americans still believe), the Iraqis were responsible for 9/11. \ \

50 percent of Americans polled support bush, and the vast majority of those believe Saddam Hussein was behind the Sept. 11 terrorist attacks, and that freedom by justice through understanding is too complicated and wordy, ...yeah. and so corproate news control is lying to US all, cheating everyone, including You, who cares?

Americans murdered on 9/11, and those responsible are let to go on their way. Yeah, and so what?, for Americans are absent any real Patriot warriors willing to protect their now officially perverted Amerkan flag. Look at the nazi grunt soldier's uniform, and you'll see. All bushite nazi grunts, who fight cowardly with rapists, torturers, and South African apartheid death squad goons, wear a flag reversed from the original design. The bushite attack the weak, innocent, and practically defenseless as betrayers to God, freedom and the human cause. Yeah, and so what?

/ / The administration not only doesn't admit mistakes, but also doesn't believe in accountability. \ \

But for the sacrifice of dumfuk bushite nazi grunts. Leaderless degenerates that any real human would destroy to protect their innocent families. Innocent families the bushite bombers commanding from Florida murder for no good reason but get more soulless bushite teens rightly killed, all done so to put more stolen money in the pockets of their ungodly satanic cult. Solution: hunt to kill those left un-arrested who willfully, criminally, ordered the needless bombing of Samara to get killed the bushite grunts for the further thievings of the bush backer traitors who bask in your stolen expenses.

Support calls for open dialog.

Is It Just?

/ / Is it just coincidence that 9/11 is also bush's "acceptable" reason for warring, (planned TOP SECRETLY prior by several days of 9/11, and confessed to US already as fully implemented by the Whitehouse) Afghanistan with a FALSE ALLEGATION [ no-evidence ] to heroin push, [is still leaving] ..the STOLEN American soldier pension money [...] sitting in the Cayman Islands? \ \

I guess perhaps I wasn't so clear previous, but listen: How's bush and rumsfeld's Afghan plan, gonna go down, if there is to be no surprising 9/11, nor any evidence, (not a scintilla,) gathered for public inditement against Laden for shoplifting? (No advisement from Tenent, nor Richard Clark?) Would bush start a war against life itself, by just simply stating, we don't need no evidence of our suffering?, with him demanding an innocent family to be crucified?, to save Enron? Again, bush is the for real antiChrist of all biblical folklore, hated this entire timeless universe more over than anything else Johnny cares to mention. George bush's naked treason as an enemy of Humanity is hidden from no one. A true soulless degenerate George W. Bush is, whom is purposefully attempting to destroy Your freedom as humanity with his utter contempt for our flying fricken flag. If a person has no evidence to substantiate an allegation as personal opinion on the advocation of perpetrating senseless bushite barbarity against those understood as US innocent, then your blind faith in evil bush as bushite, not lies with your God, your nation, your family, your neighbor, OR YOURSELF, but as the willing to be sacrificed for the ungodly bushite war crimes as enemy of everyone. Listen: Jesus..., KILL BUSH INSTEAD.

Kill un-arrested bush and rumsfeld for murdering the good American People thought left undefended by corporate edict as the still unjustly dying and near forgotten, and you'll be respected by this universe as truly honorable and courageous, in these of God and Humanity's, most troubling of times under the criminal dictates of Our evil Mr. bush Jr..

Those evil brethren of the bushite clan intend, through censorship, to allow the demon bush cabal our rights to leave, but where does the brethren of the bushite clan think bush is a gonna flee himself from, eh? We, The People are a' coming to get you George W. Bush for almost escaping our police protections. For, when the bush brethren clan wake up to the plan, that they'a have'a been'a deceived, the last think anyone would want, is to be without police protection... (Can you believe, the war monger thief and liar, Our Mr. bush Jr. actually banks for Christian fundamentalism, thinking he's gonna ride them bible belting for all he's worth?)

Again, America needs to wake up, load up, and go out to freely bag US some un-American bush and rumsfeld, all to save the lives of the leaderless dumfukked bush-teens, who are prodded criminally as cowards to die for the enemy. Those who would murder innocent Americans as bushite, then further publicly advocate as enemies to freedom, the victimization of God as the innocent elsewhere, should be turned against instead, questioned, arrested granted full legal rights through public due process, or hunted down to be destroyed by US real Patriots of this world as God's great believers. I'd destroyed any un-arrested proud bushite for warring America by indiscriminately dropping toxic cluster bombs on our friends and family, to get rightly killed more leaderless cowardly soldiers with Grand parents they leave undefended in bush's evil amerka. Who doesn't hate bushite I ask you to think as you should?

You kill bush because, we had unrestricted access to do anything bush pleased throughout Iraq, prior to sacrificing any good for nothing, cowardly bushite nazi dumfuk whore.

Now, because truly, the Iraq bushite war is illegitimately premised without any actual cause, the humans are faced with two questions that have no legitimate answer.

1: What can the ungodly and evil demon bushites do now in Iraq, that they couldn't prior to murdering one child, but for to rob from America by towing his bushwhore nazi coward soldiers to commit criminal acts to rob freedom from all of US as Humanity?

(Kill an proud to be evil bushite, and all day long you'll have the thanks of every surviving American police officer, and a nod from all the American pensioners who are promised that maybe bush's america can learn for next time while the bushites just walk away with the stolen loot laughing.)

2: What could Saddam do, that he wasn't asked for?, to stop the senseless first degree murder of our friends and family?

Saddam provided the sites where all bremer's WMD was destroyed, the documents, the personnel, and so on, but corporate america won't let the facts be delivered without their bias of, who cares neutrality. A refusal to report for American interests regarding the sacrifice of American lives for the un-arrested criminals hiding inside Enron, Dutch-Shell, five dollar a day Bechtel, or double billers, commi Halliburton. Example: soldiers could have more effectively went into Iraq unarmed to search wherever, for there were no restrictions placed upon rational behavior, but just no money for the bushites to steal from America. The proud dumbfuk bushite soldier is coward and betrayer to America and God, by not, for America's America, killing bush and rumsfeld for near escaping the murder scene of 9/11 in New York City. Instead, they attack the defenseless and innocent with cluster bombs laced with toxic waste they happily eat themselves to die as the ungodly soulless bushite traitors. You get your gun Patriot, and instead of punishing a town, city, or state, bag yourself some individual evil bushite, and be respected by all true loyal Americans as a real freedom fighter. With the God of every religion by your side rooting you on for the home team, You'll be loved by all. At least until, we or me, can make the national news programs to communicate. Again, the management and news desk staff of CBC and CNN know, that the American FBI contend: bush's business partner, the un-arrested in retirement General Ahmad, funded Atta, the 9/11 mastermind. (While no evidence was established against bin as connected, to justify the Afghanistan war crimes. Nothing.)

CNN and CBC, in our names, are with malicious intent, refusing to allow justice to be our interest in protecting always.

New Recruit

Destroying enemy bushite is a gift to Humanity, it is saying you care for the lives of the innocent a bush bitch nazi grunt freely confesses to targeting for murder. Liars are the bushite, who steal Iraqi resources, allow racists and rapists to commit their demon crimes in America's name un-challenged, and who absent mindedly bomb the innocent without just reason given. All the while, labeling themselves, "pro-Iraqi". The mindlessly evil attack against the Turks recently with an ordered bombing campaign that actually murdered people, sighted yet another, example of the bushite's idiotic ungodly satanic barbarity against us the Humans as INNOCENT. After the carnage, the war criminalizing America into bushite commanders were advised, it would be better to pick other completely innocent families to indiscriminately murder while lying, for the demon bushite provisions come through that big ol' Turkey, and if the Middle Easterners eventually learned together of their fellow Turks who were murdered by ungodly enemy nazi forces for admittingly doing nothing worth noting, with the middle east's indirect help with essential supplies coming from somewhere in that surrounding billion man vicinity, you know, I know, we all know, "Americans" as NAZI war criminal enemy bushite, would massively die as the immediately recognizable to most everyone, and rightly too as leaderless cowardly, dumb, and real sadistic evil, dying at the hands of all US Family men. Being as bushite, the enemies to everyone, including themselves we've witnessed them already dying as nazi dumfuks who eat plutonium. Or, IED? They mean "sexy" rummy cluster dud land mine more like! (Just where is the Middle of East anyway?) History HAS learned these lessons already, while the corporatist bushite plays US just dumb enough through malicious censorship for plunder by parasitic bushite suicide, for a bushite has no soul worth defending. See?, the committed nazi automaton bushite enemy of America soldier has no mind to know freedom for the individual. Therefor my friend, kill the evil nazi George W. bush Jr. not just for me as Johnny, but for US all man who refuse to be subjected further as only counted by the corporate dictums to pronounce "pro-American": as those that go silently rooted backing "un-accountable" rapists and torturers of the innocent, the innocent, that the bushite OPENLY rob from with American's hard earned tax dollars funding. Funding through leadership directed towards their very own self destruction. See bushite, kill bushite, at least until we are granted living access to OUR corporate dead end news media to speak FREELY for ourselves without bushite lies tying US down for furthering that demon's hellish ungodly tyranny as an enemy to all our Humanity and Royal King Johnny.

Real Americans are those of US as humanity that believe in liberty as Justice for all. Demon bushite nazi whores, don't like those principles of freedom through evidentiary findings though, for their false deity, George W. bush Jr, wouldn't be stealing from the honest hard working blokes who live for a better day that way.

The Iraqi children did nothing to deserve such awful suffering and fright and death at the hands of the enemy bushite. The bushite: who the demon anti-Christ states, are un-accountable to any rules of law in this Universe, like with his extremely foolish criminal decree, 13303. I kill mindless parasite bushite nazi enemy soldiers just for that alone as eternal defender, and I do it for to win some mercy for a real living God, who the fascist enemy bushite hold in their ungodly contempt as LIARS.

I have the backing of every real man alive on this planet, and we all know it. No voices of reason have apposed my factual claims in FREE Usenet, and Art Bell makes no attempt to defend himself as internationally painted enemy traitor, and that says a whole lot to Talk America. Why? Because Mr. Bell, the bushite propagandist, knows too, I speak and act truthfully, honorably, and righteously, while the talk radio american bushite lies, cheats and steals from America's America, that as bushite, leave undefended for criminal plunder in Your name call censored from classed enrollment. You have just as much a right to be here as I do, and the demon bush, he ain't no better than any of US when he is "excused" for the murder of well more than a hundred thousand confessed as completely innocent people on this planet called Earth.

The fascist control bushite, don't like You to think independently for Yourself, for we independents out here make them look as stupid as they are. Thank you very much for that not so secret info.

Through the pronounced bush demon's gaffes, embarrassments, and told complete total ignorance on subjects like the science of economics, the whys of constitutional law, or when the bushite takes credit for indiscriminate killing of our families and friends while parading it's all done in bush's name for our freedom, or for 9/11, doesn't fool me, and should get you thinking about reaching for your guns too, for bushite rapists and torturers will not walk this world freely un-accountable, for as long as we remain alive to hunt them down and kill them if so be. As the soulless disciples of the enemy anti-Christ, Our Mr. bush Jr., their "officially" granted legal immunity from all prosecution means nothing to me as a honorable man defending my humanity, or as living Creator, who brought all into this new world to be free, and can just as soon, take you all nazi bushite out the old school way.

REMEMBER: Demon bush is stupid, yaw, but he knows that he and rumsfeld with condi planned and carried out the crimes of 9/11 with likely cheney orchestrating, don't ever forget that part when attempting assessment how good four more years in going to do for the state of freedom in Your dying world. Serious this situation truly is for everyone. Everyone.

Now, what are You going to do about this, DEMON George W=2E bush Jr. actually playing US like he would like to continue victimizing our dying world as ENEMY for four more years towards furthering lawless tyranny? Don't we already have it bad enough, that corporate journalists think there is actually some merit to George bush's re-election bid? Especially after that 9/11 thang? Then there is the needless criminal wars, fraught with embarrassing massive billion dollar criminal frauds as .oops, more government fuk ups? Then of course all the bushite thefts. I did a Internet Google search of "Tiger Team" and I found next to nothing in all the professional media corporate news outlets we have advertising on our information service providers top notched list as best sourced material. And that should say as much or more to you too, about who's really conning who. So, who cares about where this world is going? I do, and so should you too.

Again, none of any words world wide bare contention against the facts we've brought to our attention. The traitors to America, Our Mr. bush Jr. and rotten rumsfeld don't mention the willingness of American Soldiers to aprehend general Ahmad as the principle terrorist funder of Atta, because this general is also responsible for developing the bushmob strategy of killing Americans in New York City from Washington. A strategy of blaming bin Laden without any evidence to bomb Afghanistan for Enron. (The Dahbol Working Group.) Then closing criminal investigations, as it's not important to know who personally was responsible for the insider trades, or the contacting of only Odigo. Never mentioned by CNN as top priority to American soldier concerns, who are expected by Blitzer and Hemmer to throw away their lives in sacrifice unthinking to bush, america's false deity, super evil anti-Christ. While bush and cheney threaten to murder more dumb Americans who would dare to articulate the demand for Justice as our own, like Laden has, while demanding American Patriots coware in fear of the sadistic savage mass murdering death squad leader, tommy franks, or the anti-Christ going out to kill their family too as not represented by corporate policy, while American soldier families are continually disrespected as unworthy.

(Generally, they are pretty damn stoopid, but certainly, if they're not knowingly commiting first degree murders for the anti-Christ as pure nazi filth, they should be allowed to learn, instead of having their own undefended families robbed then slaughtered for American traitor, nazi puke terrorist, tommy franks, or for Monsanto's rotten rumsfeld. Do you notice corporate America continues to show outdated footage of those two demons standing near smiling armed American soldiers, who as a mass of dumfuks, aren't intelligent enough to destroy them instantly as established ememies of America as terrorists? Well, that is going to change. I have yet to find ANY American Soldier who is literate, who disagrees WE have some very important questions that need immediate answers before the bushmob murders more Americans in Our name. See for yourself through Google if you don't believe in Christ as the Redeemer.

As for the doubting American Soldier, LOOK, CNN will continue as cult members in their dying madness of just even lamer excuses, to convince US, we are alone in our concerns for Freedom as Justice instills for US all. This moment of History requires you to stand strong for only yourself to be represented truly among the stars. Evil stupid people can't make heads or tails of this, but, as evil bush does truly from his dark shallow existence, will continue by open piracy, to publicly advocate in Our names the further robbing and murder of your own family American Patriot, so too, will more american nazi dumfuks die to the tune of their own cowardice to protect themselves as garnered fairly. This is why rotten rumsfeld forbids the death tally of American soldiers to be made public to the ready for enlistment as the too dumb to know better. Life is life, and sorry to say american dumfuks, Christ on the cross is you too as a true dying American Patriot, and your already politically sitting in the position of hatred and injustice against Humanity, and myself honestly as.. THE SON OF MAN! (The god of God's life/death guy, with a score to settle on behalf of the infinite Universe and True brave Soldiers everywhere. KILL AMERICAN COP KILLER BUSH NOW BEFORE HE MURDERS MORE IN OUR NAME AS THE INNOCENT COWARDS!)

CNN is not interested in working for American interests by asking why, as there is little of any money in just doing good for your neighbor, like saving a living, as we would wish to be helped for ourselves, if we were bound just the same to be equals at being. Mr. Blitzer and Bill Hemmer, as americans, wouldn't give a dollar of your time, to speak on human rights to be of their own concern, (they're rich!) or to save the life of an innocent poor victim, if it meant they would therefor, be compelled to honestly report on their false deity bush, the super evil criminal to ourselves as Humanity, the unelected dictator, American cop killing anti-Christ in person!, that they so leave to see Americans sacrificed as ignored to be robbed from as their profit margin increases. Do less for America, The People, and get payed more in collateral damages paid for by doubting Patriots, too slow to stand for the American flag in protection for their own living as lost to the wind. Mr. bush, tommy, rumsfeld, cheney and blair give no evidence, but for to show themselves as the criminals who openly harbor terrorist activity against our communities, and WE, as Humanity, according to CNN, are expected to go out and kill our friends in cowardice, instead of standing up to destroy the demon bush instead to save our own selves.

God, or no God, I hate that murderer bush as much as any real man would to care for his own life as family.

One More Thing

So, that demon bush, the American cop killer and his cohorts, are continuing to work destroying Humanity's gains in civility, by evilly dividing Our humanity with their blatantly open criminal intent to murder untold millions as US innocent, and as of yet, have not been executed by American Patriots for mass murder of God's Family in New York City. Traitors to US all on 9/11 without contention, for Our truth speaks as Ourselves, and witnessing just CNN's silence on General Ahmad, speaks volumes on their contempt for US as worthy of Justice. Refusing to do what is good for Humanity by offering the central facts as publicly recognized by Our Police Agencies to be actually documented. According to the FBI: the vacationing General Ahmad financed the alleged 9/11 mastermind, Atta, and also developed the criminal war strategy against Afghanistan with the bush administration, to boost the heroin trade, and save Enron to commit further frauds against American soldier families, while murdering over a hundred thousand American flag wavers, and then leaving US for further ruin with plans to continue on against 59 more countries in the same deceitful illegal manner against all Churches, as an evil nothing short of eternally crowning Our Mr. bush Jr., the super evil anti-Christ, the most hated and despised parasitic murderer in the entire annals of Humanity's History. Cool eh? Kill bush now! Why?

The bushmob have done nothing short of confessing to the entire terror event, but for jokes on our strained credulity to publicly press for further stalls. With the rights of kissinger left to be a public investigation official? (Gee, thanks for highlighting your partner like that for US bush, you nazi dumfuk.) Mr. bush Jr.'s america destroys themselves without Love for wisdom, or respect for intelligence as a Peace plan initiative. We publicly witness the blind and tormented dying bushmob slave whore charade, of contempt for living free in Our names. The two evil doers, bush and sadistic nazi rotten rumsfeld, are known publicly as documented, to continue leveraging the ignorance of the CNN ready to be broadcasted repeatedly, tranced dimwit marines, the true dumfuks of this world as weak and pathetic cowards to themselves as their own brothers they watch murdered for bush helplessly, communicated in CNN's un-American false image as the evil bush nation hiding in falsehoods as death squad recruiters against the practically defenseless as unarmed children, nazi vermin criminals, being unbiased as Blitzer about protecting your freedom Patriot, to lose your real life savings reader, truly too weak and stupid to stand up in protection for the flag as the living American Dream for anyone. Because witness again, CNN keeps not saying Justice is important as principle to hold our reflections.(CrossFire is getting better though.) Fortified behind locked doors in their bombed out bunkers, Blitzer and Hemmer sit rooted for the evil side to lose further to themselves by continuing to not respond to our communication know how. America, the People, rarely gain press time coverage as should be top priority always, while being paraded publicly as sold out as not deliberated, corporately represented as privately principled to stay ignorant of Justice to protect living personally, as actually worth something to the bottom line. Yours. Brought down Hell bound as cheated by corporate news america's valueless interest in the price of your living to continue on our behalves. What does CNN think of 2% Social Security? cheating a Soldier's Grandmother to pay tithes to the bush demon as criminal dictator?, american nazi death squads?, insider stock trades?, arming bush's heroin partners?, rotten rumsfeld and bush murdering devout corporate cultists like a would be, still silent Hemmer?, no opinion? Or the working for the People in our names OFFICIALLY, as the FBI and CIA officers actually involved in uncovering the evil bushmob deeds, like the warrant sabotage, Odigo, stolen passports of alive so called highjackers as once American trained as still Saudi pilots, or Anthrax made to look Muslimized, is not failure to connect the dots ever, or insufficient funding then is not less payment for our law enforcement now to nab the prime suspects. As Mueller, or mueller has not publicly commented of, but to say, he hasn't seen or heard anything of this police work, leaving the FBI unrepresented publicly as a threat by himself as a terrorist supporter, an devout member of the bushmob cartel. Why?, we must investigate Mueller if we should have him arrested for publicly obstructing the FBI asking the important questions. IT IS THE FBI, not pissant mueller, WHO CONCURES THE BUSHMOB'S AHMAD FUNDED ATTA. Or how about the dumb ass Ashcroft assault against every American to save his embarrassment of being completely unqualified and never elected?, no concern to mention on this either? Who suffers for CNN's refusal to demand Enron give back the billions that were criminally stolen from all American Families still sitting in the Cayman Islands? My God.

Somebody call the cops.. again!

I have personally spoken to hundreds, and written thousands regarding bush's guilt, and we can't seem to find any fault with what I am saying... How about You? Check out usenet group, "us.military.army" on the internet to see for US all, what questions if any are asked. Know also, CBC and CNN management staff will not contribute their disagreement as none present, but for continuing disregard for Your interests during Our news cast of the facts. THINK. I tell gun clubs, police officers, Biker gangs, and the general public to kill bush today for 9/11 and his death squads, against the helpless and undefended while arming heroin dealers and selling terrorist handbooks, with all the evidence one would need or asks for, and CNN with CBC corporate management does not, to my knowledge, call Our Police agencies to complain about my free speech capabilities, or will allow US public discussions with Our History as documented. Why? Those nazi bastards, Walter Issacson, Robert Habinovitch, and the two Coast to Coast godless vermin parasites know personally, they propagandize our communities with deceit to keep us divided as the plundered and murdered for the private banker buildings who sell weapons in bush's name to kill the innocent as ourselves unheard from. I can barely survive watching US ignore them as King to this World, my sweetie baby sugar dumpling, but, I think it's time to let Arron Brown in on a little secret... Johnny wants a word with his living responsibility to Americans on Patriotism. Instead of what we currently witness, a reluctance to not relentlessly pursue the truth to provide US the facts, (Look, it's true, Johnny has an ass.) but a censorship of control to falsely prop up the unelected nazi war mongering criminal, Our Mr. bush Jr., a terrorist of tyranny through criminal impropriety in violation with the American Constitution as a death bringer heroin dealer, at a seating that truly holds no vacancy, nor a Buddha, but a deception to plainly hide, the actual, got to be for real, super evil anti-Christ of all religion ever mentioned. Wow eh, even gentle jolly Buddha wants bush squashed! Seriously, please kill the bush demon to save US as victims friend. Justice must prevail as is truth eternal, that of what will be as God is.. just how many more as Humanity will be sacrificed in cowardice for the evil bush demon, before an American Patriot kills the mortal nazi dictator for treason as an American cop killer, and betrayer to all of our Humanities? Don't let tomorrow's news story be about Your murder as another, no longer heard from bush victim. For, my reason is as evidenced to actually be known, easily, while the CNN corporate cult product lies to themselves as Our public fact finders to leverage more ignorance than is found now.. as Our public voice to suffer by criminal dictates to destroy God as life giver. Fuk you america.

Heaven is on the Horizon.

We can teach ourselves as the uninformed by CNN standards to misinform and ignore. CNN's continuing silence on Ahmad, bush and rotten rumsfeld, only supports further our claim in their contempt for American Soldiers, and Our Families as not represented as worthy business investment. God, don't you just love me? Hemmer?

Mr. bush's publicized war strategy of no evidence requirement to hold American convictions for murdering Ourselves is evil all around everywhere, as understood without question to every honest Cop, the most serious of all criminal behaviors, of which, they carry guns for in just this sort of political development to halt reoccurrences. But bush, the anti-Christ, as america, says no for ALL Americans, they can no longer hold onto Justice as their own with him in their charging everyone as the enemy bush refraction. Just like, "bomb wherever" tommy franks would do with his own American family death squaded, like he did intentionally to our children, as his contempt for America will never stifle our voice with his silence regarding our aimed veracity to seek out and destroy the evil nazi bushmob fuks individually with God as Justice Supreme. The True American Way, for, the rare and few Marines, the one or two, are with US loyally to know so. See, there was a time when the Marines were taught diligently, so much so it was proudly ingrained as the moral fiber of their character, that an American Soldier's responsibility to America was to defend the Constitution as the Freedom to be America, with their lives if need be to protect their soul brothers as family, for the greater good by God, (just like the Taliban Rule Man) while today, Ashcroft, albeit muted, murmurs as rotten rumsfeld chuckles, Americans must instead as slaves give their lives unthinkingly as cowardly evil war criminals to protect the unelected bush mobster from criminal arrest for mass murders in New York City, and stealing that 50 billion, seeing that that stupid Justice thing in the American Constitution and Bill of Rights idea has now got to go instead of evil bush as demon traitor war monger, terrorist recruiting false god anti-Christ, but that aside... There is a guide book for leadership in the American Marines entitled, "Guidebook for MARINES", and inside, it contains 14 principles to strive for as an American Soldier wanting to be a True Patriot as leader of Soldiers prepared to die for love of country, and our fellow man as friend or stranger, and here they are:

Integrity, Knowledge, Courage, decisiveness, Dependability, Initiative, Tact, Justice, Enthusiasm, Bearing, Endurance, Unselfishness, Loyalty, and Judgement.

For integrity it states:

"1. Integrity. The stakes of combat are too high to gamble leadership on a dishonest man. Would you accept a report from a patrol leader who had been known to lie? Of course you wouldn't. All your statements, official or unofficial, are concidered by your men to be plain, unadorned fact. Make sure they are. When you give your word, keep it. There are people depending on you to come through with the goods."

Now, I could go on further about what kind of lifeless degenerate a lawless cowardly mute soldier in bush's nazi death squads would have to be, to serve under bush as slave and traitor to home and family, as against God, the Flag, and all that we represent as equals through Justice, but I won't.

Mr. bush's america is uncontrollable by anyone. CNN figures if they never mention US, we'll never know who was invited as participators. (Example: CIA officers have had to PUBLICLY contact British News Services as the CIA, (Never done that I know of likewise before), regarding American interests in apprehending the TRUE 9/11 culprits ignored by american corporate dictates, and tenant also. One should remember, bush and rumsfeld would want to secretly murder any persons involved in 9/11 to clean up the huge crime scene, and tenant, is no brave and True Christ like figure as a living person, so what can we expect in all reality? Tenant will pay dearly if the evidence further indicates, as his continuing silence does label him already a willing traitor to all America, as too, his personal meeting with 9/11's Ahmad just prior seems suspicious also as not mentioned by himself in defense, along with his refusal to disclose the insider stock trades while leaving the fine CIA officers personally involved in the dark, as abandoned American Patriots, armed and ready to defend America as they should immediately for themselves, by executing bush and rumsfeld as terrorist cop killer, drug running freedom haters.)

America's false deity, the super evil anti-Christ, Our Mr. Bush Jr., doesn't think for me to be sacrificed without opinion by John, for I am free to act for my own beliefs as understanding, as I live in defense for living as all things created I am of honestly, simply amazing God is. However, I, as any truly living person would, can't help hate Our Mr. bush Jr. to death for what he and rotten rumsfeld is criminally doing, and further proposing against Our living in my name as unheard from dying without cause as murdered, but for bush's criminal contempt for my Awesomeness to beg once again friends, someone out there please, for the Love of Yourself and God, help US destroy Our Mr. bush Jr. quickly before he kills more as Ourselves unrepresented by corporate values in our commitments to freedom for living through Justice for all persons. Our Mr. bush Jr. has indiscriminately murdered more than 100,000 innocent souls with only a contemptuous smirk to his credit, while fully committed to more robbing and heroin dealing by blaming Laden for whatever without any evidence. Leaving Our true willingness silenced by corporate demands to propagandize and censor our truths, allowing bush, the dumfuk traitor, to continue demonizing America into a hell hole of ignorance through his hatred for life, Science and Nature. CNN's silence for America regarding the bushmob publicly stealing from their Own Family their freedom of Rights to be living, while committing Americans to a dictatorial crime ridden government, that bush and rumsfeld proclaim, is no longer applicable to the Law of any Land, is an abomination against Christ as living is Ourselves Being. America isn't America anymore, it's the bushmobbed universe of injustice and blind self hatred against all of Humanity, committed to leave none to survive but as slaves to be terrorized for the dummy bush demon as their false deity, a traitor in my midst, disguised to no one but himself as personally expendable. Again, where are the American Patriots we all hear so much about in the big screen to take down the seriously anti-American demon bush monster cop killer heroin pusher for treason, as all understood widely now factually with evidence and everything? Kill the war criminal evil doers, bush and rumsfeld today and be loved by yourself to be of Human Nature, or hunker to hell as a coward and betrayer to yourself and your own family, while watching the bushmob openly rob and murder further from our World, and on all of which we stand strong united. Justice for You.

This living plan of mine empowers others to learn their Rights as eternally established to be Kings and Queens on equal footing to be as all in all of gods forever dreaming, while demon bush intends the destruction of individual freedoms while robbing and murdering Americans from the inside, like sharon with US Jews does, as underrepresented, a condemning onslaught on Your better Judgement as reasoned on anything factual they figure blindly to be spinable, without your word contested. Your God Given Living Rights my friend. Without a rule of Law principled in the fashion of Justice for all to be sought as measured, bush's nazi amerika will continue to suffer ourselves needlessly for their corporatized self contempt in Our living Humanity as censored, without a thought for Justice, or the American Bill of Rights as God acting out eternally for prophets to wonder endlessly. See, I came up with this wacky Idea one day to make all my equal as self created to be so normally, in this Universe as we exist for Happiness ultimately as eternal, so, You or i will work this challenge to speak out for ourselves as Creation about bush's america, and it's responsibility as publicly advertised, to gather the facts on who suffers for bush's criminal misdeeds, and overall ignorance on everything. Mr. bush's irresponsible tax scam for example, is to put America's public money into the hands of private bankers, as the extremely rich already, while taking money away from those who spend the highest percentage of their paycheck on basic necessities as a gambled to be advertised, "stimulation package". HOW? The HOW is never explained with understanding as clearly regressive like the bush rule is, because.. Who spends MORE in taxes as investment at the grocery store to pay the cashier for his babysitter: 20,000 volunteer Janitors all named Rich, who ride the bus for convenience, or a mechanical billionaire private bank machine operator, who doesn't earn any nation's moola by working something for it?, and couldn't eat 20,000 cans of re-fried beans at one cruise lining to timbucks three without losing themselves, havening his tax manner over take in YOUR luxury. See, when America prints more money at the Treasury to give Greenspan to loan BACK to the Government illogically, the dollar value falls for everyone as investor, inflation, let alone the incurred bogus debt owed with real sweat as labor. Clearly, to every informed citizen not as democratic. Of course, National corporate news America, is genuinely not trying as capable by themselves to commit The living interest in Government as ourselves with oversight to manage US fiscally responsible, (like CNN regarding Justice and the Congress, or no Chomsky ever, E. Ann Clark as geneticist, or just research for experts as example), so, we do indeed, live in trying times due to ignorance as corporate america's disrespect for wisdom saught as yearning. It's like private bankers don't want the public to think about what we are doing as worthwhile knowing, eh? Or, I'm the only one on this planet who can almost read my own writing as the, one of a kind, good boy God freak. Anyway, the bushmobster scam leaves less finite wealth for all as taxable exchanges, while suggesting disposing of what dwindling national resource can be obtained, be given to create further debt by devolving into a military apparatus to make more enemies. Our Mr. bush Jr. is just plain stupid as destructive to everyone, but especially Americans to not stand up in defense of Ourselves. (Officially, rotten rumsfeld's criminal plan, "P2OG", is to encourage terrorist acts against Your Family, but you guessed it, not up to CNN's standard to report US as viable news material.) It's like saying fewer people educated, will keep us stupid enough as a Nation to blame the weak and poor as ourselves deprived till death as murdered, and, bush says makes sense secretly, as the all knowing for the blind and ignorant to faith in without thinking about what money is either. Our Governments should always be working to make the poor richer as a successful representation of our will as the public to improving our living condition, but the dumb and ignorant, talentless and monosyllabic, believe, someone else must be cheated and devalued, divided and murdered, in their universe for them to succeed without effort, or skill whatsoever.. Especially defense. Have you ever heard of the rock solid certainty of Universal "inverse variation" constants? (Canadian High School.) This is why in America, in a time where the nation was more literate as informed, Corporations were taxed at 85% and were happy about it for themselves as American citizens. It's understanding also, most as almost all of the most wealthy multi-nationals competing from military dictatorships against American minimums, run in continuous private bank debt, (your savings and pension as leveraged weaker being the entire Nations) but gross billions in profits. 99.9% of every private bank building in the Western World is mortgaged, not however in Iraq, or the Muslim World where interest is not charged on good standing loans made in Our names. (Sideline: Now recollect bush's puppet forcing Afghanistan to borrow from the World Bank for terrorist handbooks and heroin junkets, but not food, shelter or clothing, while spending in addition, 4-5 billion a month in godless bushfuked american Patriot Dollars, American Celeb Dollars, American TAX PAYER Dollars, to run deaths squads with tommy franks against teachers and children.) It's a strange idea to the dying to be corporately driven without thinking because, you wouldn't automatically think it could be more profitable to stay in cheaper as serviceable debt being a brick building, but it is by private banker swindle with National inflation succeeding personal interest rates. We lose personal wealth to the pirate banker fees without even privately using their/OUR National currency services, because truly, we can't go somewheres else. As of course in america, an Enron can always be pulled, where it goes bankrupt as a toxic non-living entity, but leave richer as crooks than they did before calling an end to paybacks, with the People stuck to take the loss together for sure as the victims. While bush, says corporating America, his america, should learn for next time, maybe, while the CRIMINALLY STOLEN money is still siting in the Cayman Islands!!! See the Depression, a Canadian High Schooler, or watch bush act in direct opposition to his word almost consistently as American death harborer terrorist psychopath. Then ask yourself, why can none of our defenses be publicly discussed as important deliberations?

Love Justice by allowing others to read this paper, to judge the truth for themselves as worth something for all persons, and I will be truly grateful you cared to believe in a better future, for together, we could find a new hope for freedom, as happiness and prosperity for Yourself included. We only need believe in ourselves as unstoppablly stupid, and the Universe is ours as God is now testifier.

I am my word,
and make believe King to this world I call home,

Yours forever,

Ya, it's me again,
King of a world forgotten,

Johnny Wizard

I was trying to point out it wasn't really a steal but that radio is only worth about $80 in that condition

there is NO source for the proper antenna and there MAY be a serious problem with the radio.

please give me the list of the experts who gave you this top 5 list.

No; Sorry, OM, but everyone has got this wrong.
Only inventory items in an Ebay Store, big-ticket industrial items and automobiles get the price increase.
You and I as "casual sellers" do not see increases in anything except "gallery" and we're compensated by bigger, better photos.

Folks- please go read the notice again.
I don't think anyone here is affected by this at all.
Kindly,

I think you are part true

Buy It Now
Buy It Now fees will no longer be charged at a flat rate, and will instead be determined based on the Buy It Now price. Fees will be charged as follows:

| Buy It Now Price | Fee |
|---|---|
| $0.01 - 9.99 | $0.05 |
| $10 - 24.99 | $0.10 |
| $25 - 49.99 | $0.20 |
| $50+ | $0.25 |

10-Day Duration
The fee for 10-day duration listings will be raised from $0.20 to $0.40 per listing.

I went and reread the notice.. and it's true, the way the notice is laid out, it appears that the price increases apply only to Ebay Stores. Now, my observation would be that there will be many ebay stores closing in order to opt instead to be a regular seller, so as not to pay the nearly double fees.

When they don't have any respect for themselves, how in hell can they respect other cultures and people? Besides, these former residents of trailer camps all over Georgia USA do NOT need any more dehumanizing experiences, especially self induced ones like this.

Infantile Eighth grade humour at best. They must all be Pilots.

==================================
DRM listing in Wikapedia needs more updating...

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Digital_Radio_Mondiale French / German / Spanish versions non existant...

Digital Radio Mondiale (DRM) is an international non-profit consortium committed to designing an open platform for digital radio broadcasting around the world, especially on shortwave.

The main advantage of such digital broadcasting is that it yields sound quality comparable to FM, but over shortwave distances. As a digital medium, DRM can also transmit other digital data besides digitized music, including text, pictures and computer programs. DRM has been designed especially to use older transmitters designed for audio AM, so major new investments are not required for early transmissions. The encoding and decoding can be performed with digital signal processing, so that small computers added to a conventional transmitter and receiver can perform the rather complex encoding and decoding.

The organisation has recently received approval for the AM standard from the IEC, and the ITU has approved its use in most of the world. Approval for the Americas (ITU region 2) is pending amendments to other existing international agreements. The inaugural broadcast took place on June 16, 2003, in Geneva, Switzerland, at the ITU's annual World Radio Conference.

DRM's system uses MPEG-4 to code the audio: AAC for music and CELP or HVXC for speech programs. All codecs can optionally be combined with SBR. The resulting low-bitrate digital information is modulated using COFDM. It can run in simulcast mode by switching between DRM and AM, and it is also prepared for linking to other alternatives (e.g. DAB or FM services). DRM has been tested successfully on shortwave, mediumwave (with 9 as well as 10 kHz channel spacing) and longwave.

I've noticed in the last couple days that I can't get the BBC on 9525 at 0300, so I've had to listen to their 5975 freq out of Antigua. The problem is that 49m is for me full of noise. The noise is so great that it reduces the BBC to an unintelligible mumble, especially on my Degen.
So I fired up my Yaesu FRG-8800 and tried using SSB to null the noise, but no luck, even though the LSB setting greatly reduces it I am still left with a mumble level of audio. The signal is strong, it's just that the QRM is stronger. I'm using about 50 feet of longwire (my old antenna) coiled up inside because I can't have an outside antenna for now. Any suggestions?

Yeah, ok, ok, I should have put a big IF qualifier in there. I didn't mention that I heard pretty much the same thing about Fallujah on the BBC about a month ago so that's why I gave more weight to the Cuban report than I normally would have. That said, in an age when even "news" from the BBC is suspect, I find that one SW outlet's "news" is pretty much the same quality as another's. (This of course doesn't count the latest heroic actions of Kim Jong Il as reported on Voice of Korea. ;) )

160 METER {BAND} BALANCED COAXIAL RECEIVING LOOP ANTENNA
- - - Article and Website By KN4LF
160M LOOP INFO => http://www.kn4lf.com/kn4lf40.htm
KN4LF Writes "My 160 meter receive loop antenna has a diameter of approximately five feet, with the bottom of the loop mounted approximately four feet above ground on a AR-35 Hy Gain rotator.
The support system is made up of 1.5" OD schedule 40 PVC pipe.
The preamp is made by Gary Nichols KD9SV and is sold by Radio Ware Radio & Bookstore. The preamp provides up to 22 db of amplification with a high dynamic range and has tuned broadcast band station filtering on the input and output!  The rig here is a Yaesu FT-1000MP Mark V Field.  Also if you would rather have someone build you a balanced coaxial receiving loop contact KC2TC."

Nobody likes to get conned.  Very embarrassing.  I understand completely.

Bin Laden beat the Russians and he's perfectly happy to repeat his performance on us.  Thus far, we are playing right into his hands.

I loved the 1 I had before it crapped out.
I sold my 2010 and kept the 65. It was very quiet and sensitive, just smaller if you have big hands I don't recommend it..

Sonet the afternoon experimenting with some new ideas for a feedline. We tried shielded and unshielded (lamp cord).
The unshielded was bad. Very bad.
The shielded was the best, from a low ingress, or no signals from my radio pc getting back into the antenna.

Got ot: members.aol.com/WA1ION/nrants.pdf to see the basic setup. I halved R1 and put 5 Ohms in series with each side. The 270 Ohm does make a clear difference in this application.
I grounded the shiled at the antenna only.
The shield made no connection at the 1:1
transformer end. Both of the inner balanced pair were connected to the 1:1 and brought into the radio room as shown. The 1:1 is mounted in an altoids tin that is grounded to the bulkhead outside my radio room.
No cable is grounded at thet end.
There was no trace of birdies from my PC, infact there was a minimum, much less then before, of impusle static when I turned lights on and off.
The TV/VCR/DVD produced no birdies. Themicrowave did jam everything.
This cble was so old that the printing was so faded that we couldn't read the cable number. I will try to find a comparable smaple and report the number here/
At this point I have to say that a shielded balanced feedline is much better then anything else Ihave tried.
Microphone cable was dead. With it I got NO signal at any freqeuncy.
Terry
The standard members.aol.com/WA1ION/nrants.pdf connection is a great feed system and makes and ideal starting point for any serious antenna experimentation.

I'm hearing "Varmint!" on 5 MHz in southeast Texas, Saturday night (U.S. time).

There's no sign of Sam on 2.5 or 10 MHz.

This is just too bizarre.

I tried 5 and 10 Mhz at 0100 and didn't note Sam or any other unusual signal, just WWV as usual. Sam was so strong at my location the first time around that I was able to hear him on my Degen during the day. No such luck this time around. It IS certain that if this is a pirate (not a government operation of some kind) interfering with WWV will get one busted in a hurry.

The Sam activity observed in December would seem to point to a spy or some other government operation of some kind. The Sam transmissions were neatly spaced over four different frequencies audible at different levels of signal strength at my location, indicating four different transmitters in four different locations acting together. It is unlikely that a prankster would go to such trouble. The big question is what it means, if indeed it's a spy station. It was theorized that it was a "go signal" for some sort of spy operation. But since it's back at reduced power (my check of 5 and 10 Mhz at 0100 showed nothing unusual) that would not seem to be the case.

Unlike other recket launches, this one, called "Deep Impact", was completely omitted from almost all national news broadcasts.

Here is the link:
http://deepimpact.jpl.nasa.gov/

Usually NASA wants to brag about their accomplishments but not this time.  One wonderes why?

Does "Deep Impact" have a second meaning?  I don't know.  Just wonder what any other group readers think or know about this event other than the stated reason; the study of what is inside a Comet.

Your input encouraged and welcomed.  Maybe we can monitor some NASA frequencies - does anyone know of any HF frequencies used by NASA that we can monitor?

Warren

I don't think you can draw that conclusion, since at any given time, different frequencies are going to have different propogation (and noise) characteristics.

However, I agree with your conclusion that it wasn't some prank simply because of the precise timing of the signals and the apparant data burst at the start.

I, too am hearing Sam on 5 MHZ with a strong signal in North Texas.
This is almost certainly a covert "go" signal from our government.
Could be an exercize (most likely).
It's on WWV at 5 mHz because that provides a "BFO" for cheap SW receivers.  I will note the times I hear him.
Please note those you hear.

Loud 3:22:50 Z
Loud 3:23:35 Z

Let's see if we can do a little snooping of our own.

I was out during the day and was otherwise committed in the evening.

I must have missed it, sorry.

Did they say anything about destroying the comet?

Sam in North Texas, 5 mHz

This pattern:

moderate 3:25:25
Loud 3:26:10
weak 3:27:25
```

weak 3:28:10
Loud 3:28:50
Loud 3:29:25
moderate 3:30:10

was followed by this pattern:
3:32:08 weak
3:32:48 weak
3:33:28 weak
3:34:08 weak
3:35:28 weak
3:36:08 loud
3:36:48 weak

Sam seems to have stopped at this time, at least in North Texas.
The pattern likely carries some intelligence in itself.

More like "Uncle Sam," if you ask me.

I agree. That sort of rapid oscillation of the signal strength doesn't happen by accident. I take back my earlier observation that it wasn't a go signal-apparently the idea that it IS a go signal from the CIA or some other spy agency is credible, judging from the posts here. Any speculation as to what it indicates? There was no major news making event that happened after the Sam transmissions in December (unless you want to theorize that the tsunami was caused by HAARP), but for the government to go to this sort of trouble indicates that it's SOMETHING big.

No, they talked about getting material ejected from the comet to study, and not knowing what the result of the collision would be.

While it's likely this is part of a large exercise, it is possible for it to be a "real deal."
A lot of operations that affect the safety of our nation go down without you or I hearing a single thing about it, now or later.
I could tell you about some from the 1980s, but then I'd have to kill ya ;-).

They have taken their shot at marketing and blew it big time. They came out and presented DRM as an open system, which it is not. They state that it will sound better in the same bandwidth, which it can not. They state that it can stay in the current channel assignments but does not spreading out beyond + / - 5KHz.

DRM = Deception Radio Mondiale

It is just a different system with some pluses on one side and drawbacks on the other side of "better than the current analog system."

For digital to be unquestionably better it would take another approach than DRM, which would use digital signals to better adapt to the resultant distortions HF of propagation.

Newer and different does not equate to better.

NW7US Propagation Alert

January 15, 2005

During the series of flares from solar sunspot region 0720, at 0614 UTC 15 January 2005, a strong solar flare and radio sweep event was observed. This indicates a full-halo coronal mass ejection (one that is headed directly toward Earth). The start time of this Type II burst was 0554 UTC 15 January 2005. The shock speed is estimated at 1300 km/s - this is a MAJOR SHOCK. An extremely strong Type IV event followed the Type II event. The sweep looks optically correlated with the flare from region 0720. (To see the sweep, browse to

It is now expected that the start of January 16 will see strong geomagnetic storminess, increasing to MAJOR GEOMAGNETIC storminess, then declining late on January 17 to active levels. This could well be a major Aurora event, as well. STRONGLY DEGRADED HF PROPAGATION CONDITIONS ARE EXPECTED from 16 January through 17 January 2005.

Additional details will be reported when available.

News from the Echolink Tsunami Relief Net indicates that a limited amount of health and welfare traffic is now flowing via amateur routes, although there is still a lack of information from some locations. News of the amateur operation in the Andaman Islands demonstrates the value of amateurs providing emergency communications.

Electricity and landlines are yet to be restored in Little Andaman, where there is heavy damage. Amateur radio volunteers have been providing a helping hand to the Andaman and Nicobar administration and assisting governmental and non-governmental agencies by coordinating the rescue and relief operations locally, and passing third-party welfare messages. From the original small DXpedition team of five Indian amateurs on the Andaman Islands at the time of the earthquake, there are now between 25 and 30 amateurs there. They have been operating from various parts of the Andaman and Nicobar Islands, including a relief camp housing 2500 tsunami victims. Amateurs involved on the islands include VU2JOS, VU2LIC and a team of eight volunteers from Gujarat headed by VU2CPV, who is also a police official. Many of the amateurs are using VHF hand portables for local coordination.

Whenever they have messages for the mainland, these are relayed through their HF base stations located in different parts of the Andamans, generally on 7095kHz. There is also emergency traffic on 14190 and 21245kHz.

Please keep these - and any other frequencies heard to be carrying emergency or health and welfare traffic - clear. Thanks to RSGB Radio Communications Voluntary Services coordinator Paul Gaskell, G4MWO, for this report, which was compiled with information supplied by VU2MUE and G4HPE.

According to The Daily DX, compiled by Bernie McClenny, W3UR, all Indian amateurs were authorised to operate from the Andaman and Nicobar Islands from 29 December in order to "assist the Civil Authorities in handling the messages pertaining to the disaster". Prior to December, there had been a 17-year ban on amateur radio operations from the Andamans and Nicobars.

A detailed report on the involvement of radio amateurs in the tsunami disaster relief operation can be found on the RSGB website at www.rsgb.org

Europa Radio International has acquired a refurbished 5 kilowatt AM transmitter which is to be installed at a site in the former Soviet Union. The transmitter will be shipped next month and, after conversion work to double its output power and the antenna system has been upgraded, we aim to have it operational by late Summer 2005.

Whilst the transmitter will be owned by us, it will be operated and maintained by a former engineer at the (until now) redundant site.

We anticipate that we will have some air-time available for hire at a later date.

In the interim Europa Radio International will continue to use the excellent transmission facilities in Latvia and shortly, a second transmitter in the United States.

HISTORY:

We carried out our first test broadcast via the 100kW Short-Wave transmitter located at Ulbroka near Riga in Latvia.

The transmission took place on September 5th, 2004 and the response to the broadcast was overwhelming with listeners contacting us from all over the World

Internet noise threatens emergency radio

4 January 2005

New Scientist
Barry Fox

After the tsunami hit Sri Lanka on 26 December, Victor Goonetilleke, head of the island's amateur radio society, delivered a short-wave radio set and two 12-volt car batteries to the prime minister's emergency headquarters in Colombo. At the same time, three of his friends drove through the devastation to Hambantota, on the hard-hit south-east coast, where they set up another battery-powered short-wave radio.

For two days, while the military struggled to restore electricity supplies and phone lines, the prime minister was able to use the short-wave link to talk to staff on the ground.

Short-wave signals from Sri Lanka, the Andaman Islands and mainland India also helped to spread news of the disaster around the world. The same happened after the 9/11 attacks and last year's hurricanes in the Caribbean. When phones and mains electricity are down, making the internet unusable, short-wave radio enthusiasts are able to maintain emergency communications.

But not, perhaps, for much longer. Plans to deliver broadband internet signals to homes and businesses down mains electricity cables, rather than telephone lines, could cause interference that will drown out the faint signals from distant short-wave transmitters.

Unshielded cables

Power companies in the US and Europe are pressing ahead with the technology, with the aim of setting up in competition to existing phone-based services. The downside is that the packets of internet data pulsing down unshielded mains cables makes the cables behave like aerials that send short-wave interference beaming out over a wide area.

Unless interference of this kind is tightly controlled, it could spell the end for emergency short-wave communications. "A few extra decibels of interference from future networks and I would not have been able to hear the news from amateurs in Sri Lanka, India and the Andaman Islands," says Hilary Claytonsmith of the International Amateur Radio Union's UKbranch.

The threat began when the US government gave the go-ahead to broadband over power line (BPL) technology in October. And the European Commission (EC) is close to approving its own version, called power-line communications (PLC).

The names are different but the technology is the same: broadband data is sent into people's homes as a high-frequency signal piggybacked on the 50 or 60-hertz mains supply.

Unhappy coincidence

Because the mains is a noisy environment with ever-changing patterns of interference from sockets, switches, control circuits and electric motors in appliances, the power-line data must be spread over many high-frequency carrier signals if it is to be delivered at the 5 to 10 megabits per second that these services are aiming for.

The carrier frequencies used range up to 30 megahertz - which by unhappy coincidence is the radio band that travels best around the world. It is used for amateur radio, short-wave broadcasting (such as the BBC World Service and Deutsche Welle) and includes several dedicated emergency frequencies (see graphic).

Because these frequencies bounce off the ionosphere, they carry long distances, which makes them ideal for long-range intercontinental broadcasting.

When the US Federal Communications Commission (FCC) gave the go-ahead to BPL, it ruled that at frequencies up to 80 megahertz service providers must use filters on their household equipment. These could be set by a service engineer to chop out any internet transmission frequencies shown to be causing interference to any short-wave radio receivers nearby. The EC and the European Committee for Electrotechnical Standardisation (CENELEC) are trying to set similar filtering rules.

Deciding on importance

But radio amateurs fear that the rules will allow the filtering to be lifted if it is having a serious effect on internet access speeds. The EC says it wants firm rules that balance "technical, social and economic" factors against the "importance" of services which suffer interference. But who is to decide what is more important, and on what grounds, the radio amateurs ask.

Michael Copps, the one FCC commissioner who opposed BPL, believes the organisation has made a rod for its own back. It is going to have to "work hard to monitor, investigate and take quick action" over any power-line internet interference to radio amateurs and others, he says.

Some technical fixes may be in the works though. The BBC, for instance, is developing a PLC modem that makes use of the fact that the short-wave frequencies for broadcast radio change throughout the day, as ionospheric conditions dictate. The BBC modem detects which frequency bands are in use at any one time - and filters them out. Such technology is not part of any PLC or BPL system currently in trials, however.

Assuming 'they' is Uncle Sam, I wonder if they got approval from the NIST or ITU to interfere with WWV? Probably not.

hmmmmmmmmmm
I find that rather funny. they mentioned it on all the science stations, the local news/national news almost 3 weeks ago. it wasn't played up, but it was KNOWN.

I live forty miles East of Vicksburg,Mississippi.Sometimes I hear and if I happen to be outside I see some big Helicopters flying due West and sometimes flying Soutwest,I almost never see them flying East.What woke me up at about 7:00 AM yesterday (Saturday) morning was one of the loudest (and I do mean loud!) Helicopters flying directly over my roof so low I thought it was going to scrape the roof off of my house and it was flying due West too.I don't know if that has anything to do with anything big or Yosemite Sam or not.

The Business Week article only mentions wasted spectrum in the TV bands, not the SW bands.  You may not be aware of this, the SW bands have much, much less available spectrum and not nearly as well suited for short range communications as VHF/UHF wavelengths.

The RF-2800 and 2900 were about ten years before the B65 and B60. The latter two were real PLL designs, not analog with a frequency display (counter) like the 2800/2900. The 2900 is identical to the 2800 except it has a fluorescent display instead of red LED's on the 2800, which saved battery power. The 2800 display only worked for AM/shortwave tuning, not FM. The current Tecsun/Grundig S-350 is loosely based on the RF-2800/2900 but it does not have dual conversion like the two Panasonics did.
I've been trying to locate a National Panasonic DR-29. This version was not sold in the US. It had a built-in preselector to reduce images and overloading in strong signal areas like Europe.

It remains to be seen (tested in court) if shortwave listeners have any right to hear foreign broadcasts, free from local interference created by BPL. This will be determined if/when someone sues a BPL company for interfering with shortwave reception. It will probably be a ham' (ARRL?) not an SWL that starts this litigation process.

Add to that a cryogenically cooled (liquid nitrogen) front-end (RF amp) to greatly reduce the thermal noise from the componants in that circuit.

Speaking out
By Paul Donovan
The Sunday Times
January 16, 2005

On the day the waves rose up in the Indian Ocean, there appeared the first of only two obituaries on a modest man from the Highlands who had deep knowledge of the languages spoken by those swept away - Thai, Sinhala, Indonesian and English. His name was George Campbell, and he could apparently speak and write in 44 languages. Once listed in the Guinness Book of Records as "the world's greatest linguist", he worked for the BBC World Service for 40 years, retiring as head of the Romanian section.

Campbell, who was 92 when he died, appears never to have been written about in his lifetime, and the World Service has not even mentioned his passing in its own output. Yet his gifts were extraordinary. When he was a child, a dog attacked him, leaving him with a stammer. His teachers thought he was slow and sat him at the back of the class. There, from books he found at Inverness fish market, he taught himself the basics of Spanish, Portuguese and Danish, as well as the French and German on the syllabus. His natural bent became his life's work. In retirement, for fun, he taught himself Basque.

Some may dismiss that as arcane and obsessive, the product of a vanished era of the gifted amateur. Does English not now dominate the globe? Has it not marginalised foreign tongues? Campbell lived long enough to see that such arguments were misplaced. "Other lan- guages are actually growing in importance," argues Chris Westcott, director of BBC Monitoring, which (with some help from the Americans) listens to the world's news agencies and radio and television output in 100 languages, including highly sensitive ones such as Korean and Uighur, which is spoken by a Muslim minority in western China. "This is because the web has given a global footprint to languages once confined to a relatively small area." The World Service itself broadcasts in 43 languages (including English, though not Korean or Uighur). What is less well known is that each of them can be listened to on, and has a section of, the BBC World Service website - an array of strange scripts and fonts.

Politics, as well as the web, gives buoyancy to languages. The war of words rarely calls a ceasefire. For all international broadcasters, of which the BBC is only one, Arabic has become vastly more important as a result of 9/11 and the Iraq war. (It was the first of the BBC's foreign- language ser-vices, launched in 1938 at the behest of the Foreign Office to counter Mussolini's Arabic broadcasts denouncing "British imperialism".) The break-up of both the Soviet Union and Yugoslavia has led to the emergence of new republics with a renewed nationalistic impulse, expressed in languages such as Kazakh, Kyrgyz and Macedonian.

So, even if there are no George Campbells any more, what he stood for - a respect for languages - is still of vital importance in the radio world. "I don't think we have anyone here at Caversham who can speak 44 languages, but quite a few have mas- tered six or seven," says Westcott. "Being barely literate in one, I'm rather in awe of them. I think sometimes we're in danger of under- estimating the linguistic abilities of the British."

The 2200 got it's reputation as a good MW Dx'ing receiver because, being an analog design, it has less circuit noise than some digital portables.
Otherwise, the 2200 is easily surpassed by many portables, particularly the Sony-2010, which can capture weak signals with it's sync' detector, better than the 2200 can without that feature.

Such a system might be technically better, but would people buy it?  The synchronous detector reduces the problems with SW reception and a radios with synchronous detectors have been around for years.  But radios with synch detectors haven't taken a large percentage of the radio marketplace.

Technically oriented people see a problem and expect a technically oriented solution.  International broadcasting isn't what what it was twenty years ago.  Thinking that people are being driven away from SW by SW radio's sound quality is an understandable reaction.  But, if sound quality is really the reason old line international broadcasting is declining, shouldn't radios with sync detectors have been much more successful?

As I see it, sound quality is irrelevent to the decline of old line international broadcasting.  Governments are less interested in public diplomacy since the end of the Cold War.  Also, people with interent access have the world's news at their fingertips when they want it, not when the broadcasts get through.

The problem with DRM, as I see it, isn't marketing, it's market research. It seems this scheme got started without a firm answer to the question, "Will people really want to buy this thing?"

What's the point?  This article is about the presumed waste of TV spectrum.
It doesn't mention SW at all.

SW isn't nearly as well suited for short range communications as UHF/VHF.

Actually, I didn't think DRM was a DXers nightmare, either.

NASA has its own public access TV system running 24 hours a day. I watched the launch live.

The capacitor problem occurred a few years ago when an Asian company tried to copy the chemical formula for the electrolytic paste used by a well known capacitor manufacturer. They got the formula wrong and made millions of bad capacitors which were used in computers and other equipment. I have a motherboard which has some leaking/bulging electrolytics. I expect it will work fine again, if/when I get around to changing them. But by then, it will be obsolete. :-)

I don't believe there ARE any US made SW radios.. or for that matter, any radios. Even Drake is made overseas, IIRC..

The US government apparently didn't agree. They used to intercept and open mail, sent by SWL's to the radio stations of communist countries, on a regular basis. It was common practice in the 60's and 70's. In most cases the letters were eventually delivered to their destination, albeit in a somewhat used condition. One would hope this has stopped but I bet any letter sent from the US to the Voice of Korea or Radio Havana Cuba may not only fail to be delivered but is opened and scrutinized.

Depends on the water content of the rope and what it's tied to for support. It would be most noticable in a humid climate near the ocean.

Probably a bunch of radio geeks playing around. With the Internet, it's too easy to coordinate this sort of stuff. A private IRC channel, a web site, or somebody sophisticated enough to be goofing with VoIP or setting up their own streaming audio server.

One time I got into a BS session with a guy about how he and his buddies wired up northern Idaho with a chain of freeband repeaters so they could make phone calls and the usual two way radio stuff. 40 years ago.

So it looks like a bunch of "cool dudes" are following in the footsteps of the previous generation.  Probably with the same transmitters.

Well, I heard it here on 15.000 MHz (Jan 16, at 21:11 and about 40 seconds).  I'll stick with a bunch of kids and a .wav file.

Let me guess.  You hit the ceiling when he compared Jesus with magician David Blaine and said the Resurrection was done with mirrors. (BTW, I didn't hear him say that Jesus didn't exist, just a number of miracles like the "water into wine" and "the loaves and fishes").

Hey bucko, free speech doesn't mean that YOU are free from irritation. It means that Green or anybody else isn't going to get burned at the stake for the offense.

I got some of that on either 11615 or 11655, just tuning around about 19:40 UTC. Since it was in the middle of something I usually get in the evening, I didn't note the exact frequency.

As usual, I tried to tape the 04:00 UTC broadcast on 6165. I got Green, but dead or dying batteries in both my FR-200 and my cassette tape recorder truncated Amsterdam Forum. Pity, it sounded like a real shouting match about the Iraq election.

While your shortwave radios are blasting static over the next 48 hours, turn on the FM radio and listen for distant signals. Look north after sunset Jan 17&18 for northern lights. The latest Kp index as of this morning was 7. See below for more information.

Space Weather News for January 16, 2005
http://spaceweather.com

Two coronal mass ejections (CMEs) are heading toward Earth and they could spark strong geomagnetic storms when they arrive on January 16th-17th. Sky watchers should be alert for auroras. The CMEs were blasted into space by M8- and X2-class explosions above giant sunspot 720 on Jan. 15th.

SEE => http://www.universal-radio.com/catalog/portable.html
-  Grundig Yacht Boy 400 PE / Porsche G4000A
-  Sangean ATS-909 / RadioShack DX-398
*  Sony ICF-SW7600GR
-  Degen / Kaito 1101, 1102 or 1103
Or a Table Top "World Band" Radio that has full coverage from 100 kHz to 30 MHz.
-  Drake R8B
*  Grundig Satellit 800 Millennium
-  Icom IC-R75
-  Japan Radio Co. NRD-545 DSP
-  Ten-Tec RX-350D
-  Palstar R30
-  Yaesu FRG-100B
If you are interest in buying a used 'older' Shortwave Radio then Check-Out the "Modern Shortwave Receiver Survey" http://www.dxing.com/rx/rxindex.htm
-  Drake SW8
-  JRC NRD-525
*  Kenwood R-5000
-  Panasonic RF-2600 or RF-2200
*  Sony ICF-2010
-  Yaesu FRG-7700 or FRG-8800
* NOTE - These would be my choices.

You will not pick up the aviation bands on shortwave (except for Gander)
You will also not pick up police, public service and that sort of thing.
You need a scanner for that.
Look for a radio that receives from about 2 mHz to 29mHz continuous.
That'll get you your shortwave.  Get one that receives SSB (single side band).

Then get a scanner for the aviation, police stuff.

That is, unless you get a scanner similar to my Yupiteru 5100 or whatever it is.  That picks up everything in the known universe.

Read the suggested material.  It'll answer a lot of your questions.

Or, do a google search of this group for best radio and variations of that and just get one of those.

My new Degen 1103 is a winner.  So is my Yupiteru MVT 5100(?).
I guess I'll have to look at it.

Hello Mark:
I have purchased the SF100 and have not opened it to tryout but I read your posting and was wondering if you could send me info on how you modified it.  If you can draw up a schemmatic and email or fax me I would appreciate it. Also the cost of the modifications would be helpful. Thanks.

After a long wait I received an email earlier today telling me that Joe Adamov had personally signed a picture for me and indicating that it was put in the post.

Joe has been with Radio Moscow/Voice of Russia for better than 60 years, and recently celebrated his 85th birthday.

It's my understanding that a new edition of Moscow Mailbag will be broadcast starting on January 24.

Probably very old news. I see that the Yaesu FRG-100 has been discontinued. I wrote to Radio Netherlands a few years ago when they prematurely pronounced the FRG-100 dead. I had to write to Yaesu to confirm that it was still a current offering, then informed that Radio Netherlands that their information was incorrect. They eventually changed it to indicate that it was a current model.

Well, that has changed. Yaseu is not listing it on their site as a current offering anymore, and various references on the internet list it is discontinued this year.

The passing of a superlative desktop radio is a tragic thing. The world is being flooded with inexpensive portable models, people that own some of these and never graduate to a model the likes of the FRG-100 don't know what their missing. I have the Yaesu FRG-100, the Yaesu FT-840, and the Icom R-75. (as well as a bevy of portables) They each have their own virtues and shortcommings.

As of this writing, shortwave is non-existant on the air. The sun has been up to no good again, and propagation is suffering.

well, its a little hard to save when the money you get is spent trying to keep food on the table and a roof over your head (it is amazing how fast $600.00 a month goes away to little effect).

I never purchased anything from him and I don't plan on it. in fact, I generally don't purchase much from e-bay unless I have some assurances in writing as to the viability of the item in question.

I don't watch much TV anymore (most of what is on there is CRAP) and even the news networks (fox, et al) are getting boring (another day's worth of the same old shit).

The only unwanted advertising I get anymore is in my e-mail box and I have taken the time to filter that to the trash (for the most part). sooooo. unlike most of my countrymen, I am a little better off (for 2 reasons, I can't afford to save and I can't afford to spend).

contrary to what others might say, living on "the dole" is actually very hard work.

I use a FRG-8800, and while it has its quirks, it works great for me. Others recommend the FRG-100, AKA "Century Frog".

Maybe it's time to killfile based on DXACE, not based on a e-mail address.

How annoying.

Depends upon which BBC outlet one picks it up from, 'tard boy!

Perhaps you need to get a clue, or a radio.

Thanks a lot for all the info. I am finally making some sense out of all this! Much more now then when I didn't even post anything here to begin with. But this is a lot to digest... but thanks to you guys I got a lot of resources here that I can chew on - finally!

You see I was wondering if I could buy an "all wonder" radio that could pretty much get all the different types of bands out there. You see that is what I thought 8 band or 10 band SW radios were all about - that each SW band was related to MW/LW/PS and so forth,  but I guess not. Well I could get an "all wonder" radio but it would cost me a pretty penny. So what I am going to do for now is either buy a inexpensive "GE Superadio III" or C. Crane for good AM reception. And I'll just buy a descent little SW radio to test the waters and see what I like and don't like.

I found a SW radio here in town by the brand name "AirCastle". Fairly old radio and the reception isn't all that great but I get: SW bands, aviation, police, public scanners, and so forth - A little this and a little that. It's an old radio but descent reception for a beginner. After I wear it out then I get something significant.
Thanks again.

-Jer

It seems you are looking at cheap Chinese made, analog tuned receivers.
You will be severely disappointed in their performance and will quickly tire of short-wave radio.
Get a digital tuned radio such as the Sony ICF-SW7600GR.  It is very easy to operate and is a stellar performer in its class.

The Patriot Act has not to date been used against any foreign national in conjunction with an act of terrorism or in connection with terrorists. It has been used, thusfar, only against US citizens.. something which was promised it would never be.

The most recent is the charge of a US citizen for a non-terrorism connected episode of criminal stupidity...

1 or 2 of you may remember I was off to visit Hawaii just before Christmas, complete with SW100E, and would report back on any DX had from the Waikiki area of Honolulu. As a matter of fact, was pretty much a lack of anything to hear on HF, even with the wire-reel antenna added on. New Zealand was about the only one, apart from WWVH, coming in loud and clear. I can only speculate that conditions were not too good in those 2 weeks. Either that or I should've stuffed the AR7030 in the baggage somewhere! That served me well when we lived there for a year and a half. Anyway, turns out we were rather busy with vacation activities, so DXing took a back seat.

On the plus side, did a bit of AM/FM searching on the rental-car stereo (Chevy Cavalier). Was pleasantly surprised at how many could be heard, which were difficult/inaudible on the Sony. Have a newfound respect for car radios!

Logged 3 other islands, apart from Oahu, on both AM and FM (Kauai, Maui and Hawaii itself). In all, 24 off-island and some 41 locals. If anyone wants to see the list, I can post.

It was great to see Hawaii once again, visit my Mother-in-law, hang out on Waikiki beach, partake of the amazing cuisine (looks at swollen waistline :-), and generally enjoy the novelty of Christmas paraphernalia in 85 degrees heat. For a Scotsman, that is very hot weather!

Consider myself lucky to afford such a trip, and hope that we can get there another time, before too long. It's an amazing place.

I never tried any of these. I use RF gain a lot and I don't think any of these have it. Shoot, even my Sony 7600GR has a variable attenuator. I bet they sold a lot of the FRG-7's.

Subverting the press with propaganda on the rise

President BUSH has repeatedly attributed the 9/11 terrorist attacks � and, for that matter, virtually all hostility directed toward the United States by the Islamic world � to their envy and resentment of our way of life, our constitutionally guaranteed freedoms. "They � hate America because we love freedom," he said in Minneapolis 10 months to the day after 9/11.

This is, of course, self-serving claptrap that ignores the reality that Islamic extremism is, to a great degree, a reaction to "several decades of specific policy disagreements with the U.S.," as James Fallows of the Atlantic Monthly told me last year.

But as appalled as I am by Bush's willful misreading of history, I'm even more upset by his hypocrisy. He seems determined to destroy the very foundations of American democracy that he insists are our bulwark against our enemies and the cause of our enemies' hatred of us. He launched a preemptive war against Iraq by lying to the American public. He helped create an atmosphere in which the torture of enemy prisoners in violation of the Geneva accords was tolerated, if not encouraged. And his administration has consistently tried to subvert our free press by masking government propaganda as legitimate news and opinion.

The most recent example of the Bush administration's attempts to manipulate the media � and the American public � came to light about 10 days ago, when USA Today disclosed that the Education Department, working through a public relations firm, had paid an African American media pundit $240,000 to promote the president's No Child Left Behind Act with minority groups.

Armstrong Williams, a conservative commentator, promoted the law on his syndicated television program and in his syndicated newspaper column without disclosing that he was being paid by the Department of Education to do so.

This violates the most basic journalistic ethics, and Tribune Media Services, which syndicated Williams' column (and which is a subsidiary of Tribune Co., owner of the Los Angeles Times), announced that it would stop syndicating his column.

Because several federal laws prohibit the use of taxpayers' money to influence congressional action or polices of the U.S. government, prominent members of Congress are now demanding an investigation.

In a week when the big media story has been the report on how CBS and "60 Minutes" screwed up a story on Bush's National Guard service, I've been surprised by the relatively little attention given to the Armstrong Williams story. This is not to minimize in any way the shamefully unprofessional behavior of CBS. But the Bush administration has behaved even more shamefully � consistently � and used our tax dollars to do so.

Continuing illegal activity

The Williams case was not the administration's first effort at covert propaganda.

Shortly after 9/11, reports began to circulate that the administration's Office of Strategic Influence was planning to plant false news stories in the international media. In 2002, amid much controversy, the office was shut down. But as my Times colleague Mark Mazzetti subsequently reported, "much of OSI's mission � using information as a tool of war � has been assumed by other offices throughout the U.S. government."

In fact, Mazzetti wrote last December, "a young Marine spokesman near Fallouja appeared on CNN [on Oct. 14] and made a dramatic announcement" signaling the beginning of "the long-awaited offensive to retake the Iraqi city."

But the Fallouja offensive did not start until three weeks later. The CNN announcement, Mazzetti said, was "an elaborate psychological operation � intended to dupe insurgents in Fallouja and allow U.S. commanders to see how guerrillas would react if they believed U.S. troops were entering the city."

This, Mazzetti wrote, was "part of a broad effort underway within the Bush administration to use information to its advantage in the war on terrorism."

Although using misinformation or disinformation to deceive one's enemies has long been an accepted military tactic, deceiving our own news media and the American public in the process is quite another matter.

The Bush administration has not limited its use of propaganda to the battlefield.

Early last year, several news stations around the country broadcast a story on plans for a White House advertising campaign on the dangers of drug abuse. But the "journalist" who reported this story was not a journalist, and his report was actually produced by the Bush administration.

The nonpartisan Government Accountability Office, the investigative arm of Congress, ruled that this amounted to illegal "covert propaganda."

Last May, the GAO said the Department of Health and Human Services violated two federal laws when it created fake news footage to support the administration's Medicare drug benefit bill.

Last week, the GAO criticized the Bush administration for distributing prepackaged "news" reports, including a "suggested live intro" for local anchors to read, interviews with Washington officials and what the Washington Post called "a closing that mimics a typical broadcast news signoff."

TV stations knew these "stories" were put together by the Office of National Drug Control Policy, but viewers didn't.

"What is objectionable about these," said Susan Poling, managing associate general counsel at the GAO, "is the fact that the viewer has no idea their tax dollars are being used to write and produce this video segment."

Melanie Sloan, executive director of Citizens for Responsibility and Ethics in Washington (CREW), calls it "particularly outrageous that the government continues to engage in this sort of illegal activity despite the fact that the GAO has said that it is illegal.

"The question now is how extensively has the administration used propaganda to shore up its controversial policies," Sloan said. "Did it pay any commentators to speak out in support of the Patriot Act? Is it paying anyone now to convince the public that Social Security is in crisis?"

Shaping the news

In an effort to answer these questions, CREW last week filed a series of Freedom of Information Act requests with 22 government agencies, asking for copies of every contract they have with public relations firms.

All administrations try to manipulate the news media and shape the nation's news agenda. They do it by controlling access to the president and other top officials, by timing their announcements, by leaking selectively and � like any other institution or agency, public or private � by trying to put the best face on everything they do.

By the sheer force of his personality � and the prevailing mores of the time � President Kennedy was able to keep news of his philandering out of the media during his lifetime and well beyond.

President Reagan used his charisma � and sophisticated Madison Avenue advertising and public relations techniques � to so cow the news media that when Mark Hertsgaard wrote his book on Reagan and the press, he titled it "On Bended Knee."

But few administrations have actually tried to subvert the news media and use taxpayer dollars to mislead the American public as blatantly as has the Bush administration. When you combine those efforts with Bush's record of media avoidance � he had fewer news conferences in his first term than any first-term president since William Howard Taft � it becomes clear that for all his speechifying about American freedoms, he has no interest in the unfettered operation of a free press properly serving a free society.

Abu Ghraib abuse firms are rewarded

London Observer | Jan 16 2005

Two US defence contractors being sued over allegations of abuse at Abu Ghraib prison have been awarded valuable new contracts by the Pentagon, despite demands that they should be barred from any new government work. Three employees of CACI International and Titan - working at Abu Ghraib as civilian contractors - were separately accused of abusive behaviour.

The report on the Abu Ghraib scandal implicated three civilian contractors in the abuses: Steven Stefanowicz from CACI International and John Israel and Adel Nakhla from Titan.

Stefanowicz was charged with giving orders that 'equated to physical abuse', Israel of lying under oath and Naklha of raping an Iraqi boy.

It was also alleged that CACI interrogators used dogs to scare prisoners, placed detainees in unauthorised 'stress positions' and encouraged soldiers to abuse prisoners. Titan employees, it has been alleged, hit detainees and stood by while soldiers physically abused prisoners.

Investigators also discovered systemic problems of management and training - including the fact that a third of CACI International's staff at Abu Ghraib had never received formal military interrogation training.

Despite demands by human rights groups in the US that the two companies be barred from further contracts in Iraq - where CACI alone employed almost half of all interrogators and analysts at Abu Ghraib - CACI International has been awarded a $16 million renewal of its contract. Titan, meanwhile, has been awarded a new contract worth $164m.

Despite the allegations in the internal US army report, the two companies have described the claims against them 'baseless' and as 'a malicious recitation of false statements and intentional distortions'.
The disclosure of the new contracts comes as Specialist Charles Graner - described as the ringleader in the group of soldiers leading the abuse of Iraqi prisoners - was found guilty on Friday after a court martial rejected his claim that he was only following orders.

Some of the most graphic evidence against Graner came from Hussein Mutar, an Iraqi who arrived at Abu Ghraib accused of car theft.

He testified how, after jumping on him, Graner and other guards ordered him to strip, masturbate and simulate oral sex, and then photographed him and led him back to a cell, which they had soaked with water, where he had to sleep naked. Graner is now awaiting a sentence of up to 15 years in jail.

The jury of 10 soldiers deliberated for five hours before convicting the reser-vist of assault, conspiracy, maltreatment of detainees, committing indecent acts and dereliction of duty, as well as one battery count.

However the controversy over abuse of detainees at Abu Ghraib and Guantanamo Bay is likely to be reignited later this month with the publication of The Torture Papers: The Legal Road to Abu Ghraib by Cambridge University Press, the first compendium of the so called 'torture memos' of the Bush administration.

Compiled from material already in the public domain and other material acquired under the US Freedom of Information Act, it documents the chilling progress in the Bush administration's legal advice that allowed it to redefine the meaning of torture so much that it felt able to use interrogation techniques that amounted to the most serious physical abuse.

In one memo, Assistant Attorney General Jay Bybee advises the legal counsel to the president, Alberto Gonza les, that 'physical pain amounting to torture must be equivalent in intensity to the pain accompanying serious physical injury such as organ failure, impairment of bodily function or even death'.

He adds that actions by interrogators 'may be cruel, inhuman or degrading, but still not produce the pain and suffering of requisite intensity [to be torture]'.

In a new development, the New York Times revealed last week that Congressional leaders have scrapped fresh legal measures that would have imposed strict new restrictions on the use of extreme interrogation techniques by US intelligence interrogators.

The proposal - which emerged in the fall-out of the Abu Ghraib scandal and complaints over the treatment of internees at Guantanamo Bay - had been approved by the Senate by almost a unanimous vote.

It would have explicitly ensured that US intelligence officers were covered by the same prohibitions on the use of torture, and required the CIA and Pentagon to report to Congress on the techniques that they were using.

The issue of the CIA's treat ment of detainees first arose after agency officials sought legal guidance on how far its employees and contractors could go in interrogating suspects and whether the law barred the CIA from using extreme methods, including feigned drowning, in the interrogation of Abu Zubaydah, the first of the al-Qaeda leaders captured by the US. He was apprehended in Pakistan in early 2002.

It was in response to this reply that Bybee gave his ruling defining the scope of torture, which was later swiftly revoked when it became public

U.S. officers want more troops in Iraq

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 (UPI) -- Despite the Pentagon's assessment there are sufficient U.S. troops in Iraq, officers there routinely request more, the Washington Times reported Monday.

A retired general, who asked not to be named because he does business with the Pentagon told the newspaper the most-often requested figure is six to eight more brigades, or more than 50,000 more troops.

"They are not bemoaning, not griping. It's just what they feel they need," the source said.

Gen. John Abizaid, the U.S. commander in the region, has not requested a sizable increase in strength. The Bush administration has settled on a total U.S. force of 150,000 troops in Iraq for the Jan. 30 elections, an increase of 12,000.

Retired Air Force Lt. Gen. Thomas McInerney, a military analyst and author, said the Pentagon's policy is the best way to win.

"We don't need more U.S. troops. We need more Iraqi troops," McInerney said. "American forces won't win this conflict. The Iraqis will. You always defeat an insurgency with indigenous forces, not foreign forces."

Why have Soviet secret service 'KGB', General Yevgeni Primakov, as well as Markus Wolfe, the ex-boss of the ''STASI'', the equally feared former East German 'State Security Police' been hired by - and for - the US Gov't.?

PEOPLE NOT UNDERSTANDING NOR SEEING THIS ''MENE TEKEL'' ARE BRAINWASHED BLIND...

"These appointments have already been made"

Dec. 16th - 2004 - If somebody would inform you, that the former Ex-head of the inhuman and despicable Soviet secret service 'KGB', General Yevgeni

Primakov, as well as Markus Wolfe, the ex-boss of the ''STASI'', the equally feared former East German ''State Security Police'' - (Staats Sicherheitsdienst) - have been hired by the United States Gov't for the lawless and already feared secret service "HOMELAND Security", as experts to reinforce the control in the US of all it's citizens: would that make you sleep badly ? Im sorry to wreck your night's rest, but it seems that it just happened to you, or, better said: to all of us globally.

Nobody - outside the US mainstream media's reach - would be surprised if the US neocons would appoint a revived Dr. Josef Mengele from Auschwitz as the new Head of Medicare.

A FEW YEARS AGO [1997-06-09], WOLFE FROM THE STASI WAS REFUSED A VISA TO THE US BECAUSE HE WAS A TERRORIST.*

Or, do you still belong to this completely brainwashed group which - standing in the rain - assures everybody that it's dry and quite sunny still? Up to one's neck in the manure; saying it doesn't smell .... ?

Saying US concentration camps do not exist and are not prepared?*

Lots more here including cross references, all I can say is bend over and kiss your arse good bye. And I bet you still can't see it coming. Maybe they should advertise so you get the message.

http://www.reuters.com/newsArticle.jhtml?type=topNews&storyID=7337104

WASHINGTON (Reuters) - Unable to deliver on its lofty goal of bringing democracy to Iraq through the Jan. 30 elections, the Bush administration is pressing a damage-control campaign to lower expectations for the vote.

With fears for a low voter turnout among Sunni Arabs due to a boycott and insurgents' intimidation, the administration no longer touts the elections as a catalyst to spread democracy across the Arab world.

Instead, U.S. officials now emphasize the political process that will follow the vote.

"Clearly, we don't see the election itself as a pivotal point," Deputy Secretary of State Richard Armitage told NPR on Friday. "It's the beginning of a process, the process where Iraqis will write a constitution and at the end of the year will actually vote for a permanent government."

Almost two years after Operation Iraqi Freedom, a raging insurgency across mainly Sunni areas forced the White House this week to prepare the American public for elections it called "less than perfect."

For months, the Bush administration has been steadily lowering expectations over the vote, beginning with Secretary of Defense Donald Rumsfeld in September warning violent areas of the country might be excluded.

And with just two weeks to go, the administration acknowledges that despite military offensives meant to provide security for the vote, the fear of bullets and bombs will keep many for the 20 percent Sunni minority away from the ballot box.

Rather than ushering in Iraq's first free and fair national elections for decades, the Bush administration has now limited its ambition for a vote it refuses to postpone.

"I think a successful election will be an election where most of the population has gotten a chance to vote, and even though we may not get the same kind of numbers in the Sunni area, we're going to have to go forward and use the results of this election to build on," Secretary of State Colin Powell told PBS.

Powell has lobbied the Shi'ites, who were oppressed under former President Saddam Hussein by the dominant Sunnis, to include the disenfranchised Sunnis in the government after they overwhelmingly win the skewed vote.

But the top U.S. diplomat acknowledged such maneuvering also risked inflaming the insurgency

"The insurgency is not going away as a result of this election. In fact, perhaps, the insurgents might become more emboldened," Powell said.

GIVING DEMOCRACY A BAD NAME

Critics of the administration's Iraq policy complain the elections for a 275-member assembly that should draw up a constitution and pick a transitional government are so flawed they will be illegitimate -- and counterproductive for democracy in the region.

"These elections are a joke," said Juan Cole, a professor of modern Middle East history at the University of Michigan.

"The Bush administration has created the worst possible advertisement for democracy because the perception across the Middle East is that democracy means you get a country where everything is out of control," he said.

Before the vote, the administration "has definitely gone into damage-control mode," Stephen Zunes, a politics professor at the University of San Francisco said.

"Once their original rationale (to rid Iraq of weapons of mass destruction) fell apart, they created very high expectations for democracy to be able to justify their takeover," he said. "Now that they have ended up with a not particularly good demonstration of democracy, they are forced to lower the public's expectations for these elections."

This time of year, I can never hear WBCQ on 7415 here  in NJ because it always goes long.

Oddly enough, I can hear it tonight.  I haven't even checked the current radio weather or solar dials, but I'm betting the recent flairs have things so juiced up that the signal isn't making it all the way up top in the ionosphere and it is coming back down shallow instead of long...

Just a guess...

Michael

Actually there are some cheap, inexpensive and fairly high quality radios out there for just a couple bux to get your feet wet with.

If I were you I'd go to a bookstore (or library) and get "Passport to World Band Radio 2005"  before making any short wave purchase.

Their web site is:

    http://www.passband.com

Notable articles:

o How to choose a radio:

    http://www.passband.com/pdf_files/HowToChoose.pdf

o Getting started in World Band radio:

    http://www.passband.com/pdf_files/GettingStarted.pdf

For cheap and (realatively) good quality, There are a number of Degen radios to choose from.  You aren't getting the best, but some of these are $20 wonders.

The Superradio III has a far better reputation than the C. Crane, despite its somewhat dowdy appearance.

Once you've decided you want to go further, don't skimp on quality -- buy a good one.

----------

By now there have been enough posters to let you know that the SW1/SW2/SW3/SW4 breakdown of tuning on an analog short wave radio is just a design convenience for the engineer who built it rather than some defined separation.  MW, medium-wave, is what the rest of the world calls AM.  (More accurately, MW broadcast band.)  PS, as one poster put it, probably means public service and is probably useless on an analog radio (as opposed to a modern, trunk-tracking scanner). Unless you live in a VERY small town, you won't get much use out of that.

Good luck and keep us posted.

Turn the main breaker on and start with the smaller circuits one at a time until the noise comes back. Keep narrowing it down.

This is not a free speech issue. He was not just expressing his beliefs in God or not. He was just being insulting of a group that is not liable to physically attack him. He is just a coward for being insulting to Christians. I don't want him burned at the stake just kicked off the air.

Dude!, um, ahhh, reality check here..  If they are a "joke" its because the people of Iraq are "making" it a joke. They need to wake up and realize that they have everything to lose, and everything to gain, it ain't nothin off our back.
If the Iraqis (and terrorist sympathizors/appologists like yerself) wan't to make a mockery of it all - GO for it, there is only one go-around, so if they (and you) want to make a mockery of it, fine, you get ONE chance, use it or lose it sucka !

Tonight, while listening to Radio Havana recite the day's carnage in Iraq, I noted that they left one important detail out, the one that everybody else has been talking about-the kidnapping of the Catholic Archbishop. Gee, I guess that wasn't as important as the "roundup of dozens of Iraqis" which doesn't surprise me. Next news item: Seymour Hersh's allegation that "Iran is next" reported as fact. Where's your fatigues, Fidel?...

I find Radio Habana's "news" quite, well, uh, "interesting". Not necessarily factual, but interesting. Tonight they made a big deal of "the roundup of dozens of Iraqis" (I don't doubt that it happened, though) and didn't mention the kidnapping of the archbishop. Lately they've been full of outrage over the "scandalous" cost of Bush's second inauguration. Give them credit though, they were the first place I heard about it, even before the American media picked it up. At least Fidel's comrades are funny, unlike the whackos on WWCR, WWRB and WBCQ. And to hear their take on Hersh's New Yorker article and compare it to ABC's (US, not Oz) and even the BBC's was what makes SW worth listening to.

Steve, WHY do you feel the need to respond to every insulting post with an insult of your own? And it's the SAME insult, every single fucking time. You really need to get a life.

Not only that, he uses the word "buttfuck" often, as an insult. I think dxAce has some real issues. He probably buttfucks and checks out little boy's balls while listening to Diego Garcia all day. I'd hate to see the REST of his shack, not just the table with the radios (better hope it's sanitized!).

The problem is, as written and enforced, it CAN significantly impact you at any time and you may not even know it.

The instance I refer to is the recent one of the dumbshit showing off to his 5 year old daughter and shining a laser up onto a plane (or was it a copter?).. This instance would have been at worst a misdemeanor if not prosecuted under the Patriot Act. As it stands, the guy could get 25 years literally for being stupid (or, more accurately, for doing something stupid).

You could buy some shortwave radio on ebay and get charged with funding terrorists if the seller happens to be on some list the government is keeping. Think not? It's happened. And other things, like the lawyer in Oregon that the feds swore up and down they had his fingerprints on some of the explosives they found at the train explosion in Spain... yet the guy had never been there, or even knew anyone that had been there.. it took weeks for the Spanish government to convince the feds that it was someone else's prints.. meantime, the guy sat in stir. I call that a violation of a citizen's rights, wouldn't you?

When you have an omnibus law, it gets abused. Period.

I find it difficult to understand how they can hold an election when all the candidate's names are being kept secret "for security purposes". Would you vote in an election when all you could do is mark one from column A and one from column B, without even knowing WHO you were voting for? I sure as hell wouldn't. Talk about your pig-in-a-poke..

You think people like Colin Powell are terrorist sympathizers?

The differences are mostly associated with the display circuitry. Did you find any significant differences in the RF/IF areas of the schematics?

Hi All!

Silly question for the tech-savvies by whom I am overshadowed...

I am considering installing an invisible pet fence at my rural home.  Will this adversely affect my DX'ing?

I use a 100' wire and favor a Satellite 800 and a DX-394.  The wire will pass over the inground "fence" wire at about 18ft in height and will cross it at roughly the mid-point.  At present I have no complaint with performance whatsoever.

Thanks in advance for any input!

John Richer

I think most of those fences work on CB frequencies. Shouldn't do too much damage except for in the 27MHz range.. YMMV

This company says their system works on frequencies below 20khz.

<http://www.invisiblefence.com/product_solutions/indoor/product_faqs/purchase.asp>

From the answer to q5:

"...Our system works by radio carrier frequency -- either 7.5 kilohertz or 10.8 kilohertz. We utilize 30-hertz modulation frequency..."

But it would certainly pay to ask the contractor you're planning to deal with what frequency their system works on to make sure.

Pete,

I hope you make it to production with the MW receiver. It sounds like a real winner, especially if it gets all the bells and whistles. In the meantime is there any chance for offering the sync' detector as an outboard unit which could be added to a car radio? If not, are you free to release the schematic for homebrew projects?

Thanks

Simply (and please) don't respond / feed him. I've now killfiled him 3 times, and I bet I'll have to killfile him again. I killfiled his e-mail address three times, next step will be to have to killfile dXAce. Don't respond to his insults. He feeds off of it.

He claims to be a Vietnam Veteran, but based on his attitude, he acts about 13. I googled to try and find more information, i.e. a photo or age, but cannot.

He even thinks he's smart by calling me by my callsign (wow, he can use QRZ) and 'insulting' me telling me to go back to taking photos.. Wow, does it take a genius to find my call sign and know I'm into photography? No. But he's very well hidden. Typical troll behavior.

I think his attitude would very quickly change if people didn't respond to him.

Evan

I'm based in Sydney Australia and I can pick up BBC, VOA, CBC Radio Netherlands. The annoying thing is that there is periodic interference, 30 seconds of bad static that washes out the signal completely followed by 65 seconds of clear signal, 30 seconds of static, etc, etc. The interference does not seem to change night or day. I'm thinking some type of electrical interference perhaps from the house or something generating the noise outside the house that the antenna is picking up.

If it happened only at night, a street light would be a likely suspect. However street lights can make noise in the daytime too if the starter (photocell) is also defective and it keeps trying to turn a bad light on.

Especially if it's a smart charger which is trickle charging a fully charged battery to keep it charged without overcharging it.

- Paunchy animated mascot for the Theo. Hamm Brewing Company spot that ran as a sequel to a Hamm's commercial that featured beavers beating on tom-toms.  Introduced in a regional Midwest TV spot, the Bear first appeared in a 1952 black-and-white commercial entitled "Bear Beer" that combined live-action and animation. The ad spot used the Hamm's tagline

"Yes, from the Land of Sky Blue Waters, to you...

It's worse than that. It's not just the candidates' names. Even the positions and views of the different 'parties' are being kept secret...the theory being that there will be a last minute disclosure by EVERYONE involved. That will, in theory, assure no real candidates or puppets of foreign regimes  get killed before the voting.

They must be really smart. I hear that immediately after the election, these same people will retract everything and revert to secrecy once again. That will keep everyone safe for evermore.

What a misunderestimated blunder.

I have a Icom R-75, a Yaesu Frg-7, and a Frg-7700. How does the 100 compare to these radios and is it worth getting??

Thanks

I would probably get it mail order from a company such as Techni-Tool.
Either one is ok, but I like Pro Gold...........about 17 dollars a can, but one can lasts a long time.

Hi Eric,

I was with them for a couple of years, once we moved back to Chicago. Most of the work was in spread spectrum communications. It was fun work. Isn't it funny, how a project grows like that? I used to kid some of the folks when this would happen, and tell them "it looks as if the monster is growing many more sets of horns".

It seems to be in the jog dial area. When I push in the dial hard it gets intermitent.
I did get a rapair cost quote of $130.00 from Sony.

I've lost track of posted what, but CPB is a real threat to our freedom!
Paranoid? Perhaps, but CPB controls NPR, and NPR has de-facto control of many stations across the country. The recent edict that NPR stations should drop (or greatly reduce) music programming is but the first step.
CPB also controls most NTIA grants for new and upgraded facilities, and CPB
"consults" the FCC on policy.
I worked (as a paid staffer) at a Pacifica station many years ago. We were afraid of NPR, but they NEEDED to silence us; money was the stick. We were always underfunded (and we were unpaid or late-paid 20% of the time), but resisted the federal $.
I'm sad to say that Pacifica stations nowadays are NPR semi-affiliates.
The LPFM program was the most exciting thing to happen to radio in a long time, but to satisfy NPR/CPB and the commercial broadcasters the FCC invoked "special" rules that made it more difficult to apply for a local station, and if you did apply, the standards were far higher than any other applicants had to overcome. I helped a local group file for an LPFM, but because of a typo on a POBox which was different  in two different places on the application, the commission threw us out. On a technicality. Of course the nearby NPR was able to file for a higher power translator on "OUR" frequency several months later. Let's face it, the sytem sucks, and our only hope is the Internet, but it is dependent on widespread  use. I fear the commercial broadcasters and NPR will overload it with their shit.

Crap. There never really was international support for the U.S. "effort", unless you count all the little token forces from little countries who just wanted to suck up to big brother. The insurgents don't need the media, they need the hearts and minds of the people. And they have a fairly big following.

The world view was formed by an adventurous US deciding it doesn't give good god damn about world opinion and going unilateral.  Has nothing to do with the media.  Nothing.  Has nothing to do with the terror attacks of 11 Sept. Nothing. But there's no room for debate with the "I support the troops","I support the president" crowd in your country, who suggest that anything contrary to the party line is treasonous. On an individual or small group basis, the world really likes Americans. As a country, you scare the living bejesus out of the rest of the world.

As for the positive news from Iraq, I'd sure like to hear some.  But there ain't any.  Unless you count the completed oil pipeline from the north, the Halliburton contract and other economic 'good news'.  Let's see how the fako election goes. The US will eventually pull out, then the civil war will get going.

One wonders, doesn't one?

She's not in a position to give ANYONE advice.

Jebus H. Christ, this is supposed to be a respected newspaper?  I am no fan of Dubya -- quite the opposite, in fact -- but this kind of shit is pure yellow journalism, and is only worthy of lining bird cages.

(It's bad enough we have 4 more years of this pres., but we have to now put up with 4 more years of utter slanted gibberish, too... christ.)

there will be a sticker A or B on the back, it is very easy to tell

I don't feel there is a significant difference between the 3 that should keep you up at night over which one to get. just don't pay too much !

Most of them went over to the other side because they had a wife, sister, brother, father, aunt or uncle killed by cowboys for no reason whatsoever.

Ever wonder why there aren't any pictures of Falluja on the evening news?
Where is Nuremberg now that it's needed the most?

You would rather have the 100 then the R-75??  Why?  I think the R75 is a superb radio for the money. How could the 100 edge it out?

That's a very good attitude. I wish more people had it. The fun factor is there, no matter what you use. It's getting the most out of what you use that really counts. Messing around with antennas and things is half the fun.

I'm listening in southwestern Missouri. I remember hearing this on a portable several years ago- is it very common? I don't usually scan through 8mHz much. The numbers are loud and clear on R75 with 80ft. random wire and balun.

tx, You might want to try Radio Shack. They won't have them in the store, but they will order them for you. A couple of years ago, I re-tubed my R.L. Drake SW-4A, and they got the tubes for me. Each tube was N.O.S. (new old stock), and they worked like a champ. Good DXing to you, Gary,Illinois, USA.

Well, those guys went on to bad mouth every country South and West of Belize. Then the geniuses discussed how to dump used oil in garbage containers without getting caught. That's pretty idiotic.

The blue eye colour comment came into the picture because the person talking said he was at extra risk of death because of having them.

This group probably planned the Iraq invasion. They certainly have the brain power.

CHAS,
1.  Use a YARD ARM (Two Feet to a Yard Long) at the point on the Tower that your Dipole is going to be suspended.
1.1 - Use an Anchor Stack at the point on the ground that is directly under the Tip of the Yard Arm to Secure the Coax Cable and maintain a uniform Clearance (Space) away from the Tower.
2.  Instead of single Rope going through the Pully to the Head Unit (Center Piece) of the Dipole:  Use a "Loop" (Two) of Rope so that when you lower the Dipoles Head Unit; you can lower the Head Unit at an Angle away from the Tower and 'clear' of the Guide Wires.
NOTE - Loosen and Lower the Ends of the Dipole before you lower the Head Unit (Center Piece) of the Dipole.
yes it is as simple as that - iane ~ RHF

That's interesting. I'm sitting here this morning wondering if it's worth tracking your sorry ass down regarding that photo. CanaDuh has certain rules, laws, and/or regulations does it not?

You might wind up working for me, 'tard boy. An interestion proposition.

Group,

I have a LineX FM transmitter that runs via computer USB port.  I use it to retransmit programming from the computer, works well but the signal was low.

I busted into the thing and found that the "antenna" was a coil of insulated wire.  I cut this out and installed a F connector, and now run a dipole connected via short coax.  The signal improvement in the shack (as measured by Icom R-7000 RX) is about 35 dB!  Plenty of signal to reach across the yard now.  Range is about one block. It would be better on a clear channel, but the channel choices are the few at the top of the band which is pretty busy in my neighborhood.

Why waste your time on P.O.S. radios to write a P.O.S. review?

So far, my only criticism would be the SSB performance. Otherwise, it's a very fine product. Darren

Iran has an estimated 26.6 trillion-cubic-meter gas reservoir, the second largest in the world.

One of China's four major state oil companies - the Sinopec Group, is being invited to prepare a master plan for the development of the giant Yadavaran gas field. This means a comprehensive development, including exploration and drilling, petrochemical and gas industries, pipelines and other services.

In return, Sinopec Group will buy 250 million tonnes of Iranian liquefied natural gas (LNG) over 25 years. The deal, outlined in an Oct. 28 memorandum of understanding between the two sides, is the largest Iran has signed since 1996.

The Yadavaran deal could well be worth between 70 to 100 billion U.S. dollars and could help propel Sinopec into the ranks of the major oil players.

Believe it or not, there are still mainland Chinese who have no knowledge of the Tiananmen massacre and do not believe it had occurred.  So deep does the Party propaganda machine drill.  I have had to show recent arrivals this video in order to convince them of the truth.  It is truly a remarkable and very graphic piece of work.

dxAce, you should have it converted and posted on the internet so all can listen to a very important piece of history.

I've only heard a few minutes of "Dr. Laura" but from what I can gather she runs a call in show where people explain their troubles and ask for advice.

A quick check on her web page indicates she does have a doctorate degree in physiology, and a certificate in marriage and family counseling.  But she's not a psychiatrist or a psychologist. She's not qualified to make a medical diagnosis, and in the limited time I've heard her program, she didn't give one.

But at least she talks with the people she's giving advice to.

Not sure I understand your snide comment.  Both mint and collector quality are vague descriptions and it's up to buyer and seller to reach an understanding about the specific condition of the radio.  It looks pretty good to me.

I think that it is unrealistic to expect any 30 year old shortwave radio will be perfect.

The key with this sale as others is the reputation of the seller. While I don't know Mr. Atkins personally, I do know of him by reputation within the hobby.  My knowlege of him goes back to when Fine Tuning released it's Proceedings.

Sorry the comment came across as "snide". Not my intention at all.
My message was meant to inform. The term "collector quality" does not mean mint or new. Sounds like it - but it doesn't. Just wanted people to be aware of that. Also, your statement: "I think that it is unrealistic to expect and 30 year old shortwave radio will be perfect" is ridiculous. There are plenty of "old", perfect radios and they demand a lot of cash as they should. Also, the term mint or like new should be the same for a 30yr old radio as it is for a 1 year old radio. I can tell by your message that you'd advertise an older radio as like new and then when your buyer received it you'd say:
"Well it's like new for a 30 year old radio". Whoa, that's where the argument starts. And you'd be wrong.

Regards, Bill E

Well I do appreciate your concern.  :)  And at some point I will roll up into a more expensive radio.  But for now I really am happy with the radios I'm playing with.  (the onld saying, you don't know what your missing)  hehehe.  I play around alot with making antennas, and such.
Built myself a broomstick antenna just for fun a while back.  It was fun.  Also I modded my DX-394, and made it much more selective.  And improved the audio.  Based off some comments I got of the NET.  It sounds alot better now and I really like it.  Someday I would love to own a DRAKE SUCH & SUCH.  But for now I'm happy with what I have.

But thanks.

That's how I feel.  This is the kind of hobby you can have fun with, even with very humble equipment.  Lets be honest, most of you guys. Who are quite a bit older than me (28 years old)  started with very humble LOW TECH radios.  Radios that would make some of the Chinese made portables looks like a drake by comparison.  hehehehe.  I mean compared to some of the old radios like the DX-150's and such are so low tech it hurts.  In fact I have one.....and it is fun, but most modern portables would smoke it.  So really even on my humble budget, I'm light years ahead of the same radio listener with the same budget....30-40 years ago.  To me I really have a lot of fun with my radios.  And make antenna, I have started getting stuff mailed to me from the various stations I listen to.  Which is really cool.  I even got one of my reviews picked up by Radio Intel.com, which was kind of kewl.  People like to dog my equipment, but I don't care, I'm enjoying the hobby....and to me that's what its all about.  Someone might have bigger, better toys - but are they having as much fun.  That's what they need to ask themselves.

Depends on a lot of factors.  If the range is one block, he's probably close to the upper limit for Part 15, but measurements would be needed to confirm it.

Yes, I agree there should not be a new and old standard for the term mint.  Actually, I have seen very few 30 year old radios that meet the dictionary definition "as if new".  Mint should mean new, as it was minted or produced at the factory.  For a 30 year old radio to be in that cosmetic condition it would have been boxed up and not used.  Very few popularly priced radios were accorded that treatment.  They were used, and rightfully so.  Time does take a toll on electronic and mechanical components even when not used, so a perfect looking radio may have difficulties when plugged in. There are however lots of used radios for sale that are in good to very nice condition.

Most mint-in-the-box radios I have seen for sale are in fact nice looking packages the seller has put together.  A very nice radio, the box and the instructions were all acquired separately and married.

Descriptives like Mint, Collector Condition, New Old Stock, Pristine are all imprecise and open to interpretation by buyer and seller. That's why it's important to ask lots of specific questions before buying and walk away from deals when the right answers are not forthcoming.

I agree - I had the FRG-100, and the R75 runs circles around it, even unmodded.  The FRG-100 had very muffled, deep audio (for which there are mods available if you can solder), difficult to understand except on very strong signals, and few of the helpful gizmoes for reception that the R75 has.  I can hear more, and more easily, on the R75.

Notice it is in the commentary section. That is the right place for it, but please look at the language and imagery. It is pretty good writing.
Isn't that what you look for in commentary?

Eros Day 2005
The Counter-Inaugural Ball
By Dr. SUSAN BLOCK

It's almost time for Thanatos, the ancient Greek God of Death, to ascend the throne of America. This is, of course, a throne His Immortal Ass is already sitting on. But that doesn't mean it's not an occasion to throw the most expensive American Presidential Inauguration in history, ushering in the second term of one of the most universally loathed American Presidents the world has known, including a 4-day, 9-ball, 40 million smacker shindig, with a parade, concert, fireworks display and, at the Ritz-Carlton, white chocolate cowboy boots (just white?) to honor our horse-fearing Cowboy-in-Chief. The 40-mil bill for the bash is 5 mil more than Ebenezer Bush's second offer of aid to tsunami victims, but just a drop in the bucket of human waste that is the American War on Iraq. Franklin D Roosevelt, another "War President" who came from privileged stock, at least had the sensibility (breeding?) to forego the showy parties when he was re-elected during WWII. No such restraint for Bush II, the Aw-Shucks White Chocolate Cowboy Prince of Thanatos.

Nobody talks much about Thanatos these days, except the occasional discontented Freudian. But His presence is keenly felt. Death is always with us, a constant companion to Life. But He is most powerful in wartime. According to the Greeks, Thanatos is the fatherless son of Nyx (Night), twin brother of Hypnos (Sleep), a wing�d young male God who, in Euripides' Alcestis, coolly reminds Apollo, "I win greater honor when the victims are young."

Of course, Thanatos is no more merciful to victims of tsunamis than He is to victims of war. Yet there is something about being killed deliberately by our fellow humans that twists the knife more sharply (at least to those of us left behind) than death at the tides of nature. And killing fellow humans is what Bush, our second-term "War President," prides himself on. The Shrub is a Lynching Tree, a Burning Bush of Apocalyptic Mass Destruction, an obedient servant of Thanatos.

Thanatos will be inaugurated into His place at the very pinnacle of the American political pantheon, with pomp and ceremony, bands and some major balls, as the Rape of Iraq plays on. Many of the important guests, paying as much as $250,000 (not to mention under-the-table billions) per "inauguration ticket package," will be leading Death profiteers, arms dealers and world-class polluters, sponsors of Dubya's Christian Crusade and End-of-the-World Environmental Policies. Fine champagne will flow, but Inauguration Ballers are sure to be high on the narcotic of war, hooked on the endgame logic of death.

Cold Death, accompanied by His hot handmaiden Torture, shall reign supreme, as the Chickenhawk Pussy named

Bush and the Dickless Dickhead named Dick are honored for their crimes, and their devastatingly inept cronies and lackeys are promoted for their doglike devotion, with deferential Presidential Consigliere Alberto Torquemada Gonzales ascending to the post of United States Attorney General. And we thought old Ayatollah Asscraft was bad! Gonzales became world-famous when it emerged that he wrote the Torture Memo essentially greenlighting all the "disgusting" BUSH POW PORN of Abu Ghraib, Guant�namo and other American torture chambers. Al appears to be the quiet type, exemplifying the Moral Values of the New American Hero: "Speak softly and carry a big stick you can shove up a detainee's ass without calling it torture."

At least, he's come out for abortion rights, sort of. But nobody's asking one question on everyone's minds: Will Gonzales take Asscraft's $8000 drapes off the venerable, half-topless Spirit of Justice....?

But back to the party. I love a good party, but for George W. Bush to have a mammoth Mother of All U.S. Presidential Inaugural parties in his own pseudo-cowboy honor, with the Iraq War, the Asian tsunami aftermath and American poverty raging all around us, is, in a word, obscene. Unless you can get yourself a quick Dumb-Me-Down-to-Red-State-Levels lobotomy, it's enough to make you sing the Blues all over again, and you know you've been singing that tune since November. SO, what's a good Blue Values gal or guy who believes in Faith-Based Sex to do to counteract the immeasurably Thanatoxic effects of the Bush Party Blow-Out that's about to explode like a mushroom cloud of anthrax-laced bullshit in our nation's capital and throughout the virtual court of our 90% sycophantic media?

Why, fly the flag of Eros as high as you can! Yes, indeed Brothers & Sisters, Lovers & Sinners, it's time to speak out against the Bad Bush and celebrate the Good Bush (you know what I'm saying). There are, essentially, three ways to do this: 1) PRAY, 2) PROTEST and 3) PARTY. But more on the Three P's in a minute

Back to Eros, who (or which) is, as those discontented Freudians remind us, the opposite of Thanatos. Since Thanatos is Death, that means Eros is Life. Yay! It's good to be on the side of Life. Then again, it's not so simple. This isn't one of those black-and-white Battles between Good and Evil that the Red Staters love to fight. Eros has an edge. The word is, after all, from the same root as "erotic," so it has something to do with sex. But we're not just talking about Valentine sex here, true love, or procreation, or just lust, porn, or recreational sex. We're talking about the primordial sexual energy that is the essence of life. Yes, indeed.

The Greeks say it best. According to the Theogeny, the Genealogy of the Gods, written in 800 BCE by Hesiod of Boeoita, Eros was one of the four great original Creators of the Universe, all of whom emerged from Chaos. The other three were Gaia, Goddess of the Earth, Uranus, God of the Sky; and Tartarus, God of the Underworld. The fourth Great Creator was Eros, God of Life, Love and Sex. Eros blew the Breath of Life into all beings, even the Gods Themselves. This was what I call The Original Blow-Job. And this is why, at least mythologically speaking, Eros gets the clout to counter Thanatos.

In later Greek mythology, the Great Creator Eros trades some of His primal power for something akin to our idea of rock stardom, morphing into a classical rather naughty teenage heartthrob with glorious feathered wings, the original sex symbol. The arrows from his potent quiver never kill you (at least not directly), but only excite your desire. Still, like many stars, Eros is a trickster. Some people call him a Motherfucker. And he is. Because, in addition to billions of other lovers, Eros does occasionally fuck his mother (or at least, they engage in a lot of what we call foreplay), his mother being Aphrodite (Venus to the Romans), the supreme Goddess of Love.

Eros' father is uncertain, in keeping with his swinging character. It could have been Zeus, Ares, Hermes or any one of Mama Aphrodite's many lovers. It doesn't matter. Like a bonobo chimpanzee, Eros is a mama's boy in love with love and lust. Classical myth has him fall in love with a human girl named Psyche, who eventually becomes the Goddess of the Soul. Their love story is a timeless tale of passion, jealousy, faith and betrayal, suffering and redemption. In the happy ending, the child of their union is named Pleasure. Not quite a savior, but definitely a blessing.

Eros became Amor in Rome, and later, Cupid. Nowadays, Cupid is usually portrayed as a cuddly little angel, or a troop of cuddly little angels, cute as a Hallmark card and almost utterly drained of the potent sexuality of the primordial Eros or the erotic appeal of the teenage Eros. But in resisting the reign of Thanatos being inaugurated into our White House, we need all the Powers of Eros we can get--primordial, erotic and cuddly! No cynical retorts, now; that's succumbing to Thanatosis! So, back to the 3 P's

1. PRAY

Brothers and Sisters, Lovers and Sinners: Prayer is not the exclusive domain of the Christian Right. It is not even the domain of religion. We all pray. Even atheists pray.
It's no great virtue to pray. The best of us pray, the worst of us pray. It's human nature, maybe even pre-human (personally, I think bonobos pray).
We all, at times, sit in contemplative silence, or sing out with a few fellow humans, surrendering our consciousness to forces we do not understand. We may pray from a place where we are deeply grateful, or passionately hoping-even asking--for something for ourselves or for others, or submitting to the forces of nature, or marveling at the miracles of life, or stopping and really thinking about what the hell we're doing (or not doing) on Earth, or just singing those Blue Values Blues. We don't have to pray in a House of Worship. We don't have to pray in a particular direction or with our hands folded together. We can pray when we meditate. And, by God and Goddess, we can pray when we masturbate (or copulate, for that matter). We can pray as we paddle our little boats down the river. We can pray as we look up at the stars. We can pray as we watch TV (though some call this "vegging out"). We can certainly pray as we make love (oh God, oh God, oh baby, oh God!). We can pray as we mow the lawn. We can pray as we sit in endless bumper-to-bumper traffic (and a Pocket Rocket in the glove compartment can only help in this case).

But back to the Inauguration. You can bet your last rosary (or anal) bead that they're going to be doing a LOT of praying there. And most of them will NOT have the Big Tent definition of "prayer" that I have. Not at all. They will be praying to the One and Only "Christian God," with a little "Judeo-" thrown in as a prefix to appease certain Semitic Neo-Cons. They will be praying to Jesus the Bloody Christ as revealed in the Gospel according to Mel Gibson. Don't get me wrong; though I was born and raised Jewish, and I'm now basically an agnostic/tantric/pagan/ethical-hedonist, I love Jesus (and Jesus Loves My Ass!). But the ketchup-streaked masochist who virtually exhorts his followers to follow his example and die painfully for each other portrayed in Mel's snuff movie is not the Jesus I love. The only deity in classical mythology that comes close to Mel's level of morbidity is Thanatos. Even Ares takes a break from the wars to romp in the sack with Aphrodite once in a while. Thanatos, like Mel's Christ, like Bush's legacy, is all about the DEATH. So yes, I plan to pray during Inauguration week. Amen and Awomen. If I have to name a God to whom I'll be praying--which does feel kind of silly, but everybody's pushing their patron Gods these days, so here's mine--Eros.

II want to reassure my fellow agnostics: this is not quite as loopy as it sounds. Then again, maybe it's even loopier. What I mean is, Eros is not just some funny Valentine or mythological divinity. Eros is a planet! More specifically, it is a "planetoid" or large asteroid, 25.3 by 9.1 by 8.8 miles in size, spinning on its own axis. Coy astronomers say it's shaped like a banana. I say it's shaped like the male member in its happy state. The Planetoid 433 Eros was discovered in 1898 by astronomer Carl Gustav Witt, who, while playing with his telescope, must have had sex on the brain, so he named this new heavenly body Eros. Recently explored by NASA's NEAR spacecraft, Eros is especially intriguing to astronomers because, despite its large elliptical orbit around the Sun, it comes closer to the Earth than any other body of comparable size, except the Moon. Eros is also one of the most elongated planetoids in our solar system (there's that delicious banana shape!), the better to penetrate our hearts.

---> and here's the relevant clincher: the closest it comes to Earth each year is right around Inauguration time (January 20-22)

So it's a good time to pray to Eros. Or is it for Eros? Either way, we're talking about peace, love and understanding here, so get down on your knees! Whether you're watching the Inauguration on TV with a barf bag handy, or completely avoiding it out in some mountainside teepee, whether you're seriously helping the tsunami victims or unhappily helping to tear up Iraq, give it a whirl. Offer up an Eros Prayer. Pray for (or is it to?) Eros, Life, Love, Peace, Understanding, Compassion, Passion, Sex. If you find it difficult to relax and focus, try using a vibrator.

Okay, okay, it doesn't always have to be about sex. There's a neat little movement to make Inauguration Day "Not One Damn Dime" day, asking us to "boycott all forms of consumer spending" for 24 hours.. This seems like a good way to focus your own personal opposition toward the American corporations that support this administration. Much as fasting from food fosters a prayerful heightened awareness of your body as your temple, fasting from spending can affirm your existence as more than just another consumer. It also gives you more time for sex (the free kind)!

2. PROTEST

Just Do It. Especially if you can get your ass over to Pennsylvania Avenue and 4th Street in DC by 9 am on Inauguration Day. Bring all your "Sorry, World!" signs, and get your sexy protesting self on the boob tube. Or make a different kind of statement, like, get married to your same-sex lover on Inauguration Day (t'll be legal again soon enough; show a little faith)! Teach or attend a sex education class. Wear your "Bush Sucks" T-shirt to work. Show our international community that this King of the White Chocolate Cowboy Boots does NOT have the "will of the people at (his) back," at least not all the people, and certainly not the cool people, the Eros people.

One intriguing idea is the "Turn Your Back on Bush" protest. These folks plan to legally infiltrate several different public inaugural gatherings and, upon a given signal, turn their backs to the proceedings. Being the incorrigible pervert that I am, I'm hoping that some protestors will turn Turning Your Back on Bush into Mooning Bush, especially if they have nice buns. If I could make it to that protest, I'd wear my "Jesus Loves My Ass" panties, over tights, of course (it's January!). Turn End Times into rear-end times.

Then there's the DAWN DIE-IN, "in memory of the dead at the hands of Bush and his Administration." Dying is sexy, if you're not really dead, but just making a point: BUSH KILLS. One of the die-ers really should act out Mel's Passion. Bush might not crucify Jesus (though that first iconic tortured Abu Ghraib detainee, with his arms outstretched, looked pretty Christlike), but he'd certainly keep him imprisoned indefinitely without any rights. And the torture? Well, let's just say it would make an interesting sequel for those who enjoyed the first Gibsonian Passion.

The theme may be Thanatos, but the Spirit of Eros infuses any good protest--the drama, the costumes, the excitement of marching together, laying your body on the line, seducing hearts, minds and TV cameras, and the potent possibility of going home with that sexy fellow protestor later on...

Just remember the man whose birthday we celebrate around this time, one of the greatest protesters since Jesus, an American Man of Eros if ever there was one: Martin Luther King.

3. PARTY

THIS is where we fight fire with fire. Sometimes fireworks. Yes indeed, Brothers & Sisters, Party Animals and Blue Angels: This is where we show ourselves and others that we don't have to spend 40 million devalued dollaros to be the Party Masters of the World. This is where we reach out to one another to commune, comfort, collaborate and conspire, share knowledge and desire, information and aphrodisiacs, honoring Eros and our erotic resistance to the bullies and ninnies who give the Thumbs-Up (a kind of new Sieg Heil?) to Death, War, Torture, Born Again Censorship, Abstinence-Only Miseducation, Fleecing the Poor to Soften the Beds of the Rich, Creationism, Repression, Oppression, Regression, and did I mention Death?

This is where you hold your own Counter-Inaugural Party that celebrates all your favorite Blue Values that the President's Party is against (for examples of Blue Values worth celebrating, please see my column "Blue Values"). Charge admission and donate the profits to Tsunami Relief, or Iraqi War Victims, or the ACLU, or Sex Education, or the Bonobos. If you don't feel like throwing a

Counter-Inaugural Party, get a friend to do it, or you may want to come to mine

Yes, indeed. Come one, come all or just come. Every year at this time, when the Planetoid 433 EROS is closest to Earth, I celebrate a holiday called EROS DAY. Introduced to me five years ago by pioneering erotic filmmaker Lasse Braun, I knew it was my kind of holiday, a celebration of love and lust with this intriguing astrophysical aspect. Every year, around January 22, the Planetoid Eros is at its closest distance to Earth. Does this mean that this is the time when some kind of astral sexual energy is closest to us? Perhaps.

Of course, our complex, neurotic human lives are ruled by far more than the stars and planetoids. It's not so simple to just point to a day on the calendar, and say that this is the day when we'll all be at our hottest. But if you believe that the positions of the Sun, Moon and other heavenly bodies have some influence over the tides and emotions of the Earth, if you believe in the power of Equinoxes and Solstices, then you might believe in the power of Eros, strongest when it is closest to us, on EROS DAY.

It certainly makes at least as much, if not a little more, sense to expect the erotic on EROS DAY than to, say, expect excitement or "resolution" on New Year's Eve, or romance on Valentine's Day, a date which commemorates the death of a Christian saint who believed celibacy was a virtue. Halloween is kind of sexy because you get to dress up, but it's really for kids these days. Mardi Gras is hot, but it's never caught on outside New Orleans, and Carnavale is so Brazil.

What truly adult holiday celebrates sex as the essence of life, in the fullest, most unabashed, unapologetic, orgiastic sense, AND boasts an astrophysical component? EROS DAY! So, I make a point of celebrating it every year, usually with a bunch of fellow Ethical Hedonist types, always with plenty of whatever we find erotic (bacchanalian works too) -- an art opening, a bar, music, dance, fetish, perhaps a Commedia Erotica performance of the Passion of Eros & Psyche, perhaps a speech and a striptease. Some of my EROS DAY celebrations have been more political than others. Actually, the more Thanatos sinks His cold claws into America, the more hotly political EROS DAY becomes.

EROS DAY 2005, coming in the wake of the Thanatoxic Bush Inauguration, will be a Counter-Inaugural Ball (in every fine sense of that word), a tribal revival crossed with an orgy crossed with a private peace rally, a Celebration of Love, Lust & the Blue Values we hold dear. As my EROS DAY '05 co-host, internationally renowned digital artist Laurence Gartel (whose work is in the permanent collections of the Smithsonian Institution's Museum of American History and the Bibliotheque Nationale in Paris), emailed me, "I never get really political, but now I just can't stop myself."

Don't stop yourself. Not now. Now is the time to release your political art, prayers, protests and resistance parties, while we've still got a few precious freedoms left. As the Bushies hoist Thanatos to the top of their pyramid, think of how you can topple that baby down. Think of how you can honor Eros in your life. Then take it to the streets (always with nonviolence, darling), or to the bedroom, or to the EROS DAY Counter-Inaugurals, or take it to your webcam. And don't let the Thanatoxic Brigade take it away from you.

Yeah, I remember history classes in school.  Always never seemed to have enough time to cover from roughly the end of WW2 to the present.  And that was back in the 70's and 80's.

Heh, I love how eBay's calculator shows financing is available for $13 a month. Yes, I know it's because of the buy it now, but the current price is $9.99..

I was one of those who was... peeved... with Judah, because with all the money he spent on door stops, he could've gotten an SW-8.

Please, Judah, don't do it again... quantity is not quality.

Im Hotep,

Keep up the high-minded conversations David.

I have to get away from these people regularly. I can take a few of these sick message by DX and others of similar ilk and then I have to move on for a few days. I'm glad to see someone here with some common sense though.

One of these days we may get some people in the white house like that. I'm not sure we have that amount of time before we get wiped off the face of the earth.

The Golden Rule says:

Do unto others as you would wish to be done by them.

So would we like the Middle East to treat us the same way we are treating them?

And remember we started this entire mess by Attacking Iraq in 1991, and putting sanctions on them which have killed nearly a million babies and children so far.

They are merely trying to defend themselves now.

Who deserves to be impeached and imprisoned the most?
A president receiving face from an adult willing female?

Or a president who lies to over 3,000,000,000 people worldwide and then orders the attack and destruction of hundreds of thousands of innocents, 1,200 American GI'S killed and over 25,000 injured?

Those of us who are not brain damaged, or racially biased the answer is obvious!

http://groups.yahoo.com/group/Nature_Knows_No_Color_Line/

Red Cross show how many innocent children have been destroyed by our sanction in Iraq.

The greatest danger of American culture; is the rich and powerful's belief in the necessity of roguery, deception, thieving, Shocking isn't it!  I'm as cheap as ever, but I couldn't resist trying these two radios.  I have little doubt lengthly reviews will follow.

I just would like to add to J999W's post. The inverted L will also knock down alot of the background noise. The L will improve your reception, not matter it's length.
    I use a 100 foot wire going from 10 foot high out 80 feet to a tree about 30 feet up,and then drops 20 feet at about a 120 degree angle. Fed with a 9:1 balun at the 10 foot end and grounded there also.

David,

Ask yourself if you have ever in the last five years heard a trained psychologist, or psychiatrist give their opinion about how president Shrub reasons, and looks at the world.

If not, why not?

Ask them privately. It' doesn't matter whether you ask a Republican one, or a Democratic one, the answer is the same. go to some forums where there are doctors who are highly trained in recognizing and treating mental illness.

I've talked to several in person, and many online.

Hint: Their  answer is horrifying!

He's a good seller......but you gotta remember a few things:

The seller lists an address in China as his contact info as listed in ebay's data base.

The merchandise is shipped from somewhere near Chicago at an excessive shipping rate.

I think that brochhi bulk ships the radio's to an operative in Chicago who could care less about customer service concerns and complaints.  Brocchi sits overseas and rakes in the bucks....his operative probably keeps the profit from the high shipping charges.  Just my guess.

Bottom line:  We are buying radio's from these guys at about 50 cents on the dollar.  Our risk is that of poor customer service for the amount of money saved.
I (and others) are more than willing to take this risk.  I bought a BCL-2000 and a Degen 1103 from him and am very happy with the transaction....and the radio's.

Are you suffering from buyer's remorse?

Long but good article for all you SeeBS types.

http://www.worldtribune.com/worldtribune/05/breaking2453389.0680555557.html

All right, I've had enough. I am tired of reading distorted and grossly exaggerated stories from major news organizations about the "failures" in the war in Iraq. "The most trusted name in news" and a long list of others continue to misrepresent the scale of events in Iraq. Print and video journalists are covering only a fraction of the events in Iraq and, more often than not, the events they cover are only negative.

The inaccurate picture they paint has distorted the world view of the daily realities in Iraq. The result is a further erosion of international support for the United States' efforts there, and a strengthening of the insurgents' resolve and recruiting efforts while weakening our own. Through their incomplete, uninformed and unbalanced reporting, many members of the media covering the war in Iraq are aiding and abetting the enemy....................

Many 'members' of RRS are aiding and abetting the enemy too. I'm fairly certain that Homeland Security Forces are in the process of tracking them down, much like us having forces in Iran and various other places looking for potential targets.

The big day is coming, listen for the 'go' signal as broadcast by Yosemite Sam.

Darn right I crossposted just to be sure that your dumb ass wouldn't miss it.
Listen steven, I'm going to Alto, MI. this weekend to pick up a car and was wondering if you wanted to help load it on the flatbed. You'll be able to make a few dollars and get some fresh air at the same time!

Oh no.  I haven't even recieved the radios yet.  And I am very anxious to get them.  No remorse here, unless they don't work.  :)

IntelSat IS-804 failed on Saturday morning, NZ local time (around 23:00 UTC, Jan 15th.)

This satellite failure has affected more than one million people in the Pacific Islands, which is a lot of people in this part of the world.

Interesting, the New Zealand Herald is reporting that the Solomon Islands is relying on HF radio to communicate around the seven main islands in the group. So an opportunity to hear some Pacific activity that would not normally be active. Other island groups have also resorted to HF radio communication. Scott Base in Antartica also lost comms.

The satellite, worth 126 million NZ dollars, will be written off. So all the ground stations using it are being given a new bearing to an alternate satellite and they'll need to rotate their dish accordingly to get connected back to the rest of the world!

For those interested, here's the story online:

Oh no.  I haven't even recieved the radios yet.  And I am very anxious to get them.  No remorse here, unless they don't work.  :)

How can a psychiatrist or psychologist diagnose an individual they've never examined?

Besides being inaccurate, it would be unethical, and a discredit to their profession.

A ROARING APPLAUSE!

Indeed few realize, thanks to the media, Kerry's dark and shady relationships with the Communist Party.

Huh?  The western world is "engaging" with many regimes so as to make a buck. Oh sorry, I mean to bring them on side re democracy and freedom.
Works great.  It doesn't matter what the gov't ideology is as long as you can make your money, though dictatorship apparently is the most efficient to trade with.  The problem is that not all dictators are "our dictators" or turn into not being our's.  Sadam was good, now he bad, Pinochet was good (and apparently is still good to some), Norega was good, became bad, Castro was never good though unless you're from the US the cigars are good and the beaches are nice, Sukarno and Suharto were both good in their day, Shah of Iran is good, Saudi Royal family is good, the apartheid regime in South Africa was a grand bullwork against the commies (Mandela was considered a commie, remember?). The other problem is that when people get the idea of freedom and self determination they don't necessarily want what the western world thinks they want.

17 January 2005
By Tom Pullar-Strecker

Radio New Zealand expects to step into the mainstream of online news publishing in February or March.

The state-owned broadcaster signalled in April that it planned to spend hundreds of thousands of dollars expanding its online presence and letting people listen to broadcasts at a time of their choosing over the web.

Chief executive Peter Cavanagh told a select committee that the website redevelopment was in its second phase and progress has been "wonderful".

Its revamped website will include online news, "some basic information about weather and finance" and "enriched information about programmes", he says.

This may include information that might be "some gateway to website links that our researchers have come across in producing programmes that we think our listeners might be interested in".

Mr Cavanagh says "audio-on-demand" will put the control of the radio schedule in the hands of the listener.

"I have very actively championed this project because I believe having a good, solid online service is now a fundamental part of core business for public service broadcasters.

"It is a bit unreasonable in this day and age when people are so time poor and they are under so much pressure to rely on them to be available to listen when we can broadcast programming live."

The audio-on-demand service is estimated to cost $259,000 to set up and $360,000 a year to run.

Which January are these for?????

Chinese new year is Feb 9th in 2005. And how come the 2nd and 3rd day are both on the 23rd???

Think you need a new book.

I've purchased 2 radios from him.
I got fast shipping, good products.
Prior to purchasing the second radio (a BCL2000)
I e-mailed and asked if he still shipped the English labeled ones. I didn't get a reply... took a chance anyway, and got a great working radio with English lettering on it.
Though my e-mail wasn't answered, others here have said
Brochhi answered all their e-mails.

Yea jd. But it's to bad that it's hurting the country. The media should be put on trial for promoting negative propaganda against it's own country in time of war. I wonder how many Iraqis have gone to the other side after listening to our medias negative BS?

news:10upq9d1bum0t53@corp.supernews.com:

I suspect that you would not benefit from the acquisition of the FRG-100, unless you have the funding to do so for the experience. Having the choice of the Icom R-75 or the Yaesu FRG-100, I would rather have the Yaesu. BUT, since I have both, I cannot see a performance benefit from the Yaesu that you would benefit from by obtaining one.

As with most things in life, there are devotees, of which I am one (of the Yaesu).

Look here for the Picture: http://www.rigpix.com/yaesu/frg100.htm

Notice the lack of a Keypad. Not a problem for me. But some seem intimidated by its omission.

Boilerplate Description of features from http://radioinfo.co.nz/frg100.htm

"Winning the prestigious 1992 World Radio TV handbook award for "Best Communications Receiver" when introduced is reason enough to make the FRG-100 your receiver. And if that's not enough, consider its industry-exclusive features like adjustable SSB carrier offset and user selectable

10 Hz, 100 Hz or 1 KHz tuning steps. Or the exciting broadcast band mode with 16 pre-programmed international broadcast bands. Even 50 memory channels and twin 12/24 hour clocks to keep you tuned in where and when you are - day or night. Additional standard features such as selectable AGC, noise blanker, all mode squelch, and RF attenuation provide the operator with the controls required for noisy and crowded band conditions. Join the experts and make the FRG-100 your "best communications receiver", too."

I also have the Yaesu FT-840 Transceiver. Interestingly enough, Yaesu in England says that it is no longer available. I am sure that the American Yaesu page will soon reflect this. Apparently they are restructuring their offerings. Fortunately for manufacturers, with many modern people, high performance is an obsession, even if the purchaser has no idea how to exploit the features fully.

Search for the book "The Psychology of everyday things" at Amazon. Here is a brief excerpt: "You would need an engineering degree from MIT to work this," someone once told me, shaking his head in puzzlement over his brand new digital watch�."

The book relates how one individual became trapped in the atrium of a building when he entered. It seems that the doors had perfectly centered horizontal bars to push on, and the doors also had invisible hinges. (They hold the glass by the top and bottom edges). When the man entered, he shifted to one side, and was pushing on the hinge side of the door. He did a 180 and tried to exit, but to no avail, since he was still pushing on the hinge side. He actually waited for someone else to enter the building then simply followed them.

I am sure that we have all walked into a door when the perceived functioning of the door misled us. How about those horizontal bars indicating the need to push mounted on the wrong side, so that they actually need to be pulled upon to open the door. Smash.

He also mentions a couple (man/woman thing of years gone by), that bought an elaborate Italian washer and drier combo. It had all the features, many different cycles offering optimum performance for various fabrics. He goes on to say that this couple was ecstatic if they were even able to turn the units on, and they eventually used them in their simplest forms, not justifying the expense for their purchase.

The smallest phone with tiny LCD screens sell. Conversely, the biggest Plasma screen TVs sell. We want the perceived "best of the best". This will liquidate such items as the FRG-100 in favor of the Yaesu VR-5000.
"http://www.universal-radio.com/catalog/widerxvr/0050.html"

Having had my fill with intermodulation interference from the various cell and paging towers close to my house (with wideband scanners), I feel that keeping the design more specific is better. I don't believe that the VR-5000 will offer the Shortwave performance of the FRG-100, simply since the VR-5000 is VERY wide band. But look at it, all those buttons and multipurpose LCD screens. I believe that people increasingly opt for all the bells and whistles, and pay less attention to performance.

Soliloquy.

According to www.arkon.com, it appears that the SF-120 has been discontinued in favor of the SF-121, which does not have an external antenna.  I guess the FCC must have been breathing down their necks or something.

No, Judah, you missed the point.   With that same tight budget and waiting a few weeks or months, you could have bought a radio with eye-popping performance compared to what you have.  Patience, sir, would have paid off manyfold in this case.

And perhaps it still could:  You could get a used SW-8 or an ICOM R-75 or even a Grundig Sat-800 by just waiting a few months and spending $400 or $500.  I guarantee you that if you do that, you'll not be disappointed.

You could even get computer controlled radios that are "black boxes" or plug into a computer slot in that price range that'll run rings around the aforementioned radios.

As to why I should give a flip about how your spend your money... it saddens me when someone with such enthusiasm and a limited budget really cheats themselves out a great experience, repeatedly.

Different information than we are getting from AFRTS..  they're telling us now that Intelsat is either fixing the bird somehow, or moving another bird into that orbit, and that everything will be back online within a week.

Update as of January 18, 2005, 1200  PST

According to AFRTS, the satellite owner/operator continues to work on restoring full AFRTS/AFN service to the Pacific region.  There are also a million people on Pacific islands without international phone, radio and TV.

Thanks to the great efforts of the Pacific-region AFN affiliates, outlets and network commands, the only areas totally without TV service are off-base in Tokyo and Sasebo.  The only areas totally without AFN TV service are off-base in Tokyo and Sasebo.  Other areas are being provided over-the-air TV for off-base personnel.  Everyone on-base should have three TV channels now (AFN Prime, AFN News, and AFN Sports).

The estimated restoration of all AFRTS/AFN satellite services for on-base personnel is 48 to 72 hours; total restoration of our direct-to-home (DTH) service is at least one week away.

Pacific DTS television schedules are available in excel spreadsheet format at http://myafn.dodmedia.osd.mil/tv/assets/Dts15Jan.xls

------------------------------------------------

What happened to my AFN service in Japan/Korea?

AFN/AFRTS primary service has been knocked-out by the loss of a major international communications satellite (INTELSAT 804) that serves our Japan/Korea/China audience.  This is the first time in the 40-year history of our satellite-service provider that they have totally lost a satellite!

We're awaiting a solution from the satellite operator/owner that will restore all AFRTS/AFN services to our customers in Japan, South Korea, and Eastern China.  We'll post any information we get on the bulletin board at myafn.net.

If you need to speak with AFN technologists, you can call them at 951.413.2339.  However, please understand they'll be quite busy dealing with other customers who haven't found our website.

I have read your previous reviews. Great job. I don't care how much they cost, how you could of gotten the BearTracker-3000A or what others say about them. Have fun, review them and let us know what you think.

televisual fairyland: The US media is disciplined by corporate America into promoting the Republican (Neo-Con) cause

London Guardian | Jan 18 2005

On Thursday, the fairy king of fairyland will be recrowned. He was elected on a platform suspended in midair by the power of imagination. He is the leader of a band of men who walk through ghostly realms unvisited by reality. And he remains the most powerful person on earth.
How did this happen? How did a fantasy president from a world of make believe come to govern a country whose power was built on hard-headed materialism? To find out, take a look at two squalid little stories which have been concluded over the past 10 days.

The first involves the broadcaster CBS. In September, its 60 Minutes programme ran an investigation into how George Bush avoided the Vietnam draft. It produced memos which appeared to show that his squadron commander in the Texas National Guard had been persuaded to "sugarcoat" his service record. The programme's allegations were immediately and convincingly refuted: Republicans were able to point to evidence suggesting the memos had been faked. Last week, following an inquiry into the programme, the producer was sacked, and three CBS executives were forced to resign.

The incident couldn't have been more helpful to Bush. Though there is no question that he managed to avoid serving in Vietnam, the collapse of CBS's story suggested that all the allegations made about his war record were false, and the issue dropped out of the news. CBS was furiously denounced by the rightwing pundits, with the result that between then and the election, hardly any broadcaster dared to criticise George Bush. Mary Mapes, the producer whom CBS fired, was the network's most effective investigative journalist: she was the person who helped bring the Abu Ghraib photos to public attention. If the memos were faked, the forger was either a moron or a very smart operator.

It's true, of course, that CBS should have taken more care. But I think it is safe to assume that if the network had instead broadcast unsustainable allegations about John Kerry, none of its executives would now be looking for work. How many people have lost their jobs, at CBS or anywhere else, for repeating bogus stories released by the Swift Boat Veterans for Truth about Kerry's record in Vietnam? How many were sacked for misreporting the Jessica Lynch affair? Or for claiming that Saddam Hussein had an active nuclear weapons programme in 2003? Or that he was buying uranium from Niger, or using mobile biological weapons labs, or had a hand in 9/11? How many people were sacked, during Clinton's presidency, for broadcasting outright lies about the Whitewater affair? The answer, in all cases, is none.

You can say what you like in the US media, as long as it helps a Republican president. But slip up once while questioning him, and you will be torn to shreds. Even the most grovelling affirmations of loyalty won't help. The presenter of 60 Minutes, Dan Rather, is the man who once told his audience" "George Bush is the president, he makes the decisions and, you know, as just one American, he wants me to line up, just tell me where." CBS is owned by the conglomerate Viacom, whose chairman told reporters: "We believe the election of a Republican administration is better for our company." But for Fox News and the shockjocks syndicated by Clear Channel, Rather's faltering attempt at investigative journalism is further evidence of "a liberal media conspiracy".

This is not the first time something like this has happened. In 1998, CNN made a programme which claimed that, during the Vietnam war, US special forces dropped sarin gas on defectors who had fled to Laos. In this case, there was plenty of evidence to support the story. But after four weeks of furious denunciations, the network's owner, Ted Turner, publicly apologised in terms you would expect to hear during a show trial in North Korea: "I'll take my shirt off and beat myself bloody on the back." CNN had erred, he said, by broadcasting the allegations when "we didn't have evidence beyond a reasonable doubt". As the website wsws.org has pointed out, it's hard to think of a single investigative story - Watergate, the My Lai massacre, Britain's arms to Iraq scandal - which could have been proved at the time by journalists "beyond a reasonable doubt". But Turner did what was demanded of him, with the result that, in media fairyland, the atrocity is now deemed not to have happened.

The other squalid little story broke three days before the CBS people were sacked. A US newspaper discovered that Armstrong Williams, a television presenter who (among other jobs) had a weekly slot on a syndicated TV show called America's Black Forum, had secretly signed a $240,000 contract with the US Department of Education. The contract required him "to regularly comment" on George Bush's education bill "during the course of his broadcasts" and to ensure that "Secretary Paige [the education secretary] and other department officials shall have the option of appearing from time to time as studio guests".

It's hard to see why the administration bothered to pay him. Williams has described as his "mentors" Lee Atwater - the man who, under Reagan's presidency, brought a new viciousness to Republican campaigning - and the segregationist senator Strom Thurmond. His broadcasting career has been dedicated to promoting extreme Republican causes and attacking civil rights campaigns.

What makes this story interesting is that the show he worked on was founded, in 1977, by the radical black activists Glen Ford and Peter Gamble, to "allow black reporters to hold politicians and activists of all persuasions accountable to black people". They sold their shares in 1980, and the programme was later bought by the Uniworld Group. With Williams's help, the new owners have reversed its politics, and turned it into a recruitment vehicle for the Republican party. Williams appears to have been taking money for doing what he was doing anyway.

These stories, in other words, are illustrations of the ways in which the US media is disciplined by corporate America. In the first case the other corporate broadcasters joined forces to punish a dissenter in their ranks. In the second case a corporation captured what was once a dissenting programme and turned it into another means of engineering conformity.

The role of the media corporations in the US is similar to that of repressive state regimes elsewhere: they decide what the public will and won't be allowed to hear, and either punish or recruit the social deviants who insist on telling a different story. The journalists they employ do what almost all journalists working under repressive regimes do: they internalise the demands of the censor, and understand, before anyone has told them, what is permissible and what is not.

So, when they are faced with a choice between a fable which helps the Republicans, and a reality which hurts them, they choose the fable. As their fantasies accumulate, the story they tell about the world veers further and further from reality. Anyone who tries to bring the people back down to earth is denounced as a traitor and a fantasist. And anyone who seeks to become president must first learn to live in fairyland.

What?
I bought and paid for a car and was asking for some help loading it on a flatbed, Steven lives near Alto, so I thought I'd throw some work his way!

Are all Steven's friends paranoid?
Why are you answering for Steven anyway?

How could it be otherwise? The TV networks are owned and operated by Republicans. You might have some Democratic reporters, but they know they can't tell the truth without getting fired.

"Freedom of the press belongs to the man who owns one."
~ A.J. Liebling

Ironically, public broadcasting is the freest media, even if in theory you would think they would do exactly as their government masters demanded or else face funding cuts.

Coming along is indy media.  Technology will make it possible for anyone to put out a 1 hour TV show each week with only $1K in equipment costs and perhaps $25 a month in Internet access. The TV will be HDTV quality video and sound. See http://mindprod.com/jgloss/bittorrent.html

On demand viewing with hundreds of thousands of shows to choose from all over the globe will shake things up.

"Never in human history have such genocide and cruelty been witnessed.
Such a genocide was never seen in the time of the pharaohs nor of Hitler nor of Mussolini."

I have had an invis fence system for our dog for about eight years now. I, too, had the same concerns and asked the contractor and the manufacturer what freq the transmitter is on. The contractor didn't know (or care)....the manufacturer would not divulge the info.

I have never heard the system on my receivers....at any freq from 100KHz up to 60MHz or on common UHF, VHF freqs. I have even taken a broadband receiver and held it to the buried wire and have not been able to hear a carrier.

My only guess is that it does operate on a very, very low freq....well below 100KHz. My unit is made by DOGWATCH.

BTW, the "fence" works well. You could put a fresh T-bone steak just a few inches across the wire....my dog would never cross for fear of the big jolt. He'd just sit on the "safe" side of the fence and bark at it. Too bad these divices can't be adapted to my teenage kids.

Well, I've got it sorted. I thought I might as well tell everyone. We have a timer on our pool filter ($10 from K-Mart). While it does not draw very much current, the pool wires run from the meter box to the pool some 30m away. So..a few milliamps at 50Hz down a 30m wire in parallel to my antenna (wires are buried in the ground (0.5m) and antenna is about 5m overhead) sounds like a transmitter to me that my antenna picks up very well. When I want to listen now, I just turn the pool off, and voila, I can hear BBC, VOA, RN, etc with no problems.

I have a clothesline that runs from my third floor deck about 45 feet to a tree - it's about 24 feet off the ground (a paved parking area). I am currently using my clothesline for an antenna. I am using a "UnUn" to match impedance, and I run a ground line from the UnUn and a coax feed into my flat.  Although I think it works reasonably well, I have nothing to which I can compare it.

So, some question on the Inverted L antenna.

For SW receiving, what is the advantage, or primary difference between a correctly installed Inverted L antenna vs. an end fed horizontal?

Is there any advantage over my current horizontal antenna for receiving if I suspend a 65 foot, end fed wire (with UnUn and ground) off the bottom of the clothesline and run it over to the tree and down to the base of the tree?

Is it OK to run a ground line from the horizontal end of such an antenna or is it best to ground the Inverted L at the base of the tree where it's nearest the ground?

Inverted L antennas seem to be specific about feeding the receiver from the bottom of the vertical end.  Is this required, or just for convenience?  If I feed the antenna to the receiver from the end of the horizontal element, will this degrade the performance of the Inverted L?

I am just curious about trying something different, but I would like to know if there is any advantage before I purchase the material and set up and test alternatives.

I still have a cassette here that I recorded of Li Dan (sp) the announcer on Radio Beijing telling of the events at Tianmen Square. I'll have to dig it out and give it a listen.

Iran has awarded a U.S. energy firm a contract to develop natural gas reserves.

Iranian state television said Halliburton was awarded a major contract along with an Iranian firm, Oriental Kish. The television quoted an Iranian energy official as saying that Halliburton and Oriental were awarded projects to drill for gas in the giant South Pars project.

Akbar Toran, managing director of Pars Oil and Gas, said Halliburton and Oriental Kish were awarded the development contracts for Phase 9 and Phase 10 of South Pars. The deal was estimated at $310 million, Middle East Newsline reported.

A Pars Oil executive quoted by the Iranian daily Shargh said Halliburton did not formally participate in the tender. Instead, Halliburton, restricted by U.S. sanctions on Teheran, operated through Oriental Kish. In 1996, the United States banned companies from investing more than $40 million in Iran's energy sector.

I would still like that to happen, along with the active loopstick antenna.

Although they have been gradually ratcheting back the hype since well before the xmas holidays, the expectation level has remained way too high.  Instead of forcing Iraqis still there to vote locally, maybe we should charter a fleet of 747's to fly them to safer polling places.

Like those in the U.S.

If it hasn't already happened I would expect that the Ridge Terrorometer will change colors soon to reflect both the U.S. inauguration and the Iraqi voting.

Ha.  Anyone who's ever been to an academic conference knows that having a Ph. D. next to your name does not confer godlike status, nor does it confer wisdom or intelligence. The entire Cold Fusion debacle in 1989 should have made that pretty plain, as did the stunt that an NYU Physics guy did in 1994 getting a cultural studies journal  to publish a sham article that appealed to the ideology of the publishers.  Personally, I've a couple of stories of my own.

First story:  I had a friend who went to Berkeley for graduate studies in sociology the same year as the LA riots; while she wanted to go out and actually help these people, most of the other grad students and profs were more interested in how they could turn the riots to their own advantage in their internal academic power struggles.
She finally got disgusted and left, and this was one of the main reasons why.

Second story:  I accompanied my wife to Denver to the GSA meeting there back in '96.  This was the year that the Mars Meteorite was unveiled by NASA, and there was a panel discussion there in one of the big halls. I tagged along for the discussion, since I was rather curious, given my own scientific background. I wasn't exactly sure what to expect, but I expected something more than what we got. It was a bit like a combination of a press conference and hype session. The NASA people there gave very generic answers to the few good questions, and didn't provide specifics to anything. However, most of the people asking the questions were really doing it to get their name announced to the auditorium, because most of their questions were really inane. 'Have you tried doing an [INSERT TEST NAME HERE] test on the sample?', or 'Can you give the sample to me for testing?', or 'Can you describe [WHATEVER] again?' were the bulk of the questions. It was essentially a waste of a 1/2 hour, and I could have probably learned more by looking at the research displays in the big hall. (Although some of them made me cringe, because too few data points were used on quite a few of them to draw the conclusions that some of them were drawing.)

Gee, I just read that the 'terrorometer' color was reduced. Ridge held a news conference last week.

This is interesting.  Iran is going to have to do a lot better than that.  Halliburton got a multi-billion contract out of Operation Iraqi Liberation.  So why would they put off Operation Irani Liberation to collect a measly multi-million contract.

This receiver is too much for me: have to get out the book each time I use it if I don't use it daily. I'm going to a simple portable receiver. Any ideas on what it will bring on ebay?  Want to know where to start it or what minimum, etc. Thanks

It's a fairly simple receiver to use. But at any rate, I'd expect it to fetch between $375 and $450. Unless it has the VHF convertor installed, in which case it would get perhaps $100 more.

I just ordered a Tecsun PL-550, and a Degen 1102.  I couldn't decided which to get so I bought them both.  =)  Anyway I bought them yesterday from a ebay seller named Brochhi?  Has anyone had any experience with this seller?  He has a 97-98% satisfaction rating?  Is he a good seller?

Of the radios I've owned and sold, the R8 is probably on the top of the list of radios I'd buy again if I had to buy a radio on a budget.

Why do you have this attraction to big boys? When did you come out of the closet? I noticed your perverse attraction to BOYS in an earlier thread. It would appear those photographs of you committing sodomy posted here a few month ago were very real. You are a failure as a human being.

The Ridge Terrorometer must have spawned some offspring.  We have meters for cities now.  The threat level was was popped up to orange mid-2004 for selected financial-center cities then dropped back to yellow in November.

Is this the Terrorometer???

Due to his locale, he becomes eligible for the 'Goober' awards. He's won it three years running. The fine folks running the Goobers have adopted him as poster boy for all things intolerant and xenophobic. He also holds a very special award for his perversions and anal fixations. The 'Spankies' were invented just for him. Please note the number of times he mentions his own rear end in his posts. He's ALWAYS laughing it off. After a heavy 'date' it becomes LMFAO. It would appear he's quite active in his little circle of deviants.

He ships fast. Where there is a choice of colors (e.g. PL-200) you may not get your choice of colors. He accepts returns if you have a problem, but expect considerable hassle and time investment in getting a radio back to him, and receiving an exchange. I mistakenly sent a radio back, using the US Mail, to the sending address; whereupon he stopped responding to email, saying only that the it would not be possible to deliver it that way. Only after the USPS returned it after a month did he volunteer the correct address for returns via UPS.

The idea behind the inverted L is to have a vertically polarized antenna for the low bands when you don't have the means to put up a BIG vertical. The veritical polarization will aid in really long haul DX work. A horizontally polarized  antenna at low heights (less than 60 or 70+ ft) will favor higher angles and be less effective for long haul DX.

The inverted L needs a GOOD ground at the feed point just like any vertical, otherwise you loose a LOT in efficiency due to ground losses.

Give it a try.

I had a 100 ft wire that sloped  from my basement up to the top of a 70 ft tree ... was KILLER on the 90m band, horrible on 41m.

Yep, and I'm laughing at YOU, and all the other 'tards in CanaDuh.

It's in their commercial catalog. I don't expect them to carry it in stores. But the good news is, it doesn't seem overpriced compared to stores that carry it.

Would it not have been better to ask those questions PRIOR to purchase?

And I'll vouch for the DeOxit, both the 5% spray and the 100% liquid and spray. Truly wonderful stuff. A $15 bottle (25 mL!) of 100% liquid lasts a long time.

Jury is still out on whether Eisenhower did or not during WW2, but indications are for a mistress.  FDR did, and Kennedy did, however.  Can't speak for Bush.

Egads Judah - you spent $100 on radios in one day?

Don't know anything about your seller, but I'll venture a guess you'll enjoy the radios.

(For those who aren't familiar with Judah, years ago he wrote a series of fun to read reviews on the cheapest radios he could find.  He ended up having to fix one brand new radio before he could review it.)

Hi,

I am looking for a B&W "Portable Antenna" model AP-10A or AP-10B.  I will ever consider the older model with the seperate loading coils.

If you have one available please e-mail me at: zugboat@gmail.com

Thanks,

Bill

...or they were cognizant of the fact that humans, being naturally sexual beings, is not a significant limitation to being President - unlike the so-called 'liberal" press when Clinton was demonized for having what amounted to a mistress.

For what it's worth, the Liberals are just as annoyed by the press as the Conservatives.  For example, to the environmentalists, NPR is known as National Petroleum Radio (not very witty, but illustrates their contempt anyway).  It depends purely on your perspective.

JP,

When All Is Said and Done {Written}.
For the casual Shortwave Radio Listener; the Inverted "L" Antenna is easy to visualize and conceive of building.
READ - The 'simple' Answer (in most cases) is the Low Noise Inverted "L" Antenna
http://groups.yahoo.com/group/Shortwave-SWL-Antenna/message/1785

When properly laid-out, arranged and constructed;
the Inverted "L" Antenna provides a relatively 'low noise'

For the 'non-technical' Shortwave Listener the Inverted

You are wrong David. I'm in complete charge and control of what I read in the news group and if you decide to make it a religious forum I'm putting you in the kill file along with the other people that argue with you. After today if you don't stop you are gone as far as I'm concerned along with others posting the same stuff.

That's it. Make your choice.

At 16:57EST they are S7~S9 here in Lexington KY. Using a R2000 and a ~70' wire antenna.
Any idea where the TX is?

I agree with all that you wrote except for that last sentence.

Every location is a different situation and so generalizations can be made about antenna type, radials or ground performance but there are no absolutes here. What is better in one place will not necessarily be better in another. Likely yes, but not necessarily.

Some locations may be far better off with a counterpoise of some type rather than depending on RF ground return through the radio and mains supply, which is all that is left if that one ground rod the BALUN is connected to is not up to the job.

As one example if you have good ground conductivity then that one rod might be all you need but if ground conductivity is poor then a radial or radials will make an improvement. You can always lay wires on the ground and see if they help. If they do then you can go through the trouble to make them perminent.

Any type of single element antenna (unbalanced) requires a good RF ground to be effective. The RF ground is the other half of the antenna.

Well you probably know it wasn't 'freaking'!

170 British pounds = $318 US dollars.

The power supply needs to be RF quiet along with providing the required power to the loop.

If the unit uses a interconnect box so that the coax carries both RF and DC to power the loop make sure you get those connections right or you will sent that DC into the radio input instead.

Looking forward to the review. Hope it meets your expectations.

I have 2 R2000s and a DX398. Radios not known for their wide danamic range. I use a ~70' wire antenna, with a  9:1 tranformer, (with another 1:1 for ground noise isolation) and I have very little problem with overload. A ham who operates at(or beyond) legal power lives about 2 miles form me and when he fires up, I do have to leave the band he is operating on. But I used to own a R390/URR and a R392/URR and both suffered the same problem.
I borrowed a  R5000, and a PCR1000 and the R5000 was slightly better. The PCR1000 was a POS joke. The DSP was nice, but I guess I'm a "horse drawn man", and a radio must have knobs.

My Heath GR64 doesn't have any overload issuses, but given it is a deaf as a post, I am not shocked.

I supect that with a decent antenna, a good matching overload maybe on over blown issue.

Terry

I agree with that. While only some "incomplete" (unbalanced wire) antennas can radiate without a good RF ground, all antennas can receive with no RF ground at all. But some receivers can benefit from better ground than the AC-grounded case of the radio provides. Noise limiting is one reason we do try to improve both the DC and RF ground capabilities of the coax-shield to improve this possibility, agreed.

I am as uncouth as the next guy, but  I figure there may be nice and decent people here.
My wife say's there are times I am worse then a salior.  Mainly when I have to work on any plumbing problem. God Ihate plumbing.
The new station is running one of my favorites,
"Almost Cut My Hhair".
Almost as much fun as when I got my first R2000 and my wife and I went to the Red River Gorge (about 100 miles southeast of here. And the very first thing I received was Niel Yong's Cover of Ian Tyson's "Four Strong Winds".
It was on CFRB.
Iran Man Radio just SO at 17:38.
Too damn bad I didn't get my newly rewired system to record it! I missed the address!
I am using ne R2000 for WWV,,,, which will go to the left and the other R2000 to hunt. This way I can assign accurate times later!
I am still rewiring the desk to include the new R2000.
Some bugs and operator head clogs to deal with.
Someone esle is tuning up. 17:40
Terry.

I have a Radio Shack DX-398 that I bought in '97 or '98. Whenever I try to listen to anything in either usb or lsb, it sounds sort of like the chipmunks.  The pitch just sounds wrong and unintelligable.

I don't have a lot of experience with swl, so I don't know if this is normal or not.  I would expect normal AM broadcasts to be distorted, but signals that I'm sure are ssb also sound bad.

(This problem comes to mind now because I was attempting to pick up the pirate broadcast on 6925 mentioned on this newsgroup just a few minutes ago, which I'm pretty sure is usb.  I can pick it up.  I even recognized the old David Crosby song they were playing.  But it's still unintelligable.)

You should be able to tune it in.
I have used my DX398  and have had no trouble.
Try tuning slowly above and below.
I am receiving the 6.925 pirate (now Underground radio)
in USB, so tune below it.

I don't quite know what you mean by "tune below it," but I wonder if there's something wrong with my radio.  It's always sounded like this in SSB.

BTW, I'm in Fort Wayne, IN.  Know where they're transmitting from?

Well, being an occasional "horse's ass" is certainly better than being a consistant one, and we have plenty of those.

I just dug out my DX398 and hooked it to my VHF diskcone and have tuned the 6.925 signal.  You will have to push the "step" button to change the tuning step.
I can get the signal tuned very clearly.

Well, I've got it tuned.  I can recognize the music, but it's far from clear.  A few minutes ago there was a man's voice speaking that was pretty clear, though.  Probably the best results I've gotten from ssb.  Generally speaking, should usb be less understandable than regular am?

The DX-380 does not have a BFO or SSB ability so you won't be able to make this type of transmission understandable.

I suspect it will take some time to "master" the art of SSB. On most receives SSB will never be as clear as AM, but it should be close enough so that you can listen to and enjoy music.
Try hunting arround 14 MHz  and listen to the hams.
I am in, just south, of LExingtonKY, and the current pirate, Underground Radio is giving a ~S8
On the DX398 I had no reading, but I was using my scanner antenna. I plan on bringing my antennas out to a patch panel so I can rapidly change from one radio to another. I had such a panel, but I am rewiring my radio desk, so it  will have to wait awhile.

I am going to drop him an email and see what happens.

The DX-398 Manual is on line at URL:
ftp://80.162.141.166/manuals1/radio_shack/Receiver_-_DX-398_Owners_manual@8.pdf

Since it is in pdf I can't copy it and don't care to type it, but the procedure is quite clear for LSB and USB tuning --- see page 25 of the manual

You're right.  Seems my radio is working fine.  I've moved my radio and hooked up the not-so-great amplified sw antenna I bought at RS about the same time as the radio.  It sounds just fine now.  Noisy, but very clear. Just got done listening to a little story about an acid flashback.  I even sent them an email at the address they broadcast.

btw, I'm planning on building a "broomstick" antenna.  I know it's not the best thing, but it's cheap, easy, and portable.  I'm thinking it will bring broadcasts like this in much better.  I can probably even use it with the amplified antenna.

You just don't get it do you. If I and others kill file you then no one will read you and you can post all day long to no effect.

Why someone would use a tool or opportunity to communicate with other people and use it to deliberately piss people off is beyond my understanding.

There is a percentage of the population that tends to be sociopathic and you are one of the few.

Thanks for the link.  I actually have my original manual.  Read it just a couple nights ago.  I was actually suspecting that the radio wasn't working right, but this is easily the best sounding ssb broadcast I've heard using this radio.  I'm convinced now it works find.

Thanks again.

He is not complaining about picking the signal up but making it understandable. You can't do this with DX-398. No SSB mode or BFO means no SSB detection.

ER, you might want to take a look at the DX398 again.
I have mine in front of me and it certainly does have SSB mode, support for both LSB and USB.
I modified mine to defeat the tuning muting, but even with that, I just barrowed my wife's stock DX398 and I can tune it just fine. I prefer the lack of mute,.
On the lower right front there is a button labled am/mode. This toggles/steps the radio through AM>LSB>USB>AM.
Again, please recheck your "facts".

Hi John,

Living in the United States, I have the North American power supply for the Wellbrook ALA 330S which is perfectly adequate. Naturally I cannot comment on the English power supply, but I think that if Andy Ikins thinks it's adequate, it probably is. Why not give him a telephone call (or an e-mail) and ask him directly if you should stay with the supplied adapter or if he thinks you need something "better?" I suspect he will tell you that his power supply, though inexpensive, is all you need, but you should find out for yourself.

I can't comment on the quality of the mounting plate for outdoor use. I have my antenna mounted to a Radio Shack rotator which is affixed to a rafter in my attic. You might want to discuss that with him also.

I have to tell you that when I first opened my package, I too wasn't really impressed with what I saw, especially in view of the glowing reviews in PASSPORT and WRTH. It really didn't seem like much. (The Postal Service Lady who delivered it asked me if I had ordered an imported "Hula Hoop!")

It wasn't until the Wellbrook antenna was connected to my new AOR AR7030 Plus receiver that I realized what a great piece of equipment it is.

I don't know what Andy Ikins puts in his little boxes, and, frankly, I don't care. All I know is that it is the best antenna I have ever used. The summertime here is usually a "wasteland" of poor signal strength, interference, and atmospheric noise. No other antenna I have tried has worked satisfactorily. This past summer, with the Wellbrook, the listening was so good that it was easy to forget it was summer!

Some people, mostly non-owners, have questioned the price charged. Even you yourself, not having yet used it, have questioned the value.

Wait until you have the antenna operating. If you're like me, you'll know that you've in fact gotten a bargain! If the price were TWICE it would still be a bargain, at least at my location, in my opinion, where nothing else works!

Let us all know your impressions after you've used it for a day or so.

Best,

Joe

I still have my DX-398. It is my first portable SW radio. Portable defined as you can easily hold it in one hand. Unfortunately it does not have SSB mode or a BFO so you can pick up a SSB transmission but not demodulate them properly.

It is a great sounding radio for AM transmissions, which is almost all of the SW program broadcasters. Very few programs are in SSB.

This leave out most of the Hams broadcasting in SSB but some still broadcast in AM.

Most of the military and utility stuff is SSB.

I believe you're mistaken.  The DX-398 does have true usb and lsb.  Press the AM mode button to cycle through them.

Sorry about my previous posts. I pulled the radio out and did not see a BFO or SSB switch on it and I don't recall ever using it for SSB.

When I get some new AA batteries for it I'll have to try the hidden SSB modes. Didn't think I'd learn a new thing about a radio I have owned and not used for years.

TERRY,

The RadioShack DX-398 / Sangean ATS-909 is 'noted' for being the exception to the rule; that most 'portable' AM/FM Shortwave Radios have a tendancy to OverLoad with a very long (+100) Wire Antenna.
Conversely, some complain that the RadioShack DX-398 / Sangean ATS-909 is some what deaf on it's Whip Antenna when compaired to other 'portable' AM/FM Shortwave Radios.

Plaaying around with the DX398 I have found that a "strong" singal is much better then a weak one. I just ran 100' of wire and laid it on the newly fallen snow. Wtih no matching tranformer. (as an aside, antennas work much better if errected in bad weather,
in fact the worst the weather the better the performance!).
By winding the wire in and out, I have it on a military spool,
I found that the DX398 is much happier with a strong signal.
I don't have access to equipment to measure the exact signal required, and I don't think the ARRL lab comparison of the DX398 with other portables adressed that issue.
And yes my wife is convinced that I am insane.
But she willingly helps me with thes odd experiments.
At some point I am going to have to errect an antenna "just for her".
I am just glad she hasn't  grabed one of my R2000s!
(My original R2000 is showing it's age, I took it on one too many picnics and I hope to restore it in the near future. The tuning has gotten very touchy and I tend to use it for a dedicated WWV receiver at the moment.)

Try turning the RF Gain/ Attenuator down until it sounds like you want it.
Makes a lot of difference.

Is 6925 a common priate freq?
I mainly listen to utility and international broadcasters, but this is a ball.
So far there have been four different pirates on this freq.

I confused the model numbers. The 398 does have SSB and the radio I own the 380 does not.

Due to the nature (physics) of how SSB works it's difficult to make the audio sound like the original. One problem is the original pitch range is missing from an SSB signal and there's no way to know exactly what it was. For example, I have heard Art Bell, the AM radio talk show host, operating on the ham' bands in SSB. It sounds like Art but it's not the same as hearing him on an AM broadcast station. It does help if there is musical content to an SSB signal which can act as a reference for adjusting the pitch correctly. Since SSB is mostly used for voice only, it doesn't really matter if the pitch is not exactly like the original.

Because RS-232 levels require voltages that are rarely seen on transistorized equipment these days. Just about everything except RS232 run on 3.3 or 5 volts.  RS232 levels are + and - 10 volts or so, and 20ma current loop is often about 100 volts!

Chips like the Max232 exist to deal with precisely this problem...

Holy shit, that can't really be made by VW! No frigging way! I love it, Heck, it's hard to say. Seems like some operate up above 15 MHz at times... just depends on where they want to pop up. They're pirates!

Dear Friends,

AIR will broadcast special programs in connection with the Republic Day celebrations on 26 Jan 2005

25 Jan 2005 :

1400-1430 UTC : President's address to the nation
1630-1830 UTC : Kavi Samelan

26 Jan 2005

0350-0645 UTC : Running Commentry of Republic Day parade

Hindi: Delhi 6155 9595 11620 15135

English : Delhi 6030 11830 15020; Aligarh 9910

These programs will be broadcast by all stations of AIR.

Because of this, there will be some modifications to AIR External Services in Urdu (ie Commentry in Hindi will be broadcast instead of Urdu Service from 0350 on 6155 9595 11620)

With Republic Day Greetings,

Yours sincerely,

Jose Jacob

"Honus" <> Neither of those guys are in the same league as Steve Allen and Johnny Carson were. Not in their dreams...or anyone else's.>

Jimmy Kimmel is just another butt-kisser. He might be a good Ed McMahon, but he is certainly not a Johnny Carson. Carson not only had a lot of talent, but he had a special kind of soul. He could deal with any kind of person with kindness and charm and be funny too.

Guys like Kimmel have to call their agent before they take a poop, and they need to get paid before they smile.

I received an email from gottahaveit1995 about 10 months ago when I was selling a radio on ebay.  My radio did not get the reserve. Here is how gottahaveit1995 signed his email:

Well you could always sell it to me for my Max bid??
Just let me know

Well after a very nice extended summer vacation, I am pleased to be back and bringing you the finest in collectable radio equipment ever offered on e-Bay.

The "summer vacation" as described above was actually the period of time both radio-mart and gottahaveit1995 were listed by ebay as "non-registered users"....you know what that means.

I remember seeing gottahaveit1995 posting positive feedback for radio-mart about 2 years ago.  When radio-mart returned this past fall as a registered seller, those feedback listings disappeared.  Strange.

Hi, I'm looking to buy a portable receiver. I'll mainly listen to FM and MW, but want RDS. Both receivers do this. I want to listen on the train etc. Shortwave would be great too (have listened for years using other receivers), but I'm afraid the 909 would be too big. Any opinions on any of these receivers? Thanks

So much for talent on the Tonight Show.  They might as well just cancel the show.

EXACTLY!  And then there was Carson's personal STOOGE Ed McMahon, who's job it was to sit there and laugh at anything and everything whether it was funny or not.  He was basically a human "cue card" letting the audience know when it was time to laugh.  DUUUUUUUUUUHHHHHHHHHHH

Yeah, truely a "great" show.

No.  Scans of the ad are few and far between - the only one that turned up when I did a Google image search was the one I posted the link for.

But here's a political web site that includes the photo of the car and the text of the ad:

Hard to say but just guessing I'd say power line noise.  It seems to affect the lower bands more than the higher bands.  But I'd have to hear it for sure to know what it was.

The antenna should be pretty resilient once you have it mounted. As I recall, Wellbrook does recommend that, after attaching the base of the loop to a post, rotor, etc., you should add some improvised vertical supports to support the upper portion of the loop in the event of high winds. I doubt it would be hard to add this extra support.

The way I have the antenna situated is unusual, I think. I have it on the end of a horizontal mast extending away from my building. The top of the loop is actually attached to the mast via some clamps and protective rubber inserts. The clamps hold the loop firmly, but not so tightly that the antenna can't 'give' in the face of strong winds. The base of the loop, with the coax attached, isn't mounted to anything, but the coax itself provides it with a bit of weight and added stability.

I obviously could have mounted the loop differently, and could certainly have attached it via its base to the horizontal mast I'm using, provided I also gave it some vertical support for wind protection. However, I thought that attaching the upper portion of the loop to the mast while leaving the bottom free to shift a bit with the wind would provide better long term protection, and after a few months I feel pretty good about this arrangement. Because the loop is visible out my kitchen window, I've monitored its condition very carefully and everything's working out just fine. In fact, over the last couple of days we've had very strong winds and these have not stressed the loop at all.

Steve

Countdown to global catastrophe
Climate change: report warns point of no return may be reached in 10 years, leading to droughts, agricultural failure and water shortages
By Michael McCarthy, Environment Editor
24 January 2005

The global warming danger threshold for the world is clearly marked for the first time in an international report to be published tomorrow - and the bad news is, the world has nearly reached it already.

The countdown to climate-change catastrophe is spelt out by a task force of senior politicians, business leaders and academics from around the world - and it is remarkably brief. In as little as 10 years, or even less, their report indicates, the point of no return with global warming may have been reached.

The report, Meeting The Climate Challenge, is aimed at policymakers in every country, from national leaders down. It has been timed to coincide with Tony Blair's promised efforts to advance climate change policy in 2005 as chairman of both the G8 group of rich countries and the European Union.

And it breaks new ground by putting a figure - for the first time in such a high-level document - on the danger point of global warming, that is, the temperature rise beyond which the world would be irretrievably committed to disastrous changes. These could include widespread agricultural failure, water shortages and major droughts, increased disease, sea-level rise and the death of forests - with the added possibility of abrupt catastrophic events such as "runaway" global warming, the melting of the Greenland ice sheet, or the switching-off of the Gulf Stream.

The report says this point will be two degrees centigrade above the average world temperature prevailing in 1750 before the industrial revolution, when human activities - mainly the production of waste gases such as carbon dioxide ($CO_2$), which retain the sun's heat in the atmosphere - first started to affect the climate. But it points out that global average temperature has already risen by 0.8 degrees since then, with more rises already in the pipeline - so the world has little more than a single degree of temperature latitude before the crucial point is reached.

More ominously still, it assesses the concentration of carbon dioxide in the atmosphere after which the two-degree rise will become inevitable, and says it will be 400 parts per million by volume (ppm) of $CO_2$.

The current level is 379ppm, and rising by more than 2ppm annually - so it is likely that the vital 400ppm threshold will be crossed in just 10 years' time, or even less (although the two-degree temperature rise might take longer to come into effect).

"There is an ecological timebomb ticking away," said Stephen Byers, the former transport secretary, who co-chaired the task force that produced the report with the US Republican senator Olympia Snowe. It was assembled by the Institute for Public Policy Research in the UK, the Centre for American Progress in the US, and The Australia Institute.The group's chief scientific adviser is Dr Rakendra Pachauri, chairman of the UN's Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change.

The report urges all the G8 countries to agree to generate a quarter of their electricity from renewable sources by 2025, and to double their research spending on low-carbon energy technologies by 2010. It also calls on the G8 to form a climate group with leading developing nations such as India and China, which have big and growing $CO_2$ emissions.

"What this underscores is that it's what we invest in now and in the next 20 years that will deliver a stable climate, not what we do in the middle of the century or later," said Tom Burke, a former government adviser on green issues who now advises business.

The report starkly spells out the likely consequences of exceeding the threshold. "Beyond the 2 degrees C level, the risks to human societies and ecosystems grow significantly," it says.

"It is likely, for example, that average-temperature increases larger than this will entail substantial agricultural losses, greatly increased numbers of people at risk of water shortages, and widespread adverse health impacts. [They] could also imperil a very high proportion of the world's coral reefs and cause irreversible damage to important terrestrial ecosystems, including the Amazon rainforest."

It goes on: "Above the 2 degrees level, the risks of abrupt, accelerated, or runaway climate change also increase. The possibilities include reaching climatic tipping points leading, for example, to the loss of the West Antarctic and Greenland ice sheets (which, between them, could raise sea level more than 10 metres over the space of a few centuries), the shutdown of the thermohaline ocean circulation (and, with it, the Gulf Stream), and the transformation of the planet's forests and soils from a net sink of carbon to a net source of carbon."

Global warming is tripe. 10 000 years ago the huge ice cap covering Northern latitudes melted. What caused that?

No, it isn't tripe. Global warming (and cooling) really happens. What is in question is how much is due to natural feedback mechanisms, and how much is this accelerated (or decelerated) by human activities. The answer is so complex that one or more complete cycles will probably occur before we learn the answers.

Meanwhile, we need to ask ourselve show we (and earth) will survive and prosper in the event that significant climate change occurs (and it may well be as we speak) . That question is probably more critical and immediate.

Here in Central California, we get a Peruvian religious station on about 6020.25 regularly; last night (about 0500 Z on January 24) it was coming through better than usual.

R. Rebelde in Cuba on 5025 almost always outshines its bigger R. Havana brother on any frequency at this QTH.  Funny.

Yes, it happened 10000 years ago - but it was bugger all to do with man, that's the point. In Roman times, you could grow grapes outside in Northern England - you can't now.

For me last night (0500 - 0630) in California, everything from 6.1 MHz up was about shot.  Even RN Bonair on 6165 was weak.  Below that, though, things were pretty good.  R. Rebelde on 5025 was as good as I've ever heard it, and the 5020.25 Peruvian 5-kW station was clear.
WWV on 5000 was pounding in 20 over solid.  A Spanish-speaking station on 5005 (Eq. Guinea?) was not too bad either.  Tropicals below 5 MHz were not so hot, for some reason.

Note the similarities in what's just happened to this posting. I hope things work out. Oh, yeah..Michael Bryant left the group after the school where he teaches started getting phone calls from 'ace'. His LAST school got phone calls from the 'ace' too. Sounded like stalking to most here.<<

T'ain't the case.  We had a fine chat, and good many laughs to boot. What is abundantly clear is that a voice to go with the keyboard messages helps a lot.  This PC medium we use to communicate, whatever its strengths, also has many weaknesses.  Sometimes it takes a phone call or even a face-to-face visit to overcome them.

I can't speak for Michael Bryant, but I don't think he's away because he's afraid.  I think many people need a break from this den of iniquity one in awhile ;-).

I can tell you the 1026 works well for many kinds of local noise and nulling local stations, not so good for distant statioons or atmospherics.  If I had to do it again, I'd get the 1025, just because it is cheaper and the little antenna on top is no big deal (and a piece of wire for the noise antenna is easy enough to rig up).  Also, if you need to modify it for better MW coverage, the 1025 is easier to mess with because it has discrete components.

Actually, it looks like in about 200M years, the sun's increase in radiation will make earth too hot to keep its oceans.  That will be curtains for life as we know it.

Oh my God!!!  Only 200 million years!  AHHHH!  The End is near!

Interesting comment about a man who rescued the Tonight Show and proved the viability of the late night show format. Carson turned it into "the" late night show that led the way for many others, but at the same time was such a force that serious competition took 20 years to develop. He was such a force that he could attract heads of state to appear and the "blessing" of an appearance on his show made the career of numerous entertainers. That his audience was huge and widespread and loyal goes without saying. He was able to be funny without being offensive and took pains to not upstage, but showcase his guests. And he had the sense and grace to bow out completely while still a success.

Entertainers like Kimmel are one-trick-horses. Humor based on bodily noises works for a while but doesn't have the staying power of someone with true talent like Carson.

If you found him unhumorous that seems to put you in a distinctly small minority.

I think Letterman is the only current host who has a chance of lasting nearly as long.  Assuminghis health doesn't take him down first.  He and Carson were quite close... I look forward to seeing what Dave has to say on his show tonight.

When you've got a quarter of a million watts of medium wave transmitters blinking their tower lights on your horizon, it's a problem.   And I'm 5-7 miles away.

Especially with a Kenwood R-1000 which uses diode switched bandpass filters in the front end.  Since I got a portable to tote around, I found that If I want to use another receiver in the house, I have to turn on the R-1000 to bias the diodes on or off, (or disconnect the antenna), otherwise the spectrum is filled with intermod reradiated from the antenna.

[Diety] help any radio buff who lives in Federal Way/Vashon Island or near any other large metro area's medium wave transmitter patch.  I heard a story about a MARS operator/ham there who was having problems with an on frequency harmonic on a MARS channel around 4 MHz.  The FCC guy he talked to said (words to the effect), Yup, it's right on your frequency, a couple of miles away, 100 milliwatts, and within the legal limits. Sorry.

Well, you don't remember very well, as the catch phrase was "Heeere's

6 of the negatives were from the same person.

for those that didn't know, the feedback rating is based on the number only counts once, same for positives, only counts once

Good News!

Do you know how simple it is to go to Heaven after this life has ended?

Some people believe that belonging to a local church, temple, mosque or synagogue will get them to Heaven.

Others believe that water baptism, obeying the ten commandments or just being a good person will get them to Heaven.

There are many other beliefs as well, but the good news about God's way to Heaven is found in the Holy Bible.

The good news is that God came from Heaven to earth in the person of Jesus Christ over 2000 years ago and died for our sins(misdeeds). He was born in the land of Israel supernaturally to a virgin Jewish woman named Mary. He lived a sinless life for thirty-three years and then sacrificed His sinless blood and died on a cross to pay the death penalty for our sins. After Jesus was placed in a tomb He rose from the dead three days later as He said He would. The Holy Bible also tells us that Jesus Christ ascended into Heaven and that all who accept Him as their Lord and Saviour will live forever with Him in Heaven where there is no more death, sorrow, sickness and pain.

The Bible says, "For the wages of sin is death, but the gift of God is eternal life through Christ Jesus our Lord." (Romans 6:23)

This verse in the Bible says, "For ALL HAVE SINNED, and come short of the glory of God." (Romans 3:23)

This verse says, "But God demonstrates his own love for us in this: While we were still sinners, Christ died for us." (Romans 5:8)

In this passage the Bible clearly explains how simple it is to be saved and on your way to Heaven, "For if you confess with your mouth, "Jesus is Lord," and believe in your heart that God raised him from the dead, you WILL BE SAVED." (Romans 10:9)

You can be saved right now and on your way to Heaven if you will open your heart to Jesus and pray the following prayer:

Dear Jesus Christ, I want to be saved so that I can have a home in Heaven when I die. I agree with You that I am a sinner.
I believe You love me and want to save me. I believe that You bled and died on the cross to pay the penalty for my sins. I believe that You rose from the dead. Please forgive my sins and come into my heart and be my Lord and Saviour. Thank You Lord Jesus Christ for forgiving me and saving me through Your merciful grace. Amen.

You are now a Christian if you said the prayer and allowed God to save you. Welcome to the family of God.

Salvation is not a reward but a gift. The Bible says it this way, "For it is by GRACE you have been SAVED, through FAITH and this not from yourselves, it is the GIFT of God." (Ephesians 2:8)

Nothing in the world is more important than your eternal destiny.

The Bible says, "In Him(Jesus) we have redemption through His blood, the forgiveness of sins..." (Ephesians 1:7)

If you have not yet made a decision to be saved, please do so now before it is too late. The reason why it is so important to be saved now is because you do not know exactly when you will die. You may die prematurely in a traffic accident, terrorist attack or some other way before you get another chance to be saved.

The Bible tells us that we will spend eternity in Heaven or a place of eternal torment called Hell. It would be terrible to die and go to Hell when all you have to do is accept Jesus Christ as your personal Lord and Saviour.

Some people that have already made Jesus Christ their Lord and Saviour worry about losing their salvation. The Bible teaches Christians that we can never lose our salvation no matter what happens.

The Bible says it this way, "My dear children, I write this to you so that you will not sin. But if anybody does sin, we have one who speaks to the Father in our defense Jesus Christ, the Righteous One."

Yes my friend, Jesus Christ is able to save you and keep you saved.

Please tell your family and friends, thanks!

Have a great day!

Your comment, considering the circumstances, is tasteless and only shows your own lack of maturity or class.  There is only one appropriate response.

Don't bother replying. I'll never read it, or anything else you ever post.

Nothing weird about it. Just like any other radio signal, you have to tune

Thanks!  It's good to know what the sound effect is.  Now I understand why it was so wide, but just sounded very noisy on AM.
I'll check the DRM site to see where its coming from- sure was a strong signal.

A co-worker speaks French, and would to hear some SW BC in French, here on the West Coast of North America.

I've been tuning around recently from around 0100z to 1200z, and can't hear any French...  lots of Spanish, some Asian, mid-Eastern, even Radio Australia in "Tok Pisin", the dialect of the Solomon Islands, but no French..

Thanks in advance for any tips.  --Leigh Marrin/KM6JE in Santa Barbara, Calif.

In fact, the founders of America specifically did NOT make America a Christian State, in order to avoid the persecution that resulted in the one-religion states of Europe. Don't forget, many of the people living in the US at that time had ancestors (not that long before) who had been members of religions that had been relentlessly persecuted in England by the Anglican Church. Puritans and their more radical religious cousins the Separatists (who became the Pilgrims), Quakers, even Catholics. Add to the desire to avoid the religious wars and persecution that had rent Europe for a thousand years the fresh memories of the Salem Witch Trials, and the founders had no desire at all for an official religion in the US. Yes, they were all Christians and believed in Christian principles, but they didn't want to OFFICIALLY favor one Christian denomination over the other, because they knew it would cause trouble. It seems that modern Americans have forgotten this, and want to make Evangelical Christianity the official religion of the US and drive everybody else out of the country. The founders would be horrified.

Just because this sort of thing is common on the air doesn't mean it's appropriate in the group!

This is the opinion of most of the New Left Communists who have taken over the Democratic Party. When they say they want equality, they mean equality among themselves. Orwell had it pegged; some animals are more equal than others in the NLC worldview.

That is the dream of most Americans, which is why the collectivist communist "solutions" always fall flat on their face. Forget the fact that most people will be stuck making $8 an hour for their entire lives; they dream all the time of being RICH, that is why reality TV is so popular and why lotteries and casinos never want for customers. Take that dream away from them, and they have nothing. Woe be to the New Left Communist who tries to take away the average man's dream of being Donald Trump, for that dream is what keeps the average man going. When you succeed in taking away a people's hope for bettering their lives, you end up with Russia or North Korea where most people are consumed with just getting by from day to day. The whole economy and society stagnates, and never seems to get going again. Without that top 1%, the economy wouldn't do anything, and our store shelves would be empty and our consumer goods would be poorly made (exploding TVs, anyone?) if you could get them at all. When people have the dream of bettering their lives, even if they never get to be Trump, we're all better off.

BBC on 9525 noted strong at 0200 and off the air at 0300 Jan 26. Has the BBC changed their nighttime (US local time) schedule? I've been stuck with 5975, which isn't the best choice because of interference.

But when people don't understand SSB, of course it's "weird".

Tune a regular AM signal, and the carrier ensures that it is always tuned properly. The only thing the tuning does is move the signal into the passband of the IF filter. Mistune it, and you get reduced amplitude, and altered frequency response.

With an SSB signal, mistuning likewise moves the signal out of the passband. But it also has to be tuned properly in relationship to the "reinserted carrier", ie the BFO, and if that isn't right, then you will be translating the modulation to the wrong place in the audio spectrum. Voice can be ambiguous, since you often won't know how someone sounds (because you don't know their voice), so mistuning can merely make someone sound squeaky, or even sound right even if not exactly as the person sounds in real life. Music is absolute tones, and if you don't tuen that right, not only will you not hear the proper notes, but the relationship of the notes to each other is off. You know what a given note sounds like, and not much mistuning messes things up.

Well I didn't mean to miss the point, and I'm afraid you're far off base in suggesting that an inverted-L radiates part of the feedline or that feedline (coax-shield) noise has anything to do with an antenna configuration. The use of coax minimizes feedline noise, and shield-grounding the coax further reduces noise from either being brought into the shack or carried to the antenna from the shack. In an inverted-L, either a Balun or a choke is always used to prevent inadvertent feedline radiation. The vertical portion of the end-fed inverted-L is where the feedline ends and the antenna begins.

The real noise-limiting design of any beverage-style or inverted-L wire antenna is to ground one half of the Balun output. This is whether the coax shield is grounded earlier or not. That does affect signals picked up on the antenna wire itself, although experts are not agreed as to whether there is a measurable improvement in signal to noise ratio as a result of this. As Telemon mentioned, having a counterpoise or good RF ground could make a difference there. In my particular case, there is a marked improvement in signal strength and possibly some reduction in noise when the connection from ground rod to Balun is made. I also transmit through this antenna with pretty good results. The original concept of grounding one-half of a current-type wire-fed Balun for noise limiting came from an 1980's issue of Fine Tuning's PROCEEDINGS. I was borrowing the issue from a friend and cannot remember the original author of this but I don't believe it was the venerable John Doty to which it is lately accredited.

Is it accompanied by a "beep beep beep" sound about 6 khz away, then sounds vaguely like a time signal but is too fast?  And, the whooshing sound goes "whoosh whoosh" (in quick succession) for every beep.  I've encountered this before around 4850 khz, didn't know what it was.  If it was DRM, well, good to know.

Radio Canada has some French broadcasts, you may be able to pick them up.
They are, however, directed at the East Coast USA and the Carribean.

'queerbarrel' is very appropriate. We'll save that name for the 'Ace in the Hole', if you get my drift...

I use stranded steel clothesline. Very strong and thick enough so that the senior members of the bird population can see it before they get maimed.

Well, if I'm in second place it's a damned close second place! So close, in fact, that it's probably giving him wood. And if you look at his list, I'm on top of Evan. That's probably quite a thrill for the old goat as well. Of course, Evan's on top of Julie...and he probably thinks that's just icky. Keep your chin up, queerbarrel...Julie's a guy.

the

I'd like to use it for our kill-filing friend. Ace doesn't seem to be much of a homophobe, whereas nearly everything that comes out of queerbarrel is of a homosexual tone. I've noticed he's now typing our names in backwards at the bottom of his posts. I think he's giving us some sort of clue there...backwards, back door...bottom...I won't go further, although I've heard his favorite pick-up line is "Can I push your stool in for you?" I imagine that only works in certain venues. You know...places where queerbarrel and three of his closest, dearest friends can sit comfortably, after they turn the bar stool upside down. It's not a bad line, I suppose. Better than his old standby, which I'm told was "May I be Frank with you?"

So true... I certainly see why he was drummed out of the armed forces. The 'Don't ask, Don't smell' program was started up because of his not so discrete liaisons in the 'mess' tent.

It would have been neat if Letterman had made an appearance on the 'Tonight Show' Monday night but he's on vacation, probably at his place in the Caribbean. We won't know what he has to say about Johnny until next week.

Unfortunately that's a CODAR signal which is used to measure the height of waves at sea. The transmitters are located on the coasts. The government apparently doesn't care if the CODAR stations in the US interfere with the 60-m shortwave broadcast band, since they assigned those frequencies to the CODAR institutions. It's an example of how a group of people like shortwave listeners with essentially no voice in government are taken advantage of by those in power.

I imagine other newbies might also come to the conclusion that their radio was defective when trying to listen to SSB transmissions, so your post could be quite helpful.

Do you run the steel wire all the way to the radio? If not, how do you connect the lead wire such as copper to the steel antenna wire without galvanic corrosion?

I thought you were going to try harder too.

That's a challenge I would enjoy. Anyone want to donate their Wellbrook loop preamp for micro-disection?

I thought so too but I've seen of reports to the contrary.

That makes the most business sense. I didn't think there was any valid technical reason.

If the coax shield of an inverted-L does not have a good RF ground, which requires a short ground wire to earth, the domestic noise on the shield can couple to the center conductor of the coax where it connects to the antenna. The noise will then become part of the antenna signal to the radio. That's the point I think you missed.

Well 'Ace', and I use the term loosely, when it comes to electronics I could correct you on so many things it would make your head spin but that's not what I'm here for. I can only assume you have a serious illness which is not being properly treated. Everybody has a last straw and you are it for me. Time to take Telamon's advice.

BTW- In case you don't get it, you're not the Steve in the quotes above so I wasn't even replying to you. My point was that frequency modulaton (FM) can be used with any wavelength, including shortwave (HF). It doesn't make any difference if the wavelength of shortwave is longer than the normal VHF/FM band.

Now that's the kind of justice I like.  Trial, conviction and sentencing all at once and the only cost to tax payers was the sheriff documenting what happened.

Damn, trying to tie that comment in with Armstrong the Great was pretty cool.

Electromagnetic weapons "tests" in Iraq

MICROWAVING IRAQ

"Pacifying" Rays Pose New Hazards In Iraqi

By William Thomas

On the rooftop of a shrapnel-pocked building in the ruins of Fallujah, a team of GI's stealthily sets up a gray plastic dome about two-feet in diameter. Keeping well back from the sight lines of the street and nearby buildings, they plug the cable connectors on the side of the "popper" into a power unit. The grunts have no clue what the device does. They are just following orders.

"Most of the worker-bees that are placing these do not even know what is inside the 'domes', just that they were told where to place them by Intel weenies with usually no nametag," reports my source, a very well informed combat veteran I will call "Hank".

The grunts call the plastic devices "poppers" or "domes". Once activated, each hidden transmitter emits a widening circle of invisible energy capable of passing through metal, concrete and human skulls up to half a mile away. "They are saturating the area with ULF, VLF and UHF freqs," Hanks says, with equipment derived from US Navy undersea sonar and communications.

But its not being used to locate and talk to submarines under Baghdad.

After powering up the unit, the grunts quickly exit the area. It is their commanders' fervent hope that any male survivors enraged by brutal American bombardments that damaged virtually every building in this once thriving "City of Mosques", displacing a quarter-million residents while murdering thousands of children, women and elders in their homes lose all incentive for further resistance and revenge.

A dedicated former soldier, whose experiences during and after Desert Storm are chronicled in my book, Bringing The War Home, Hank stays in close touch with his unit serving "in theater" in Iraq. When I asked how many "poppers" are being used to irradiate Iraqi neighborhoods, he checked and got back to me. There are "at least 25 of these that have been deployed to theater, and used. Some have conked out and been removed, so I do not know how many are currently active and broadcasting."

Hank is still losing friends in Iraq, where front-line soldiers put their current casualty figures from all causes psychological crackups and suicides injured.

Hank also blames those at the top for hospital counts of upwards of 65,000 children killed since the 2003 invasion. He is concerned that innocent Iraqi families and unsuspecting GIs alike are being used as test subjects for a new generation of "psychotronic" weapons using invisible beams across the entire electromagnetic spectrum to selectively alter moods, behavior and bodily processes.

"The 'poppers' as they are called, are capable of using a combo of ULF, VLF, UHF and EHF wavelengths in any combination at the same time, sometimes using one as a carrier wave for the others," Hank explains, in a process called superheterodyning. The silent frequencies daily sweeping Fallujah and other trouble spots are the same Navy "freqs that drove whales nuts and made them go astray onto beaches."

MICROWAVING IRAQ

The Gulf War veteran observes that occupied Iraq has become a "saturation environment" of electromagnetic radiation. Potentially lethal electromagnetic smog from high-power US military electronics and experimental beam weapons is placing already hard-hit local populations-particularly children experiencing serious illness, suicidal depression, impaired cognitive ability, even death.

American troops constantly exposed "up close" to their own microwave transmitters, battlefield radars and RF weapons are also seeing their health eroded by electromagnetic sickness. It's common, Hank recalls, for GIs to warm themselves on cold desert nights by basking in the microwaves radiating from their QUEEMS communications and RATT radar rigs.

Constant microwave emissions from ground-sweeping RATT rigs and SINGARS mobile microwave networks are much more powerful than civilian microwave cell phone nets linked in many clinical studies to maladies ranging from asthma, cataracts, headaches, memory loss, early Alzheimer's, bad dreams and cancer.

Even more powerful US military radars, radios and "jammers" blasting from ground bases and overflying aircraft add to this electromagnetic din.

This is bad enough. But this is also Iraq, Hank says, where ever-present sand acts as miniature quartz reflectors, unpredictably amplifying the ricocheting electronic smog so thick that if it were visible, every vehicle in Baghdad and the surrounding Sunni Triangle would be driving blind with their headlights on.

THE GIFT THAT KEEPS ON GIVING

This is grim news to friend and foe alike constant adrenal stress, waterborne pollutants, infectious sand fleas, dehydration, pharmaceutical drugs and exposure to radioactive Uranium-238 fired in "hose 'em down" exuberance by US ground and air cannons and cruise missiles.

As Hank puts it, DU is "the gift that keeps on giving." For the next four billion years, medical investigators say, large populated expanses of Kosovo, Afghanistan, Puerto Rico and Iraq will remain lethally radioactive from Made In America depleted uranium dust.

What kind of people would do this?

Clinical tests have repeatedly shown how microwaves "rev up" incipient cancer cells several hundred times. Triggered by nuclear radiation, and turned rogue by electromagnetic warfare unleashed by US forces, human cancer cells have been found to continue proliferating wildly after the power source is turned off

MICROWAVING WOMBS AT GREENHAM COMMON

While the mobile microwave weapons currently deployed in Iraq may or may not lead to lasting harm, rooftop "poppers" and "domes" left to radiate for days at a time are irradiating unsuspecting families already coping with illness, wounds, hunger and the stress of losing homes and loved ones, whose rotting corpses cannot be buried under the sights of marine snipers.

A preview of what lies in store for long-suffering families in Iraq can be gleaned from Greenham Common, where the British Army reportedly used an electromagnetic weapon against 30,000 women who had camped for nearly two decades around that UK military base to protest the deployment of nuclear-tipped US cruise missiles.

One day in the summer of 1984, more than 2,000 British troops suddenly pulled back, leaving the fence unguarded. Peace mom Kim Besley recalls that as curious women approached the gate, they "started experiencing odd health effects: swollen tongues, changed heartbeats, immobility, feelings of terror, pains in the upper body."

Besley found her 30-year-old daughter too ill to stand. Other symptoms typical of electromagnetic exposure included skin burns, severe headaches, drowsiness, post-menopausal menstrual bleeding and menstruation at abnormal times. Besley's daughter's cycle changed to 14 days and took a year to return to normal.

Two late-term spontaneous miscarriages, impaired speech, and an apparent circulatory failure prompted the women to begin monitoring for a directed-energy beam, Using an EMR meter, they measured beams sweeping their camp at 100-times normal background levels.

Another harrowing example involves the sudden illness and cancer deaths of US embassy staff in Moscow after being deliberately targeted with very weak pulsed microwaves by Soviet experimenters and fascinated CIA onlookers running "Project Phoenix" in 1962.

Very Low Frequency (VLF) weapons include the dozens of "poppers" currently deployed in Iraq, which can be dialed to or "long wave" frequencies capable of traveling great distances through the ground or intervening structures. As air force Lt Col. Peter L. Hays, Director of the Institute for National Security Studies reveals, "Transmission of long wavelength sound creates biophysical effects; nausea, loss of bowels, disorientation, vomiting, potential internal organ damage or death may occur."

Hays calls VLF weapons "superior" because their directed energy beams do not lose their hurtful properties when traveling through air to tissue. A French weapon radiating at 7 hertz "made the people in range sick for hours."

GI's "DRIVEN NUTS" BY ELECTROMAGENTICS IN IRAQ

Like so many other American blunders among the ruins of Babylon, the intended microwave "pacification" of rebellious neighborhoods is having unintended effects. In actual "field-testing" in the Sunni Triangle, Hank has learned that the hidden, dome-shaped devices "are removing inhibitions". Armed individuals, already highly motivated to kill American forces are reportedly "losing all restraint" when exposed to the electromagnetic beams.

According to Hank's buddies in Baghdad, the frequency-shifting "poppers" "are having some remarkable effects on the locals as well as our own people." But these effects differ. Possibly, Hank surmises, because Americans come from daily domestic and military environments saturated with electromagnetic frequencies, while many Iraqis still live without reliable electricity in places largely free from electromagnetics before the American invasion.

According to members of Hank's former unit, constant exposure to invisible emissions from radar and radio rigs microwave weapons says. "It makes them stupid for two or three days."

The Desert Storm veteran compared the emotional effects of constant exposure to military microwaves to a lingering low-pressure weather system that never goes away. "You feel way down for days at a time," he emphasizes

As a consequence, AWOL rates among "spaced out" US troops are as high as 15%, Hank reports. For many deserters, it is not cowardice or conscience that is causing them to absent themselves from duty. "They are feeling so depressed," Hank explains. "They don't feel good. So they leave."

According to Hank's front-line buddies, Iraqis exposed to secret beam weapons "get laid back, confused and mellow, and then blast out in a rage, as opposed to our folks going on what could only be called a 'bender', and turning into a mean drunk for a while."

Once they wander away from direct electromagnetic-fire, startled GIs come to their senses. They return to their units, Hank explains, saying, "What was I thinking?"

The recovery rate among US troops "seems to be about a day or so, where the locals are not getting over it in less than a week or more on average," Hank has learned.

It is Hank's hope that his revelations will prompt public debate over the secret use of electromagnetic weapons in Iraq. But lost in the arguments over these supposedly "non-lethal" weapons is a much bigger question: What are Americans doing there?

Whether soldier or civilian at home, it is our imperative duty to stop supporting those responsible for ongoing "weapons tests" in Iraq. As electrochemical "beings of light," the strongest electromagnetic force on Earth is human conscience, acted upon.

Author's Bio: William Thomas

After resigning his US Navy Reserve commission, William Thomas subsequently served five months with a three-man environmental emergency response team in the Gulf during and immediately after Desert Storm. He has written about military electromagnetics in Scorched Earth and Bringing The War Home, and has documented other microwave hazards in his new book "Dialing Our Cells."

Just FYI, I have two QSL reports outstanding for stations heard in November and December.  One is to RAI Rome for their 0055 - 0115 English broadcast to NA on 11800 kHz; not an especially meaty broadcast, just a bunch of news and some unidentified (but pretty good) music.  I have heard and read that RAI takes awhile to verify.

The other is to SLBC Colombo, Sri Lanka, for their early AM UTC English broadcast on 9770 kHz.  They played a bunch of cool old songs that were readily identifiable, including several Christmas songs, followed by some religious discussion.  Sent with an IRC.  Given the natural crisis in Sri Lanka of the last month, I don't expect this one anytime soon - but I'll let you know.

I think you posted in the wrong groups, most of us here, IIUC, dream about working in microwave radiation only 100 times above normal.

Now, if we could only get one of those "poppers" to use at the kids bedtime...

On the face of it, it sounds like MGM packaged some Standard DVDs in the Widescreen packaging by accident.

But $2.7 mil for lawyers fees for this??  Please....

John,

Yes, I know what you mean about coastal DX. I live about three miles from the coast. I have two coastlines, living on an ithsmus, so lots and lots of water surrounding my QTH.

I was recently on vacation on the west coast of the North Island of NZ, in a town called Kawhia, which has a large harbour. I took a Sony ICF-SW55 with me and a piece of wire about three metres long! I ran the wire along the eaves of the small house we were staying in and connected it to the external antenna jack of the Sony.

The first station I heard was an amateur, CT3MD, on Porto Santo Island, Madeira, off the coast of west Africa. He was talking to a station in Sigatoka, Viti Levu, Fiji. This was on 20 metres. The advantage over listening in Auckland is how QUIET the radio is. Its a very small town, so no electrical noise etc. And no light pollution. There are so many more stars there!

I had the pleasure of visiting your beautiful country, a couple of years ago. Didn't make it to the Western Cape, as I was working. But did get to see some of the amazing animals you have roaming around!

Mark.
Auckland

New Zealand.

About five years ago,I emailed the editor at that main online newspaper in Keflavik,Iceland.I asked him (in english language because that is the only language I know) if they were ever going to have an english language link to their newspaper.He emailed me back and told me to check back later.I forgot all about it,,, later.And I am not even Icelandic either.

Send me $10,000 cash and I'll personally guarantee you getting into heaven.  You have my word on it.  A mere $5k and I'll get to the 'gates' - then you're on your own.  But you can still play even if that's too rich for you - $2,000 and I'll put in a LONG conversation about you right after you kick.  Should get you an audience, albeit the $5k option is better.  But hey - just go full tilt and pay the 10.  Then it's a sure thing.  Email for where to send the cash.  (Read all of the above with a silly Eastern accent, of course)

Poppers? --- I WANT ONE !!!

-Could we set up a popper at my place?  They sound like they are so cool ---
I volunteer to be experimentally irradiated on the condition that I get one to keep.
-Is there any way I could buy my own popper from eBay or anywhere?
-Could one be powered using the new 2500mAh NiMH rechargeables?
-If the popper was connected to say, a 4 element yagi antenna, how directional would the main lobe be?

Besley's daughter's cycle changed to 14 days and took a year to return to normal.
>

> Very Low Frequency (VLF) weapons include the dozens of "poppers" currently deployed in Iraq, which can be dialed to or "long wave" frequencies capable of traveling great distances through the ground or intervening structures. As air force Lt Col. Peter L. Hays, Director of the Institute for National Security Studies reveals, "Transmission of long wavelength sound creates biophysical effects; nausea, loss of bowels, disorientation, vomiting, potential internal organ damage or death may occur."
> Hays calls VLF weapons "superior" because their directed energy beams do not lose their hurtful properties when traveling through air to tissue. A French weapon radiating at 7 hertz "made the people in range sick for hours."
>
>
> Like so many other American blunders among the ruins of Babylon, the intended microwave "pacification" of rebellious neighborhoods is having unintended effects. In actual "field-testing" in the Sunni Triangle, Hank has learned that the hidden, dome-shaped devices "are removing inhibitions". Armed individuals, already highly motivated to kill American forces are reportedly "losing all restraint" when exposed to the electromagnetic beams.
> According to Hank's buddies in Baghdad, the frequency-shifting "poppers" "are having some remarkable effects on the locals as well as our own people." But these effects differ. Possibly, Hank surmises, because Americans come from daily domestic and military environments saturated with electromagnetic frequencies, while many Iraqis still live without reliable electricity in places largely free from electromagnetics before the American invasion.

> According to members of Hank's former unit, constant exposure to invisible emissions from radar and radio rigs microwave weapons says. "It makes them stupid for two or three days."
>
> The Desert Storm veteran compared the emotional effects of constant exposure to military microwaves to a lingering low-pressure weather system that never goes away. "You feel way down for days at a time," he emphasizes
> As a consequence, AWOL rates among "spaced out" US troops are as high as 15%, Hank reports. For many deserters, it is not cowardice or conscience that is causing them to absent themselves from duty. "They are feeling so depressed," Hank explains. "They don't feel good. So they leave."
> According to Hank's front-line buddies, Iraqis exposed to secret beam weapons "get laid back, confused and mellow, and then blast out in a rage, as opposed to our folks going on what could only be called a 'bender', and turning into a mean drunk for a while."
>
> Once they wander away from direct electromagnetic-fire, startled GIs come to their senses. They return to their units, Hank explains, saying, "What was I thinking?"
>
> The recovery rate among US troops "seems to be about a day or so, where the locals are not getting over it in less than a week or more on average," Hank has learned.
>
> It is Hank's hope that his revelations will prompt public debate over the secret use of electromagnetic weapons in Iraq. But lost in the arguments over these supposedly "non-lethal" weapons is a much bigger question: What are Americans doing there?
> Whether soldier or civilian at home, it is our imperative duty to stop supporting those responsible for ongoing "weapons tests" in Iraq. As electrochemical "beings of light," the strongest electromagnetic force on Earth is human conscience, acted upon.

The 909 is a good radio.  (I like mine.)  But it can be a bit of a battery hog.  Don't know about the 305.

My sources tell me the simple effective countermeasures for these devices has been found to be the wearing of a tin foil hat.  Sort of brings back memories of how the North Vietnamese defeated our laser-guided bombs by simply obscuring the target in smoke.

Hi,

Can Joe or anyone else explain to me a few things; I am trying to set up a antenna on the roof as reception is really bad using the indoor whip (lots of interference
I live next door to a restaurant ventilator farm and I think that may be a problem). Anyway I am thinking of getting a length of wire and just laying it on top of the roof under a couple of bricks to stop it getting blown around. The thing I don't get is the connection down the side of the house - I need to use a different cable yes?

I have heard people specify a length of "radio coax" is suitable but I do not understand how this could be any use without the shielding being grounded - could someone explain?

My roberts R861 has a minijack anntena input - which has 2 connections on the plug - are they both used or is only one? If I use a thick cable to run into the house would I need any special attention to connect that to the minijack?

What sort of length wire should I use on the roof, is it just a case of the longer the better?

Thanks in advance for any advice

bestwishes laura

I been picking these signals up here on 8020MHZ. Very strong! S9 all day and night! In fact I touched the radio and noticed it was also very warm? It's 32 degrees outside??

> On the rooftop of a shrapnel-pocked building in the ruins of Fallujah, a team of GI's stealthily sets up a gray plastic dome about two-feet in diameter. Keeping well back from the sight lines of the street and nearby buildings, they plug the cable connectors on the side of the "popper" into a power unit. The grunts have no clue what the device does. They are just following orders.

Once activated, each hidden transmitter emits a widening circle of invisible energy capable of passing through metal, concrete and human skulls up to half a mile away. Very worrying isn't it?
My sensors detected that I was being targetted by stuff with wavelengths from 450 to 750 nm today - with so much energy it must have been generated by a NUCLEAR REACTOR.

Now, Americans, IIRC, have this happen all the time - but for us in the middle of Dartmoor National Park, in Devon UK, in January - this is unheard of.

OK, we get used to being targetted by hydrogen bombs (well, hygrogen/oxeygen) of about 0.4cm calibre We have purpose designed protective equipment to deal with that. But not the nuclear fallout stuff.

Luckily, someone discovered many years ago that a knotted hankie on the head is very effective at dealing with the stuff - particularly in areas of high ozone concentration.

Right if you want to go to prison! Technology today will uncover this type of stuff, if you shoot you had better be sure that "your life was in danger". BTW a guy 5 feet from you waving a knife does not "place your life in danger", if he moves towards you saying "I'm gonna cut out your heart" that's another story, aim straight and be sure he stays down!

Eye Poppers? Two or three camera flash bulbs,a 9 volt battery and an electric switch.Do not look at it when you throw that switch.It dilates the cornea's of the eyes,causes tempory blindness for about 15 minutes.Have fun kiddies,making your very own Eye Poppers.

I have had no luck getting the Falkland Islands on my DX-394 with the built in whip.
I was wondering if getting a Lowbander Super Zepp antenna would make it possible ?????

On what frequency? The Falklands have not been on shortwave in a broadcasting sense
in many, many years.

NEED HELP WITH BILLS?

WANT TO EARN CASH?? NO SCAMS!! NO TRICKS!! Did you fall for the DON LAPRE/CARLTON SHEETS SCHEMES. You're not the only one! Although these programs do have some valuable info, they don't tell you anything that you can't find at your local library. Just look up "mail order" or "Money Making Opportunities"! Yeah Don Lapre is rich but his wealth comes from selling us his program for $39.99. KEEP READING!!! IMPORTANT!!! CHECK THIS OUT, BELOW IS A PERFECTLY LEGAL PROGRAM THAT IS MORE EFFECTIVE THAN DON LAPRE'S AND IT ONLY COSTS $6.00! HOW TO TURN SIX DOLLARS INTO SIX THOUSAND: READING THIS COULD CHANGE YOUR LIFE! IT DOES WORK! I found this on a bulletin board and decided to try it. A little while back, I was browsing through newsgroups, just like you are now, and came across an article similar to this that said you could make thousands of dollars WITHIN WEEKS with only an initial investment of $6.00! So I thought, "Yeah right, this must be a scam," but like most of us, I was curious, so I kept reading. Anyway, it said that you send $1.00 to each of the 6 names and address stated in the article. You then place your own name and address in the bottom of the list at #6, and post the article in at least 200 newsgroups. (There are thousands) No catch, that was it. So after thinking it over, and talking to a few people first, I thought about trying it. I figured: "what have I got to lose except 6 stamps and $6.00, right?" Then I invested the measly $6.00. Well, GUESS WHAT! ... Within 7 days, I started getting money in the mail! I was shocked! I figured it would end soon, but the money just kept coming in. In my first week, I made about $25.00. By the end of the second week I had made a total of over $1,100.00! In the third week I had over $8,750.00 and it's still growing. This is now my fourth week and I have made a total of just over $17,000.00 and it's still coming in rapidly. It's certainly worth $6.00, and 6 stamps, I have spent more than that on the lottery!! Let me tell you how this works and most importantly, WHY it works... Also, make sure you print a copy of this article NOW, so you can get the information off of it as you need it. I promise you that if you follow the directions exactly, that you will start making more money than you thought possible by doing something so easy! KEEP READING TO FIND OUT

HOW THIS WORKS!!! Suggestion: Read this entire message carefully! (Print it out or download it). Follow the simple directions and watch your money come in! It's easy. It's legal. And, your investment is only $6.00 (Plus postage on only 6 envelopes...one time only...no repeat mailing) IMPORTANT: This is not a rip-off; it is not indecent; No Misleading promises or claims; it is not illegal; and it is 99% no risk - it really works! If all of the following instructions are adhered to, you will receive extraordinary dividends. JUST KEEP READING!!! PLEASE NOTE: Please follow these directions EXACTLY, and $50,000 or more can be yours in 20 to 60 days. This program remains successful because of the honesty and integrity of the participants. Please continue its success by carefully adhering to the instructions. You will now become part of the Mail Order business. In this business your product is not solid and tangible, it's a service. You are in the business of developing Mailing Lists. Many large corporations are happy to pay big bucks for quality lists. However, the money made from the mailing lists is secondary to the income which is made from people like you and me asking to be included in that list. Here are the 4 easy steps to success:

STEP 1: Get 6 separate pieces of paper and write the following on each piece of paper "PLEASE PUT ME ON YOUR MAILING LIST." Now get 6 US $1.00 bills and place ONE inside EACH of the 6 pieces of paper so the bill will not be seen through the envelope (to prevent thievery). Next, place one paper in each of the 6 envelopes and seal them. You should now have 6 sealed envelopes, each with a piece of paper stating the above phrase, your name and address, and a $1.00 bill. What you are doing is creating a service. THIS IS ABSOLUTELY LEGAL! You are requesting a legitimate service and you are paying for it! Like most of us I was a little skeptical and a little worried about the legal aspects of it all. So I checked it out with the US Post Office (1-800-725-2161) and they confirmed that it is indeed legal. Mail the 6 envelopes to the following addresses:

#1)Tena Dickson, 3318 Q. Street, Richmond, VA 23223
#2)Lleann Canaday, 1000 Drew CT, Cheyenne Wyo. 82007
#3)Joey Mercado, 4825 W. Dakin, Chicago,Il 60641
#4)D.D. Ihly, PO Box 220474, Anchorage,Ak 99522
#5)N. G. Samahan 811 Cape Kennedy Dr. San Jose, CA 95133
#6)R. S., 1560 Brown Ave, Galesburg, Il 61401

STEP 2: Now take the #1 name off the list that you see above, move the other names up (6 becomes 5, 5 becomes 4, etc...) and add YOUR Name as number 6 on the list.
